John Callaghan Dies From Burns

Suffering from severe burns which he received while making his exit from his burning barn, Mr. John Callaghan, a farmer residing in Glenelg, five miles from Markdale, passed away on Thursday morning last.

On Wednesday Mr. Callaghan had set out a number of rods from his barn. Sparks from these ignited the building, and before many minutes the flames had gained such headway that it was impossible to save it. Mr. Callaghan's efforts were therefore directed to saving the stock in the barn, and he succeeded in releasing four head of horses and a number of cattle, and made the final trip after a call when the fire increased with such rapidity that he was compelled to retreat through a mass of flames. Here he received the injuries which later caused his death, he receiving terrible burns on his head and back. He apparently did not realize the extent of his injuries, for he afterwards assisted the neighbors in saving his house, which had also been consumed. He was later attended to by Drs. Ego, of Markdale, and Smith, of Dornoch, but his injuries were of so serious a nature, that death resulted, as aforesaid, on Thursday morning.

Mr. Callaghan was about 53 years of age, and unmarried. He was highly respected among his neighbors, who were greatly shocked at his tragic ending.
The funeral took place on Saturday morning to St. John's Cemetery; Rev. Father Ferguson officiating.

DUNDALK

Mr. S. J. Halbert and son, Kenneth, of Markdale, spent Sunday at the home of Mr. E. G. Lucas.
Rev. J. R. Wilkinson, of Holland Centre, occupied the pulpit of the Methodist Church acceptably on Sunday. Rev. Herbert Lee took the work of Mr. Wilkinson's circuit.
Mr. Fox, Superintendent of the Ford Automobile business in Canada, is in town the guest of Mr. T. F. Lockhart. He is enjoying a few days trout fishing at the Rowbotham reserve.
Mr. H. C. Duff, of the Agricultural Department, Markdale, was in town Tuesday looking over the drainage demonstration field on the Carson farm. The grain on the drained portion is up while the other part was only fit to sow a few days ago.—Herald.

DURHAM

Mrs. T. C. Fitzhugh is recovering slowly from her recent illness.
The last municipal census of Durham gives a population of 1,850.
The new seats were installed in the Methodist church last week and Sunday they were used for the first time. They are of the opera style, and made of laminated oak.
Mr. James Webber is suffering from a severe injury to his hand, received while untying a cow. She tossed her head back and scraped the skin so severely off the back of his hand that it necessitated several stitches by the doctor.
Broke Bones in Leg—While driving to church last Sunday morning with her brother, Miss Sadie McKelown of the Glen, Glenelg, met with a severe accident. Having no whip she prodded the horse with a parasol, to increase its speed, when it became restive and commenced to run away, whereupon Miss McKelown attempted to jump from the buggy. In so doing she caught her foot in the wheel and fell backward, breaking two bones in her leg and having her ankle dislocated. The injured member was set as soon as medical aid could be secured, and she is now recuperating nicely.—Review.

SHELBURNE

The whole countryside was shocked to learn of the tragic death of Mr. John Callaghan, of Lauriston, particulars of which we expect will be given by the editorial staff. He was widely and popularly known and his sudden death has stirred the inmates of every home. Their deepest sympathy is extended to the bereaved sisters and brother.

Should Be Suppressed

Complaints are made of the methods adopted by enterprising firms who desire to enlist the services of children in disposing of an assortment of practically worthless junk. The scheme is to attract the attention of boys and girls by specious advertisements offering valuable prizes if they will dispose of certain articles, which will be sent on payment of a small sum. The "merchandise" generally consists of a supply of cheap perfume, picture post cards, or the like, which is of little or no value. This is an American idea which has been played for years across the live. The "capital prize" of a horse and buggy, or a bicycle, seldom arrives. It is about time the promoters of these fakes were denied the privileges of the mails.

Worm Farm at Hanover

You may have your fox farms and other institutions, but J. H. Adams, E. F. Graft, C. S. Knechtel, M. S. Armstrong, Ross Young, Charlie Coppinger and a few more of the enthusiastic local anglers have started something real new and original here, says the Hanover Post. The present season promises to be the greatest the fishermen have ever known and as a result there will be a big demand for bait. They are about to establish a worm farm, three acres of land, the site a secret, have been purchased for the establishment and operations will commence at once. Stall-fed worms, domesticated worms, temperamental worms, wild and untamably rascal, in fact worms to suit every mood of the angler. It is a big venture but the men behind the proposition are confident of a tremendous success. This is not a stock selling scheme, the Tamarack Island fishing party being alone in the combine. However, the products will be for distribution among the angling fraternity.
