Has Some Effect.

Persons wishing letters to go through the mail in a hurry should always write "in haste" on the lower left hand corner of the envelope. Then everybody connected with the postal service jumps around lively. The rural mail deliverer whips his horses into a "brisk trot." The postmaster dances a jig and the route agent rushes forward and tells the train engineer to pull the throttle and let her go.

Urges Calmness in the Clinton L.O. Campaign

Local Paper Advises Both Sides Not to Stir Up Bitterness in the Town.

The petition asking for local option in Clinton has 180 signatures, 20 more than the required number. The Warton Echo says of the proposed vote:
"It looks pretty sure that there will be a local option contest on this fall, and a few words may not be amiss. These contests have taken place in other towns and have often left behind them a state of enmity between different classes which has taken years to overcome. Warton does not want this. Warton cannot afford it, and there is no reason why it cannot be avoided. The contest must be conducted by recognizing every man's right to vote as he thinks best. There are a great many different views upon this question. Some will hold that the town will prosper under it. We do not propose to discuss the matter, but it is a moot question that will not stand discussion. However, let the discussion and the whole campaign be conducted with the utmost respect for the opinions of others, and we will escape some of the bitter results which have followed this campaign in other towns. The first signs of intolerance by either party will drive people into the other camp."

Children Out At Night.

Many resolutions have been passed by benevolent and philanthropic organizations, many sermons delivered, many editorials written by leading newspapers and magazines, many personal suggestions made, that the law dealing with children on the streets in parks after dark should be more stringent. At the recent session of the Ontario Legislature these numerous requests have been met, and the amended law is as follows:
Children's Protection Act.
Sec. 17-(1) No child (under sixteen) shall loiter in any public place after 9 o'clock in the evening, or be there unless accompanied by his parent or guardian or an adult appointed by the parent or guardian to accompany such child.
(2) A child found in a public place after the hour named in subsection (1) unless so accompanied may be removed to home by any constable or probation officer or officer of a Children's Aid Society, and if after such warning the child is found loitering in a public place such child may be taken by the constable or officer to his home, or to the Children's Shelter.
(3) A parent who permits his child to violate this section shall for the first offence incur a penalty of $1 without costs, and for a second offence, $2, and for a third, or any subsequent offence, $5. S. Edw. VII. c. 59, s. 19, amended.

Whitewash for Stables.

In preparing stables for winter nothing brightens them up better and gives them a cleaner appearance than a liberal use of whitewash. It also improves the sanitary condition in the stable and makes it more habitable for cattle. The following wash recommended by J. H. Grisdale, Director of the Dominion Experimental Farms, will be found very satisfactory for this purpose:
Half a bushel of slaked lime, slake with warm water, cover it during the process to keep in the steam; strain the liquid through a fine sieve or strainer; add a peck of salt previously dissolved in water; three pounds of ground rice boiled to a thin paste and stir in boiling hot to half a pound of powdered Spanish whiting and a pound of glue which has been previously dissolved over a slow fire, and add five gallons hot water to the mixture, stir well, and let it stand for a few days, covered up from the dirt. It should be put on hot. One pint of the mixture will cover a square yard, properly applied. Small brushes are best. There is nothing that can compare with it for outside or inside work and it retains its brilliancy for many years. Coloring matter may be put in and made of any shade. Spanish brown, yellow ochre or common clay.-Canadian Farm.

ARRIVE YOU GOING WEST THIS FALL?

If so, take advantage of the remarkably low one-way second-class Colonist Rates to Vancouver, Victoria, Nelson, Spokane, Seattle, Portland, San Francisco, Los Angeles, San Diego, etc., in effect daily until October 10; or if West-Canada is your destination, the low-rate Homeseekers' Excursion, in effect each Tuesday until October 28. The route is one of the most scenic in the world. Bear in mind that the Canadian Pacific Railway offers the finest possible equipment and fastest train service. It is the only line operating through standard and tourist sleepers also dining-cars, to Winnipeg and Vancouver. By travelling C.P.R. you avoid the necessity of changing depots. All equipment is owned and operated by the C.P.R., affording the highest form of efficiency. If such a trip is under consideration, apply to any C.P.R. Agent for full particulars, or write Mr. Murphy, District Passenger Agent, Toronto.

A Newspaper Snap.

The extension of the Rural Mail routes has wonderfully increased the number of newspaper readers and many Rural Residents who formerly did not take any paper at all now subscribe for both their local weekly paper and a daily newspaper as well.

The approaching session of Dominion Parliament will see the inauguration of the new parcel post system which will add greatly to the comfort and convenience of the farming community, as a telephone message to the local merchant will bring an article by the next mail and will save many trips to town.
The Standard has arranged with The Toronto Daily World to club the two publications and those subscribing now will receive both papers until the 1st January, 1915, for less than the price of one year's subscription. These two papers will be mailed to you to the 1st January, 1915, for $3.50. Send your subscription order in now and take advantage of the longer period.

Kinney-Heighes.

On Wednesday, October 8th, a very pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Mercer, when Miss Margaret Heighes, fourth daughter of Mr. George S. Kinney, was united in holy bonds of matrimony to Mr. George S. Kinney. The bride was given away by her mother, and entered the parlor to the strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March, played by Mr. J. Dundas, and was married in her travelling suit of blue, cheviot serge and cream embroidered waist, carrying a beautiful bouquet of lily of the valley and maiden hair fern. The young couple were unattended, and the nuptial knot was tied by the bride's pastor, Rev. R. M. Phalen, in the presence of some twenty guests, immediate relatives of the contracting parties.
After the usual congratulations the bride and groom, accompanied by the guests, sat down to a dainty dejeuner. The groom's gift to the bride was a handsome set of mink furs. The bride was the recipient of many beautiful and useful presents.
The young couple will reside over Mr. H. Mercer's store. The bride was one of our most highly respected young ladies, and her many friends wish them a long and happy voyage through life.

Famed as a Murderer.

A story once went the rounds in Paris that an enterprising visitor to M. Constant's proposed to pick a quarrel with M. Rochefort and kill him.
"Many thanks," said Constant, "but I do my own murders."
The report found its way to Constantinople, and when M. Constant arrived there as French ambassador he was struck by the exaggerated deference of the Turkish officials from Armenia. A man who did his murders himself was a remarkable figure to administrators who employed the Kurds for that necessary business.

A Like Retort.

A dapper young shoe clerk fitted a number one over a farmer's yarn sock. "When you get these on," he smilingly remarked, "you can sing 'How Firm a Foundation.' The farmer answered not a word until the number ones were on his feet and his old shoes in a neatly wrapped package under his arm. As he reached the door he smilingly said, "And you can sing 'A charge to keep I have.'"
Philadelphia Ledger.

Not Very Clean.

"And now I mean to handle your witnesses without gloves," said a counsel whose witnesses had met with rather severe treatment from the other side.
"Indeed! That's more than I should like to do with yours," smilingly retorted his learned friend.—London Advertiser.

Oh, Where Was She?

"That new cook I secured is certainly a cut," said Mr. Dubbs happily. "One would never know she is about the place."
"She isn't," chimed in Mrs. Dubbs. "She left early this morning."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Scotch Irreverence.

He was a chubby, brown-faced, bare-legged little urchin, from whom, during my vacation, I acquired the nearest way to the golf course.
"Weel," said he, "ye'll gang straight along here till ye come to the first on yer right, an' ye'll see a minister—I mean a sign-post." He corrected hastily, "and ye'll get the road frae it."
Thinking him for his information, I next enquired why he called the finger-post a minister.
"Shuffing his feet and gazing longingly at the copper I held out, he stammered out: 'Folks panions, weel, it's a minister 'cos it pints the deaply on the right road but diana gang itself.'"

The John Deere Spreader

The Spreader with the Beater on the Axle

On the John Deere Spreader, the Spreader with the Beater on the Axle, two hundred working parts that continually give trouble, are done away with. The spreader is so simple and strong that it does not get out of order. It has no clutches, no chains, no adjustments.

The John Deere Spreader is the greatest improvement in spreaders since their invention. It is as much in advance of ordinary spreaders as the reaper was over the old reaper.

Simplest and Strongest Spreader Made

The Beater on the Axle

Mounting the Beater on the axle makes the John Deere Spreader possible. This feature is fully patented. You can not get it on any other spreader. The beater on the axle does away with all chains and clutches. It puts the strain and stress of spreading on the main axle where it belongs—not on the sides of the box or the frame of the spreader. Mounting the beater on the axle makes the John Deere Spreader easy to load—low down.

Roller Bearings

Roller Bearings, good working parts, the centre of the load comparatively near the team and the weight distributed over four wheels, make the John Deere Spreader light draft. There are four sets of roller bearings, two between the main axle and the beater and two in the front wheels. The beater being mounted on the rear axle and being a part of it, makes only one pair of bearings necessary for the beater and the axle.

Bridge-Like Construction

The substantial steel frame on John Deere Spreaders has high-carbon structural steel.

We want you to come in and see the John Deere Spreader with the Beater on the Axle. We want to show you all its advantages, and to show its simplicity.

David Madill, Markdale
