Small Affairs Run Into Hundreds of

The present war will undoubtedly e the most expensive of modern times, and the cost of the actual fighting alone must run into billions of dollars. In comparison, the Balkan War was quite a small affair, yet when the treaty of peace was signed between victors and vanquished over $200,600,000 had been spent in fight-

The Russo-Turkish War of 1877 cost nearly $90,000,000 a month. When hostilities had censed Turkey was called upon to pay $725,000,000 but Russia consented to accept various territories in part payment, leaving balance of some $250,000,000.

The total cost of the Franco-Prussian War, which lasted eight months, ran into more, than $1,580,000,000. France had to pay the sum of $1,000,000,000 in three instalments, and cedo Alsace and Ldrraine.
