

THE "BALMACAN"

Oh, yes! You've heard of this famous overcoat with its big loose sleeves, its flowing skirt and general air of class and distinction. It is certainly a coat that should be in every man's wardrobe who can afford to own one for specific purposes such as motoring, driving, travelling and general knockabout use. It's the best and most comfortable knockabout garment ever designed. We show it as illustrated here and also with the collar buttoning up close to the neck. Some like it one way--some the other. Take your choice but be sure and order it in a strong, serviceable cloth.

The residence of Mr. and Mrs. T. Fisher was the scene of a pretty wedding on Tuesday evening, Sept. 22nd, when the bride, the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Fisher, was united in marriage with Mr. S. N. Leaver of London, formerly of Mount Royal. The ceremony, which took place at six o'clock, was conducted by Rev. R. C. Kerr in the presence of about thirty-five guests. The bride and groom were both in their first marriages. The bride was given away by her father, wore a very pretty gown of white shadow-lace over satin and carried a bouquet of white asters and maiden hair fern. The only ornament worn was necklace set with chip diamonds, the gift of the groom. After the marriage a family wedding supper was served and the evening was pleasantly spent with music and other entertainment. The guests from a distance were the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Leaver, Mr. and Mrs. J. McPherson, Mrs. James Blackburn and Miss Jennie Blackburn all of Forest. Mr. and Mrs. Leaver left on Friday for their new home at London, the bride travelling in a neat suit of blue ladies' cloth with hat to match. The happy good wishes of numerous friends follow the bride who was the recipient of many beautiful wedding gifts.

Business as Usual.

A writer in the "London Daily Mail" suggests that the nation's motto at the present moment should be "Business as Usual." The "London Spectator" says: "That is sound common sense and true patriotism. There is not one of us who cannot without the slightest loss of health or happiness be speeded up by some fifteen or twenty per cent. If we all - men, women and children - resolve to work harder and better than before, we shall very soon overtake the losses of war. They are superficial things, the spirit survives." Nations fight, not with armies and navies alone, but with resources. The allies are vastly superior in natural resources. England and all over the British Empire, we are not quite as usual. Let us feel that we are doing business with a purpose - not to accumulate money, but to add to the stock of useful things in war as well as in peace.

Flesherton May Have Hydro in December

Engineer James O. of the Hydro Electric Commission addressed a meeting of the ratepayers of Flesherton, Preeceville and Tayton at Flesherton last week and informed that the Commission would be able to deliver temporary power to Flesherton in December and to Owen Sound in March next. The Ambursen people informed him, he said, that they expected to be out of Eugenia in eight weeks. They were now supplying that company with the full load of power possible with the old plant, and so soon as they were through with it could be turned on for Flesherton. He said they expected that the full development would be completed by the first of next March. Mr. James advised the coupling up of Ceylon and Eugenia with Flesherton. As Preeceville was a police village, he thought it better for them to go to it independently. Dealing with the subject of the Commission proposed to couple up the Severn and Wusdell's Falls power with that of Eugenia, also the Saugene power at Port Elgin, and supply all this section of the country. They hoped to have all the towns asking for power in this county connected up by a year from this fall. They hoped to be delivering power to Owen Sound by the first of March next. At the present time they had engineers at work on the Port Elgin power taking observations and getting estimates of the power which could be developed. In answer to a question, Mr. James said electricity would be delivered to customers in Flesherton at the rate of 3 1/2 or 4c per kilowatt hour. Under the agreement with the old Georgian Bay Power Co. Flesherton was to have energy at not more than 10c per kilowatt hour. This works out at about $28.40 per horsepower per annum, for a 24-hour service. All those present were exceedingly pleased with the information vouchsafed by Mr. James, and it was thought there will be very little opposition to the scheme when it is submitted to the electors, which will be done with as little delay as possible.

Grey County First.

The deputation which went to Ottawa last Wednesday for the purpose of interviewing members of the cabinet and arranging for the best means of transporting the donations of the Grey County farmers to the patriotic fund, returned on Friday night very satisfied with their work. The delegation, which consisted of Warden Breeze, of the county of Grey, Secretary Menzies of the board of trade and Mr. W. B. Smith was assured by the members of the cabinet whom they saw that the government would gladly assume the transportation of the donations, all more-over expressing their gratification at the remarkable and timely manner in which the county of Grey is indicating its loyalty. The Grey county men were the first to approach the government with the donation plan and Sir George E. Foster and others of the cabinet were not slow in expressing their appreciation and also the hope that it was an example which would not be slow to copy.

Farm Wife Gives Advice

"One Who Has Lived on a Farm" says that farmers' wives have too much to do at this time to undertake added burdens, such as they would like to help the poor in the cities from the abundance wasting on the farm. She goes on: "If fruit were sent to the needy would they look after it themselves? They could not get to it, they could not help the mother with putting it up as those on the farms do? 'What many city people need to learn is thrift, and to take pleasure in it, instead of going to the five-cent shops where a good many spend more than would keep them in fruit the year round. 'Many farmers would be willing to give fruit if they could get help at a moderate price to pick it.' The writer suggests that use might be made of the rhubarb produced by many city gardens, and gives a recipe, which calls for four ounces of sugar to a pound of rhubarb, put in jars, sealed and then cooked. She also advises the combination of rhubarb with berries, grapes or plums, with enough sugar to make jam.

When the sea runs gray and green, And the stars 'ereick an' tremble, God keeps 'em steady, sailor men, For we need Am'chity keepin', an' For her the whole deck's clean, There's no time for the long haul, O'er weary miles of air, When the wind's from the German, I was jump' round my stomach, Trembled like a penny, an' they had us as hands an' faces, But they were stripped for the fight, I was jump' round my stomach, Trembled like a penny, an' they had us as hands an' faces, Say, 'I've seen the sea of the world, I've seen that old man, I was jump' round my stomach, There was two of them a-lookin' just as if they were German mothers, But they were in the fight, I was jump' round my stomach, Trembled like a penny, an' they had us as hands an' faces, While the look-out says 'ere, 'ere, 'ere, I was jump' round my stomach, Trembled like a penny, an' they had us as hands an' faces, When I stepped on looked to sea, I was jump' round my stomach, Trembled like a penny, an' they had us as hands an' faces, Very casual like, an' careless, in the station like, an' careless, in the station like, Say, 'ere, 'ere, 'ere, 'ere, I was jump' round my stomach, Trembled like a penny, an' they had us as hands an' faces, An' 'ere, 'ere, 'ere, 'ere, I was jump' round my stomach, Trembled like a penny, an' they had us as hands an' faces, We were in 'em in harbor, an' I was jump' round my stomach, Trembled like a penny, an' they had us as hands an' faces, There was somethin' in the air, an' I was jump' round my stomach, Trembled like a penny, an' they had us as hands an' faces, At my mate, he says, 'You're havin' a good time, an' you're jumpin', an' I was jump' round my stomach, Trembled like a penny, an' they had us as hands an' faces, But when we're sweatin' drips, an' the sea's unhol'ly roll, Say, 'ere, 'ere, 'ere, 'ere, I was jump' round my stomach, Trembled like a penny, an' they had us as hands an' faces, 'Till the sun himself is dead.
