DURHAM

Mr. J. C. Damm has sold the moving picture business to Mr. George Willoughby of Ottawa. At a meeting of the Band on Tuesday evening, Bandmaster Yirs tendered his resignation, to take effect at once. Mr. Yirs was present in person. After considerable discussion, the resignation was accepted, and Mr. Box elected Bandmaster.

Principal Allan has been offered the principalship of Madoc Model School at a salary of $1500 a year. The officials of the Department have recommended him for this position and the Durham High School Board have been notified by him of the likelihood of his accepting the tempting offer, if reasonable guarantee of permanence is given.

RUNDALK

Mr. Harold Perkins of the Markdale cadets, called on his way from Niagara camp on Saturday. The Dean's drug store block, now the property of Medical Hall, has been improved with new plate glass front with prism lights above. The interior is also greatly improved, and for convenience and appearance Medical Hall ranks with the best drug stores outside the large cities.

Several in town have had the pleasure of paying $20 and costs during the past week for being drunk in a local option municipality. They didn't wait for their cases to go to trial. Others, we understand, proposed to fight the matter out in Court Friday afternoon, when License Inspector Robinson, Crown Attorney, and a large number of interested spectators will likely be present.

OWEN SOUND

Mrs. G. H. Meyer and son, Harry, left Tuesday evening on a two week trip to Meaford and Delhi and thence to Markdale. The resignation of Miss Powell, as keeper at the General Hospital was presented to the Board at its monthly meeting on Wednesday evening.

Depot Agent Reisherry, of the Grand Trunk, is now installed in his new post at the G. T. R. in succession to Mr. J. G. Heys, who has been removed to Mount Forest.

Miss Violet Cornell had her leg fractured while in Harrison Park on July 7th. Park Constable Freeman Burr, a first aid man and member of the St. John Ambulance Corps, was called to her aid, and placed the fractured leg in splints, then called Dr. Middlebro, who had the injured person removed to her home in Derby.

Three youths, Quinlan, Lantz and Hill, who were charged with stealing a quantity of boots from Evans, shoe store and money and pipes from Coates and Ramsay's tobacco store last week, appeared before Magistrate Creason in the Police Court on Wednesday, together with another boy, Brown of Toronto, who was also implicated in the thefts. Quinlan was sentenced to one year in Central Prison.

After an illness which prevented him attending to his duties since January, Mr. Michael Heby, passed away on Monday morning shortly after ten o'clock at his residence, 784 Sixteenth street west. He has been fifty years ago in Guelph, Ontario, and resided for a time in Artesian. He has been a resident of Owen Sound for the past twelve years. He was married to Miss Katherine Kelley, of Proton, who with five children survive.

Three hundred tons of freight was the Owen Sound contribution to the J.C.P.R. steamer Manitoba, when she came in here on Wednesday. This is a record load from this port for the regular weekly trip. PERSONAL

Miss Nellie Hodgins is home from Toronto for holidays. Miss Doris Ricketts is holidaying at Toronto and Hamilton. Mrs. E. M. Wilcox visited Mrs. W. A. Neely the past week. T. H. McNally, of Owen Sound, gave the Standard a call on Saturday. Mrs. Ursula Henry is visiting for a couple of weeks with friends in Meaford. Mr. Albert Elliott, of Nelson, B. C., is renewing acquaintances in town. Mrs. Wm. Fleisher left on Tuesday for Sudbury to visit her daughter, Mrs. Plewes.

SHELBURNE

Mr. Otto Hands has a hen that is after the small egg record. On Tuesday Mr. Hands left at this office a hen's egg measuring only 2 7/16 by 3 inches. Mr. Andrew McWhirter, who lives with his son, Gilbert, at Kelton, and is 83 years of age, had his hip fractured by a kick from a cow. The hip has had to be placed in a plaster paris cast. The funeral of late Eldon Henderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Henderson of Shelburne, took place on Thursday afternoon at Shelburne cemetery and was very largely attended by residents of the town and country.

Mrs. David Hicks, of Amaranth, was thrown out of a buggy on Owen Sound street on Monday last and received a severe shaking up. The horse she was driving got upset at an automobile and upset the buggy. Mrs. J. S. Finlayson, of York, who has been visiting at Mr. Jas. Cassie's, Main street west, met with an accident Friday morning last. In descending the cellar stairs at Mr. Cassie's she made a misstep and fell to the cement floor, breaking both bones of her right arm above the wrist and severely lacerating her hand.

High School Entrance Results

The following candidates were successful in passing the recent H. S. Entrance examinations in the Centre named: (1) after a named signifies that the candidate passed with Honour standing, having taken 75 per cent. of the total marks obtainable. The answer papers of all doubtful candidates have already been rechecked and hence no appeal can be entertained. The certificates of the successful candidates and the marks of the unsuccessful ones will be sent out in a few days.

At a Good Record. The Hon. Jas. Duff, Minister of Agriculture, received in the polling sub-division where he was born and raised, sixty-seven votes out of sixty-nine polled and in thanking his supporters remarked that while these two votes had been recorded against him, the gentlemen polling them had only made a mistake.

Second Week at Niagara Camp

Second week at Niagara Camp always seems to pass more quickly than first week. Monday afternoon was fine and dry and the 31st marched to the ranges to shoot for efficiency pay. This means that every man must get a score of 42 out of a possible 70 in order to qualify for the 15 cents per day allowance. Those who fail have a second chance to make the second trip. C. Coy. had to make the second trip, but succeeded in the end. Last year we had one man who failed to qualify.

Tuesday morning the whole battalion had some drill in ceremonial, saluting, march past, etc. in preparation for the big afternoon feature, the review by the Commander in Chief, General Lessard. This is something like a Sunday church parade, only more so. The whole division is aligned, each regiment rubbing elbows with another to the right and to the left, every man in his dress uniform, his clothes neat and tidy, brass and leather all polished, his head erect and eyes looking straight to the front, as the General, followed by his staff, gallop down the field from one end of the massed troops to the other. The men present arms and the General returns the salute, after which he takes up his position at the saluting base for the march past. I should like to see a good march past. When one is part of it he can hardly get an idea of just what a spectacle it is. There is one good feature for the man who is taking part. It doesn't last long and believe me, that is some consideration when the day is hot and you are wearing heavy serge and carrying a rifle.

Wednesday morning preparations were made for starting on the way to the scene of the big ship fight. We were to be out over the water. That means, bundle the blankets and prepare the lunches. At 11:30 we boarded one of the special trains and were taken almost straight south to Stamford. Detaining at this point we were supposed to be in the enemy's country. The 31st Regt. acted as advance guard to the main body. The enemy was retiring westward and we took the same direction, marching nine or ten miles to Thorold. Arriving at 4 p.m. we prepared to bivouac for the night. The army transports had come up with blankets and provisions. In a large field on the crest of a hill hard by Thorold water tower we had supper, spread our blankets on the grass, and protected by the 35th Regt., which was acting as outpost, we slept.

At 4:30 a.m. an early breakfast, and we were off again, marching southwest towards Decew Falls. About 8:30 we got into touch with the enemy who had taken up a position on the farther side of a great wooded valley. It was then a case of getting into effective rifle range without being seen and of occupying a better fire position. The 31st, with part of the 35th, were on the right flank. Some companies got lost in the ravines and woods. "C" Coy. perhaps more by good luck than good management found a good trail which afforded roof cover and were able to get through and cut off a detachment of the enemy's force without firing a shot.

The attacking force occupied a frontage of two and one half miles and consisted of the bulk of the troops of the division. The defence was a skeleton defence, a few men with red flags representing a company of infantry, a squadron of cavalry or a battery of guns. Somewhere around 10:30 the bugles sounded along the line and the fight was over. Never heard who won and I can imagine that the umpires would have a very interesting session trying to figure out results.

The troops were ordered to rendezvous at a crossroad on the Pelham-Stone Road. It took over an hour to get the brigades together as some had miles to travel. F Coy. 31st had a few hundred yards. Sandwiches were served, and after a short rest we stepped out to St. Catharines, seven miles away. Special trains were waiting, and as fast as they were loaded whirled away to camp Niagara, reaching our own lines about 2:30. No more to do but to get the men went down to the lake for a swim. Evening was spent by most of the 31st watching their football team win the final game, and the camp championship. There was certainly one grand parade when the men of the regiment, carrying the football team on their shoulders, and headed by the band, marched down the lines to the Y.M.C.A. headquarters for the championship banner.

Friday was getaway day. Breakfast over and baggage packed before 7 o'clock, the 31st caught an early boat to Toronto and a special train brought them home in time for supper. Once in every four years F Coy. is detailed for duty as rear party. 1914 is their year. Each regimental rear party has to clean up, burn or bury all traces of camp. This is not a very hard job but on account of red tape requirements, much delay is occasioned because inspectors are not always ready to inspect, and sanitary officers sometimes go to lunch without leaving a substitute on the job, incidental to keeping forty or fifty men sitting around awaiting their good pleasure. Such a combination of circumstances was largely responsible for the local company being detained long enough to be unable to get home Friday evening. However, we made it by Saturday noon, having spent the night in Toronto. Everybody sound and healthy. The only casualty to re-healthy is a sprained ankle, Jas. Connelly, who really belongs to F Coy but is attached to the Clarksburg company this year because F is overstrength, received the injury by tripping over some wire in the grass. It is a pleasure to report that owing to the unavoidable absence of the regimental sergeant-major, Color Sergt. Cavanagh, of Markdale was selected by the Colonel to fill the position. It is a greater pleasure to report that he filled it most acceptably.

Grey Co. Pioneer Passes

The death occurred at his residence in Egremont township, near Durham on Tuesday, of Mr. James Allan, one of the most prominent men in the township, and Grey County pioneer. Allan was born in Dumfriesshire, Scotland, and emigrated to Canada when quite young. He took an active interest in municipal matters and was a member of the County Council for a number of years. He was a Presbyterian in religion and a lifelong Conservative in politics. He is survived by his widow and a growing family. Messrs. Wm. Allan, License Inspector for South Grey, Thos. Allan, Principal of Durham High School, David Allan, Clerk of Egremont Township, and J. M. Allan, of Egremont, acted as funeral directors and took place to Maplewood Cemetery.

G. G. Albery Writes.

To the Editor.— Permit me through your paper to thank the electors of Centre Grey, who supported the principles of which I stood by working and voting in the recent contest. The questions were too big to be fully understood in the short notice upon which the election was sprung. I am not insensible of the fact that many Liberals feared that abolishing the bar, and other restrictions to lessen the evils of intemperance, might interfere with their liberties, and accordingly voted for the Conservative candidate.

Great moral issues for the uplift and financial benefit of the average man are not popular when first introduced, and history shows that the task of proposing such reforms usually falls to Liberal leaders. In conclusion, let me especially thank the Ministers, and other splendid men who fearlessly and selflessly explained the questions on the various platforms throughout the riding. I also sincerely thank my faithful friends, both Conservatives and Liberals who supported me, and whose kind sympathy and appreciation of my efforts places me under a debt of gratitude to them.

Yours truly, Geo. G. Albery.

The patrons of the Methodist church shed have the grateful thanks of the officials for so cheerfully giving way to the visitors on Saturday last, thereby accommodating many with shed room.
