arge Majority Are Received in Head and Hands.

Dr. O. Laurent, a surgeon who served as a volunteer during the Balkan War, has rendered recently to the French Academy of Medicine a very interesting and instructive report concerning casualties in battle.

His statistics show that, in modern warfare, 82 to 84 per cent. of the wounds inflicted are caused by bullets, 15 to 17 per cent, by shrapnel, and 1 per cent, by cold steel. The penetrative force of shrapnel-bullets is, he declares, very much less than that of rifie bullets never are. On the other shrapnel bursts at some distance from the soldier; for, whereas, shrapnel is often found embedded in clothing, rifle bulets never are. On the other hand, complications arise very much more frequently from shrapnel wounds than from rifle bullet wounds. Dr. Laurent has observed that nowadays, since the soldier usually fires under cover, lying either prone or in in replacing cut-off noses, and had a trench, a large majority of wounds a great practice, because the reare received in the skull, and the moval of the nose was a very comhands, especially the left hand.

To combat this, he suggests the use of a light, resistant shield to protect the head, and that another shield should be fixed to the left hand or found its way to Italy, where, in the rifle itself. WISHING WELLS.

Where the Passerby May Have His Wish Fulfilled.

All over Europe there are to be found springs and wells, the waters of which are supposed to posses some healing quality or some magical power. Throughout the northern part of England there are "wishing wells," where the passerby may breathe his wish and rest assured of its fulfillment if he only drops a crooked pin into the water.

A curious custom is still to be wit-nessed in Cornwall. Two pieces of straw, about an inch long, are crossed and the pin run through them; This cross is then dropped into the water and the rising bubbles carefully counted, inasmuch as they are held to mark the years or months or days that will pass before the happening of the event which is of concern to the wisher.

In the old days auguries were drawn from these crosses in other ways. They were made so as hardly to float. Then, as the cross swam, the thrower was to outlive the year; if it sank he was to die within that period. Other matters were to be learned from the position the cross took as it floated limidity Prevents Some Men From Making Good.

A great deal of talent is lost in the world for the want of a little courage very day sends to their graves a number of obscure men who have only remained in obscurity because their timidity has prevnted them from making a first effort; and who, if they could have been induced to begin, would in all probability have gone great lengths in the career of fame. The fact is that, to do anything in this world worth doing, we must not stand back shivering and thinking of the cold and danger, but jump in and scramble through as well as we can. It will not do to be perpetually calculating risks and adjusting nice chances; it did very well before the Flood, when a man could consult his riends upon an intended publication for 150 years, and then live to see his success afterwards; but at present a man waits and doubts, and consults fine day he finds that he is sixty years age; that he has lost so much time n consulting his first-cousins and particular friends that he has no more time to follow their advice.
