The Soothing Vapors of Catarrhozone Bring Instantaneous Relief.

Thousands of Testimonials prove that Catarrhozone cures permanently.

When germs attack the lining of the nose, make you sneeze and gag,—when later on, they infest the bronchial tubes, how can you follow them with a cough syrup?

You can't do it—that's all. Cough syrups go to the stomach—that's why they fail.

"Nothing I have ever used gives the warm, soothing sensation of Catarrhozone," writes Isabel Fry, of Seguin Falls, Ont. It is invaluable in colds, sore throat, and bronchial trouble." Not difficult for Catarrhozone to cure, because it contains the essences of pine balsams, and other antiseptics that simply mean death to catarrh. Career Worthy of Emulation By the Civilized World.

A despatch from London, England, says: Hon. Lewis Harcourt, colonial secretary, speaking at Hastingden on Wednesday night, said Lord Strathcona was a great pioneer in all that was best in North America. During the three years Hon. Mr. Harcourt had been at the colonial office it had been his privilege to work officially with Lord Strathcona. Many years before that it was his privilege to count him among his friends. His private generosity and public benefactions had been beyond record or belief. He left a name and record illumined by personal affection and public honors and a career worthy of envy and emulation by the civilized world.

TO PREVENT FRAUD.

Cheese and Butter to Be Honestly Weighed.

A despatch from Ottawa says: An important measure to eliminate the possibility of fraud in connection with weighing of cheese and butter at the port of Montreal will be introduced shortly by Hon. Martin Burrell, minister of agriculture. For many years there have been loud complaints by farmers, who charge that they have not received fair weight. CONFESSION OF CONSTABLE.

Personally Gave Rope and Revolver to Murderer to Aid His Escape.

A despatch from Winnipeg says: Constable Robert Reid, of the city force, one of the two officers guarding John Krafchenko when he escaped, made a full confession on Wednesday before the Royal Commission, and implicated Percy Hagel, the lawyer, John Buxton and John Westlake. Constable Flowers, his fellow guard, he clears of all suspicion. Reid had formerly withstood a seven-hour grueling before the commission which seemingly had justified him, but he completely reversed his sworn statements.

In the witness box Reid told how he personally had given the rope, key and revolver to Krafchenko two days before the escape, while the back of Flowers, the other guard, was turned. The loosened bars in the window, he said, had been tampered with while Ryan, the day guard, was asleep in the cell. The constable stated further that all the arrangements for the escape were made in the office of Percy Hagel, Krafchenko's counsel, where Krafchenko had sent him to see Hagel. He said he did not know what had induced him (Reid) to help Krafchenko. Buxton had given the gun to Reid in Hagel's office, and the number had been filed off in Hagel's presence. Hagel had told him that Westlake, who was to hide Krafchenko after his escape, could be trusted to do so without "squealing." Hagel, he said, had gone to Plum Coulee to get $400 to handle the case. He did not know whether he got it or not.

Pacific Coast Yield Estimated at a Billion and a Half.

A despatch from San Francisco says: After three years of disappointment, Pacific coast citrus fruit growers have produced a bumper crop. This year's orange yield alone would provide at least fifteen oranges for every person in the United States. Estimates place the California shipments at 40,000 cars, more than double that of a year ago and more than has been sent east any year. The 40,000 cars would average 400 boxes each, and every box would contain between 90 and 100 oranges, making approximately a billion and a half oranges shipped.

Magic "Nerviline" Ends Stiff Neck, Lumbago

Any Curable Muscular or Joint Pain is Instantly Relieved by Nerviline.

GET TRIAL BOTTLE TO-DAY.

You don't have to wait all day to get the kink out of a stiff neck if you rub on Nerviline. And you don't need to go round complaining about lumbago any more. You can rub such things away very quickly with Nerviline. It's the grandest liniment, the quickest to penetrate, the speediest to ease muscular pain of any kind.

One twenty-five cent trial bottle of Nerviline will cure any attack of lumbago, or lame back. This has been proved a thousand times, just as it was in the case of Mrs. E. J. Grayden, of Caledonia, who writes:—"I wouldn't think of going to bed without knowing we had Nerviline in the house. I have used it for twenty odd years and appreciate its value as a family remedy more and more every day. If any of the children gets a stiff neck, Nerviline cures quickly. If it is earache, toothache, cold on the chest, sore throat, Nerviline is always my standby. My husband once cured himself of a frightful attack of lumbago by Nerviline, and for a hundred ailments that turn up in a large family Nerviline is by far the best thing to have about you."

It will take only a couple of days to cause great misery in thousands of homes where coal is bought daily, only a bucket ful at a time. Porters who are paid 18 cents a ton for handling coal, are demanding an increase of two cents a ton and other concessions, which it is estimated, will practically raise the pay seven cents more.

STRATHCONA WAS WEALTHY.

Late High Commissioner's Holdings Estimated at $80,000,000.

A despatch from Quebec says: The death of Lord Strathcona will have a material effect on the revenue of the province for the current year. It is understood that the immense holdings of the late High Commissioner will fall under the succession law of Quebec, and calculations are easily made that the revenue from the estate will amount up to millions of dollars. It is said it was anticipated that the value of the holdings was about $80,000,000, and, if so, the succession dues at eight per cent. would amount to $6,400,000. This amount will very likely be modified when the value of the estate in Quebec is known, as this very point has arisen over the judgment of the Privy Council in the Cotton case. At all events, the province is expecting to benefit to the extent of several millions by the decease of Lord Strathcona.

A MOTHER'S DUTY TO HER DAUGHTER

Is to Guard Her Health by Keeping Her Blood Supply Pure.

Anxious mothers who see their daughters fail in strength, become pale and languid, can be sure that the cause of their anxiety is the condition of the growing girl's blood. At no time in her life does a girl stand in greater need of pure, red blood and the health which it alone can give. It is when she is developing into womanhood. It is then that nature rapidly develops and the growing girl finds herself in need of new strength. If your daughter complains of being constantly tired, if she is pale and sickly, if she is breathless on slight exertion, or if her heart palpitates violently on going up stairs, it is a certain sign that her blood is failing to meet the demands upon it, because it is thin and watery. It is at such times that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are worth their weight in gold to tired anaemic girls. They actually make the new, red blood that brings brightness to the eye and bloom of health to the cheek, new strength and activity to the whole body. The following is an example of their value to young girls. Miss Hilda Pearl Snowe, Lawrencetown, N.S., gradually drooped after an attack of anaemia. She became pale and listless, suffered from occasional headaches, and as the trouble progressed a distressing cough also attacked her. Her friends feared she was in the first stages of consumption. As the trouble was of long standing from the outset she was being treated unsuccessfully, but with no benefit. At a critical stage in her illness Miss Snowe was advised to use Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and was glad to do so, for she soon realized that she would not be disappointed. Before she had used the contents of the first box she felt that the Pink Pills were helping her, and by the time she had used five boxes all the troublesome symptoms had disappeared, and she was restored to health. Miss Snowe is now strong and well, and is always ready to tell any girl who is ailing as she was how she regained health and strength. Any girl who is pale, weak or ailing could write to Miss Snowe and feel sure that she would believe that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills saved her life. These Pills never disappoint, but always cure. Do not accept substitutes, but insist on getting the genuine Pink Pills with the full name, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, on the wrapper around each box. You can get these Pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Handkerchiefs in Dickens's Day.

Pocket handkerchiefs, according to information, have been in use for a century. There were, of course, no "moral" pocket handkerchiefs for children which Dickens often mentions, but there were the pocket handkerchiefs or "colors," as they were called, of contending pugilists, and also those with portraits and records of great events, which were sold in the streets. Programmes of Shows also have been in use in some form beyond the memory of the oldest, and every year produces a new Derby was first run in 1780, but handkerchiefs have been in use before a picture of the winner of the race was up to date. General Confusion.

A captain inspecting a company one morning came to a man who evidently had been in bed for several days. Inquiring, he said, "How is it you have not been on parade this morning?" "Beg pardon, sir," replied the man, "How dare you report me? Look at the beard you have on your face!" "Well, you see, sorr," replied Private Doyle, "there was no room in the looking glass, an' I could only get a shpot in the gineral middle of me face, so I shaved some other parts."
