The Knox College Gospel Team, composed of Messrs. G. S. Lloyd, M. A., H. S. Clugston, G. W. Call, C. C. Gowans, M. A., completed a very successful week's mission last Friday evening. Special services were held Sunday morning and evening; also Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings. The meetings were of such a high spiritual order that many consecrated themselves to the services of the Master. The Team did not confine itself to the regular evening services but visited the sick and the "shut-ins" of the community, singing to them beautiful Gospel hymns. The messages in song in duets and quartettes was especially enjoyed by the people. The men leave us with many happy memories of a very pleasant and profitable week.

MILK IN THE COCONUT—BETTER GET AFTER IT

Great Opportunity For "Made-In-Canada" Products—European Products Are Now Shut Out.

While the nations of Europe are at war, the people of Canada have a duty to their own land as well as to the Mother Country. While regretting the issue forced on the Mother Country and giving contingents to England's aid, let us also give all the help we can to ourselves. Canada's own big problem is that of a country which has imported much—and suddenly finds those imports cut off.

You will get at the milk in the coconut at once by glancing at the following lists:

Let No. 1

Some of the things we have been importing from Germany, Austria, etc., to the value of $38,000,000 per annum:

Aniline dyes, baskets, books, boots, buttons, brooms, brushes, canned goods, chemicals, collars and cuffs, cotton goods, clothing, combs, colors and dye stuffs, cutlery, dolls, drugs, earthenware, electric apparatus, feathers, furs, fringe and tassels, gloves and mitts, glass and glassware, guns, hats, hosiery, hops, jewelry, knitted goods, leather goods, lace, labels, locomotive tires, machinery, millinery, mineral waters, musical instruments, optical instruments, paints and colors, papers, pencils, perfumes, pianos, pharmaceutical preparations, piano parts, piano key levers, pipes, purses, ribbons, rubber goods, seeds, shoes, lace, silk knitted and other goods, silverware, soaps, spirits, stockings and socks, time recorders, tobacco, toilet articles, tools, toys, underwear, woodenware, woolen goods, watches.

Let No. 2

Some of the things mentioned in List No. 1 that we now make in Canada in competition with the manufacturers of Continental Europe:

Baskets, boots, books, buttons, brooms, brushes, canned goods, carpets, chemicals, collars and cuffs, cotton goods, clothing, combs, colors and dye stuffs, cutlery, dolls, drugs, earthenware, electric apparatus, feathers, furs, glass and glassware, gloves and mitts, guns, hats, hosiery, jewelry, knitted goods, lamps, leather goods, labels, machinery, millinery, mineral waters, musical instruments, optical instruments, paints and colors, paper, perfumes, pipes, pharmaceutical preparations, pianos, piano parts, purses, ribbons, rubber goods, seeds, silverware, silk knitted goods, soaps, spirits, stockings and socks, time recorders, toilet articles, tools, underwear, woodenware, woolen goods.

A Great Advantage

The Canadian manufacturers of the articles in List No. 2 have now an advantage greater than any tariff wall. The competition of Continental Europe has been withdrawn and will remain withdrawn until the war is over at least. Let the Canadian manufacturers make the most of the situation. And let the people of Canada rally round our manufacturers and help them make the most of it, for we need them and the things they make as never before.

The immediate result of the European war in Canada, was a check to business.

The second result will be to stimulate business—if we keep our heads, and go after business.

We believe every Canadian will follow this timely advice.

The Country Press

The writer spent a two days' outing with the members of the Canadian Press Association recently. To come in touch with these men and to gain an insight into their motives and reasons for engaging in the work of supplying the people of Canada with their daily and weekly supply of what the world is doing, enlarges one's vision and strengthens one's faith in his native land. Party politics may divide the men of the press, but nothing else will, and behind it all is a sincere devotion to duty and to their country's best interests. And in no section is this more forcibly shown than among those who edit and publish the country weeklies. For the most part these men receive little of this world's goods. They work early and late—result, the man in the country gets the news, both local and foreign, dished up to him in form 52 times a year and all for the sum of one dollar. In no other business on earth is so much value given for the money, a fact that the average reader may not appreciate. The country weekly editor continues in business just the same, and by so doing is making for the country's well-being and prosperity. What would the local paper be worth without the word beyond a small radius. People in towns and cities read in the country as well, sometimes forgetting how much they owe to the press of the day in the upbuilding of this land and in making its resources known abroad.

RAYS OF SUNSHINE THROUGH THE CLOUDS

The sudden breaking out of war caused many to "run to cover." Like the chicken on whom the rose leaf fell, some of us became a prey to fear and were ready to declare "the sky is falling."

Now the vision is clearing, our alarm has fled, we have recovered our poise and our courage. We are seeing, also, our opportunity. Swiftly and almost overwhelmingly has come to us the perception of the fact that the competition of Continental Europe has been taken away. We are faced with a condition and an opportunity both tending to our advantage as a country of industry, agriculture and trade. Good times are ahead, if Canada and Canadians see and prize the present opportunity for enlarging their industries and trading. We must be careful. We must have courage.

Sanitation.

(Reprinted from The Montreal Gazette.)

Good sanitation is the forerunner of good health. To-day sanitation has done much for the prolongation of human life and even to prolong the great war in Europe. Too much cannot be said in favor of the introduction of new hygiene principles, especially when they have a tendency for the uplifting of the human body.

Halfway corporations, like municipal corporations, be they great or small, are constantly on the look-out for newer methods of sanitation. The European war, in which Canadian soldiers are playing an important part, is teaching many important lessons for improved sanitary conditions. Lodging, for instance, alone has done a great deal and has been the means of saving thousands of lives. When the Americans took over the building of the Panama Canal, they were entertained as to its complexity, but the introduction of a perfect system of sanitation enabled it to be completed. During recent years great strides have been made towards the public, but there is still a great deal more to be done. The dirty, common drinking cups formerly used at fountains in public squares have now, in many progressive cities, been replaced by the bubbling fountain which provides the man in the street with a sanitary drink of water. This system has only been recently adopted by the eastern cities, but in the West it has been in vogue for some time. When the lips touch the rim of a drinking cup a little saliva is invariably left there which may contain disease germs. These will adhere to the lips of the next user of the cup. To obviate this the railways of the country have adopted the system of individual paper cups, which immediately after use are destroyed. Another development towards cleanliness is the disappearance of the communal wash in most places. Soap is another important germ carrier. Many hotels and railways companies, to say the least, have discarded the use of communal soap on this account, and the individual soap has been instituted. While in one sense the liquid soap has been expected by the latter part, it has been given a new and important part, in which it is not susceptible of germ multiplication from a sanitary point of view is the best form of public toilet room, in which has come into use the so-called "handkerchief" principle. This is fast approaching, and it will have reached the point of being a part of the common life. Speaking of the sanitation of railway cars, which is such an important aspect of municipal sanitation, up-to-date companies make special precautions to ensure the health of their travelling passengers, and in some cases a special department is employed to keep the cars abreast of the development of sanitary science. This is done by various rules affecting the time of the day when the cars are to be cleaned, and sometimes by the use of disinfectants. There are many diseases which have been guarded against where passengers congregate together, and the most common infected, it is an attempt to keep them from germs. Under these conditions it is astounding that companies, who are in front in matters of public health, have not done more to keep the cars clean. Further, regular travellers are beginning to realize the abandonment of this comb would not be missed.
