GERMANS STICK TO THE TRENCHES

Severe Checks Dealt to Infantry Attacks Have Made Them Chary.

A despatch from Paris says: A brilliant and successful feat of the French army is reported in the official communique. In a violent snow storm French Chasseurs who have repeatedly distinguished themselves in the mountain fighting, stormed and captured "Hill 937," north of Hartmans-Weilerkop, east of the Vosges, driving out the Germans who sustained heavy casualties, and themselves suffering little loss.

Unofficial despatches supplementing the brief official announcement describe the feat as one of the most noteworthy of the war. The hill derives its name from the fact that it is 937 metres above the sea level. It had been held by the Germans in force, and was particularly difficult of attack, because of the rugged and wooded nature of its slopes, which were additionally defensible, because of the weather conditions. The severe checks dealt German infantry attacks have had the effect of making the enemy chary of leaving his trenches, hence the War Office has little to report of an offensive by the Germans, except the throwing of bombs and hand grenades, mine explosions and artillery fire. In no case have these latter secured material results.

Russian Expenditures Nearly $2,060,000,000

A despatch from Petrograd says: The Budget was on Wednesday passed by the Duma and the Council of the Empire. The Budget Committee of the Duma in its estimates for 1915 placed the revenues at 2,000,000,000; expenditure, $1,936,000,000; extraordinary expenditures, $867,000,000. After the vote in the Council, one of the members, P. M. De Kaafmann, declared in the name of all the groups that whatever sacrifices were demanded the war should be carried out to the bitter end. This was received with cries of approbation.

U.S. to Supply Wardens For British Prisoners

A despatch from London says: The British Government has arranged with the Government of the United States to appoint quartermasters and paymasters in the American army, to act as neutral wardens to British prisoners of war in Germany. The initiation of this plan, however, has been delayed, as Germany still has the matter under consideration. Announcement to effect was made in the House of Commons on Wednesday afternoon by H. J. Tennant, Parliamentary Secretary of the War Office.

65 CANADIANS DIED.

Twenty-four Cases of Meningitis Proved Fatal at Salisbury.

A despatch from London says: In reference to reports of heavy losses from disease among the Canadian troops encamped on Salisbury Plain, the War Office on Wednesday issued a statement to the effect that 65 Canadians have died in this camp, and that the total loss from meningitis has been 24 men out of 40 cases reported. It had been reported that an entire Canadian battalion was suffering from meningitis, and the inference had been drawn that the epidemic was due to bad damp conditions. According to the War Office, however, the disease was brought with the contingent from Canada. In reference to the report that 70 per cent. of the Canadian horses are suffering from mud fever the War Office declares that only 10 per cent. of the Canadian horses are sick and that only a proportion of these had mud fever.

FRENCH TOWNS IN DISTRESS.

American Relief House Wires That 589,000 Are in Need.

A despatch from New York says: The war relief clearing house for France and her allies, which has an office in this city, on Wednesday received a cablegram from the American Relief Clearing House of Paris, announcing that in 300 villages, towns and communities of France there are 589,000 refugees in great need. Of this number, 81,000 are in need of money, 31,000 need food, 219,000 need clothing and 219,000 are in need of general assistance. It was stated in the cablegram that 1,000 woollen yarns of good quality and clothing, old or new, for men, women, children and babies were the articles most urgently needed.

Serbia is Ready.

A despatch from Sofia says: The Serbian army has a strength of 220,000 men, well supplied with war materials and food. One of the diplomats at Nish, during the course of an interview, said: "A new Austro-German offensive campaign is believed to be imminent, and everything possible is being done to put the country into a good state of defence. The women and children are aiding in digging trenches."

Salt from Sea Water.

In the Philippine Islands salt is extracted from sea water by crude processes. The greater part is obtained by sun evaporation; a small proportion by artificial heat. The Chinese have introduced slightly improved methods. About 40,000,000 pounds of crude salt are produced annually. In the mountain provinces a small quanity of poor-grade salt is produced by evaporating the water from carbonated springs, but the supply falls far short of the demand and the quality is rarely satisfactory.

German Factories Waiting.

Some indications of the industrial situation in Germany were given at a meeting of the General Industrial Association held in Munich recently. The general feeling of the meeting appeared to be that small manufacturers and traders were being overlooked in the general effort to revive economic activity. In his opening remarks the chairman observed that great distress prevailed among workers in factories not engaged in supplying the needs of the army and navy and he regretted that officials and the wealthier members of the community were reducing their purchase to the minimum as well as refraining from putting work in hand.

A WOMAN'S MESSAGE TO WOMEN.

If you are troubled with weak, tired feelings, headache, backache, bearing down sensations, bladder weakness, constipation, catarrhal conditions, pain in the sides regularly or irregularly, bloating or unnatural enlargements, sense of falling or misplacement of internal organs, nervousness, desire to cry, palpitation, hot flashes, dark rings under the eyes, or a loss of interest in life, I invite you to write and ask for my simple method of home treatment, with ten days' trial entirely free and postpaid, also references to Canadian ladies who gladly tell how they have regained health, strength, and happiness by this method. Write to-day. Address: Mrs. M. Summers, Box. 849 Windsor, Ont.

A Bashful Clerk.

A pretty young woman stepped into a music store the other day. She tripped up to the counter where a new clerk was assorting music, and in her sweetest tones asked:

"Have you Kissed me in the Moonlight?"

The clerk turned half way around, looked at her and answered:

"It must have been the man at the other counter. I've only been here a week."

BRITISH SURPRISED TURKS

Entire Force at Entrance to Gulf of Suez Either Killed or Made Prisoners

A despatch from London says: A force of 200 Turks and Arabs, under German officers, who were preparing to attack the British station of Tor, at the entrance to the Gulf of Suez, were attacked and either killed or taken prisoners Friday by a British force, according to a British official report from Cairo. One hundred soldiers were taken prisoners, and of the others not one escaped death.

The official report states that fifty Turks and two German officers approached Tor, believing that the place was undefended. Finding Tor was garrisoned by 200 Egyptian soldiers, they sent for reinforcements. These arrived, and a force now numbering a little over 200 occupied a village to the north of Tor.

On their arrival becoming known, a small detachment of British troops landed in their rear, and, advancing over the hills, made a surprise attack upon their position at dawn Friday. The official report concludes as follows: "The enemy's force was annihilated. Over 100 prisoners were taken, among them a Turkish major. Over sixty of their dead were found on the field, and it is believed that none got away. Twenty camels were captured, and the enemy's camp and their stores were destroyed. Our losses were one Gurkha killed and one wounded."

TO ENCIRCLE BRITISH ISLES

Enemy Intends to Scatter Mines From Especially Constructed Submarines

A despatch from Christiania says: Reports from Germany printed in Scandinavian newspapers indicate that the German naval authorities regard the painting of national colors on neutral ships to be an insufficient precaution, since the greatest danger threatened is not from torpedoes, but from mines. It is intended to scatter these from German submarines especially constructed for the purpose, and the plan will be vigorously pursued in all parts of the proclaimed area.

BATTLE GOES ON IN BUKOWINA

Russians, Reinforced, Have Repulsed a Series of Fresh Attacks.

A despatch from London says: Fighting continues in Bukowina. The Russians, reinforced and holding on grimly, have repulsed a series of fresh attacks, and the tide of battle sways backwards and forwards. The Russians were compelled at the beginning to give ground before the masses of the enemy, which swept down the Carpathian passes. The Russians, fighting doggedly, withdrew to the north from Kimpolung, and there on more suitable ground, where the snow was less deep, they entrenched themselves and awaited the Austro-German advance. By a well-timed counter-attack the Russians shattered the enemy's line at three points, compelling them to retire.

Snow impeded the marching, but the Russians are moving forward. The cold is intense, the temperature being 20 below zero, with a piercing ice-laden wind, which smites and slays. The terrible weather conditions add to the horrors of warfare in the valleys and mountain passes, the driving snow rendering it difficult to distinguish friend from foe at 100 yards' distance.

The enemy succumbs to cold more speedily than the winter-seasoned Siberian troops. There is great difficulty in rescuing the wounded. Following their collapse, exposure soon ends their sufferings, and snow envelops them, becoming at once a winding sheet and tomb. Consequently thousands, once stricken down, altogether disappear.

Patricias to Be Given a Respite.

A despatch from London says: News has been received that the Princess Patricias, after a strenuous time, alternating between the trenches and the dugouts, will be given a respite from the rigors of the firing line.

BRITISH MARCHING ABILITY.

Marked Improvement Since the South African War.

British infantry have the reputation for excelling the infantry of all other armies in the rate of marching and staying powers. So marked has been the improvement since the South African war that the standards of time and distance set forth in the manuals are now regarded in many quarters as minima. Fifteen miles a day was regarded a few years ago as a good average for a large column; 25 miles for a small body of trained men. The average speed, with halts, was placed at three miles an hour. In the grand autumn manoeuvres of 1909, when a test was made of British marching ability, the 1st infantry brigade covered 30 miles in one day, and the second and 3rd infantry brigades, hampered by artillery, 23 miles. The 5th and 6th infantry brigades covered 31 miles; the 1st Devonshire regiment 35 miles; the 1st Grenadier Guards 35 miles, and the 1st Cheshire regiment 33 miles. Much of this marching was performed at the rate of five miles per hour. The service equipment carried on this occasion averaged 60 pounds in weight.

THICK, GLOSSY HAIR FREE FROM DANDRUFF

Girls! Try it! Hair gets soft, fluffy and beautiful—Get a 25 cent bottle of Danderine.

If you care for heavy hair that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, try Danderine.

Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff. You can not have nice heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots famish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast. Surely get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store and just try it.

BAYONET CHARGE ON SKIS

A despatch from London says: The Daily Chronicle correspondent at Geneva telegraphs the following:

"The first bayonet charge on skis occurred in the Vosges near Col du Bonhomme. Forty Alpine chasseurs and two officers who had been cut off were asked to surrender. Instead they charged down the slopes on skis into the German trenches. A terrible struggle ensued. All the French were killed, but the German losses were double."

Famine Threatens Whole of Austria

A despatch from Rome says: A Cabinet Council held at Budapest Tuesday lasted twelve hours. The Ministers dealt exclusively with the question of food supplies. The only way to avert a famine appears to be to create a State monopoly. This is considered inevitable, but is delayed for fear of panic. The cost of living is prohibitive, and the poor can hardly keep body and soul together.

HOLLAND SENDS WARM PROTEST

Notes to Germany and Great Britain Delivered at the Same Moment.

A despatch from The Hague says: The Netherlands has maintained the strictest neutrality by presenting notes of protest at the same moment to Germany and Great Britain regarding the acts of these Governments in respectively declaring a war zone of the waters around the British Isles and in using neutral flags.

Diplomats here have been awaiting action of this kind, and their expectations were fulfilled when it was announced that the Dutch Minister at Berlin had been instructed to hand the note to the German Foreign Office, the other note being communicated to Great Britain at the same time.

There has been much discussion of the dangers to be encountered in the North Sea, and Dutch shipping is menaced more than that of another neutral nation, owing to the large number of Dutch vessels passing through the English Channel on the voyage to the Dutch Indies. Dutch shippers appear determined not to change their schedules, and the ships will proceed over the usual routes, although with precautions in order to make their nationality clear.

GIVE "SYRUP OF FIGS" TO CONSTIPATED CHILD

Delicious "Fruit Laxative" can't harm tender little Stomach, liver and bowels.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing at once. When peevish, cross, listless, doesn't sleep, eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad; has sore throat, diarrhœa, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which contains full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups.

A WONDERFUL TREE.

Produces Flowers Which Are Dried and Eaten.

A report from Calcutta describes the uses made in India of the mahua tree, otherwise known as the mahwa, mahwa, mowka, mowa, mowra or illupei tree, which grows wild in the greater part of that country, and is also cultivated to some extent. A traveller has called it the "square meal" tree. The cream-colored flowers appear from maturity about the end of March.

Each morning about sunrise the succulent corolla tubes fall in great showers to the ground, which has been cleared to receive them. The fall from a single tree continues for from seven to ten days. The flowers are spread out in the sun to dry, their color changing to a reddish brown, and their peculiar sweet odor becoming more apparent.

Though eaten to a considerable extent, the majority of the crop is dried and cooked with rice or other grains. Mahua is extremely sweet, and not easily digested by persons unaccustomed to eating it. Sugar and molasses are made from it.

The report states that in the central provinces alone about 1,400,000 people use mahua regularly as an article of food. The flowers are also distilled and produce a strong liquor, not unlike Irish whiskey in flavor.

The seeds of the same tree are used for the manufacture of mahua butter, which is used for food, as a lubricant and as an illuminant.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL STUDY

INTERNATIONAL LESSON. FEBRUARY 21.

Lesson VIII. The Death of Eli and His Sons. 1 Sam. 4, 1-18. Golden Text, James 1, 22.

Verse 1. Israel went out against the Philistines to battle. The Philistines were last mentioned in Judges, chapters 13 and 16. It was evident that Israel was not able to throw off the yoke of the Philistines. This servitude lasted for forty years (Judg. 13, 1). It terminated about the twentieth year of Samuel's judgeship (1 Sam. 7, 13, 14).

Eben-ezer, "stone of help," and Gilgal, "heap of stones," had a special significance (Josh. 4, 20). Ebenezer is at the head of the Vale of Sorek, where Israel defeated the Philistines (see next lesson, 1 Sam. 7, 12).

Aphek means fortress. It was one of the strongholds of Samaria or northern Sharon, where the Philistines assembled twice, once before they invaded Israel and once before they crossed the plain of Esdraelon. It was not far from the Mizpah of Benjamin, and was within doubtedly the Aphek of Josh. 12, 18.

3. People means the army. The elders had a council in the evening of the defeat and resolved to send the ark of the covenant of the Lord in battle.

Wherefore hath Jehovah smitten us to-day before the Philistines? This was the cry of the former age (see Josh. 7, 7).

4. The people. Here again, the army is meant. As we read in the book of Judges repeatedly, in the days there was no King in Israel. And so whatever action was taken seemed to be the concerted act of the army.

Shiloh was not many hours distant from Aphek, as the ark was brought the next day.

Who sitteth above the cherubim. The cherubim were conceived as bearing the Lord upon their wings (see 2 Sam. 6, 2; 2 Kings 19, 15; Isa. 37, 16).

6. In the camp of the Hebrews. This is the name by which the Israelites were known to their neighbors (Exod. 1, 15, 16, 19; 2, 6, 13; 3, 18; 5, 3).

7. There hath not been such a thing heretofore. The Hebrew word for heretofore is yesterday and the third day, meaning the day before. This was a common expression among the Israelites (see Gen. 31, 2, 5; Exod. 4, 10).

8. These are the gods that smote the Egyptians with all manner of plagues in the wilderness. Not only did the Israelites never forget the deliverance of their fathers from Egypt, but this incident has become so fixed as a tradition that the neighbors of Israel knew the rest. The Philistines, therefore, were exceedingly disturbed when they saw that the same God of Israel was come into the camp. By "in the wilderness" is meant the shores of the Red Sea (Exod. 14, 20; 14, 7-11, 29).

9. Be strong and quit yourselves like men. Saint Paul uses similar words in 1 Cor. 16, 13. "Quit you like men, be strong." This then people was able to rally its forces in an appeal to the manhood of the army.

11. And the two sons of Eli. The man of God (1 Sam. 2, 27) had prophesied that both of Eli's sons should die in one day.

12. And there ran a man. Runners among the Israelites were well known persons. As there was no other means of quick communication, men who were particularly fleet of foot were developed for messenger service. Well-known cases of runners were Cushi and Ahimaaz (2 Sam. 18, 9-31), and Asahel (2 Sam. 2, 18). There were also running footmen who accompanied the chariots. These runners became professionals, as is indicated in 2 Sam. 15, 1; 1 Kings 1, 5.

His clothes rent, and with earth upon his head. Indicative of bitter grief. Those who saw him running thus would know that his message was unfavorable (see 2 Sam. 1, 2; Josh. 7, 6).

13. By the wayside watching. This was doubtless a street leading to the watch tower (2 Sam. 18, 24; 2 Kings 11, 6, 19).

18. When he made mention of the ark of God. Eli as priest of God was particularly responsible for the ark of the covenant of the Lord. He had allowed "the people" to go to the very extreme measures of taking the ark into the battle in order to win the victory. When the ark was taken, therefore, he knew that there was no other help. The shock of this disaster was too great for him to stand.

Fell from off his seat backward by the side of the gate. This seat, or throne, had no back. The fact that Eli fell backward, however, indicates how great was the excite-

MENT "CASCARETS" IF BILIOUS OR COSTIVE

For Sick Headache, Sour Stomach, Sluggish Liver and Bowels—They work while you sleep.

Furred Tongue, Bad Taste, Indigestion, Sallow Skin and Miserable Headaches come from a torpid liver and clogged bowels, which cause your stomach to become filled with undigested food, which sours and ferments like garbage in a swill barrel. That's the first step to untold misery—indigestion, foul gases, bad breath, yellow skin, mental fears, everything that is horrible and nauseating. A Cascaret tonight will give your constipated bowels a thorough cleansing and straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist will keep you feeling good for months.
