From J. W. Lyons.

An excerpt from a letter, dated Lindsay, Feb. 26th:
Dear Sir,—Enclosed find renewal to Standard to August 1917. It was my custom to renew while on my holidays to the old home, but since father left us, I will not likely visit Markdale very often; tho' still have a longing to go back once in a while. I must congratulate you on your paper, The Standard, and I am sure the people of that part of the good County of Grey should appreciate and loyally support you in the fullest sense. I frequently have compared it with other local papers, and not to its discredit either. The great trouble is the rural population fails to fully appreciate their local weekly paper.
Kind regards to all,
J. W. Lyons.

Home On Leave.

Lieutenant A. Wilbur McKnight, youngest son of Mr. Robert McKnight, registrar, reached home on Friday on a three weeks' leave of absence. Lieut. McKnight arrived at St. John on Monday of last week and asked that no demonstration be made on his return. He has just recovered from a serious bullet wound received in France on November 5th. It passed through the muscles of his back and grazed his spine. While in town Lieut. McKnight is in civilian clothes for the first time in sixteen months. He will return to England on the expiration of his leave. His eldest brother, Lieut. Robert McKnight, is in the trenches.—Owen Sound Times.

Mrs. Fred Glass.

We regret to chronicle the death of Mrs. Fred Glass, who passed away on Friday last at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Sharpe. She was born in Durham on the 4th of January, 1888, spent her girlhood days in the school here, graduated as a teacher, and had an apparently bright future in store. On May 4, 1908 she married Mr. Fred Glass, who worked for a time in the Furniture Factory here, and later spent a couple of years in the factory at Markdale. He subsequently went to Eugenia, and later to Guelp. While in Markdale Mrs. Glass took sick and had to undergo an operation, and since then has never regained her usual health and strength. About Christmas time she came to Durham where she remained to the time of her death. A couple of weeks ago Mr. Glass went to Windsor, where he was wired on Friday of his wife's illness, and he started at once for Durham, but in the meantime the young spirit had taken its everlasting flight and only the empty tenement of clay awaited his arrival. Besides her sorrowing husband, her young son, and fond parents she leaves to mourn her death four brothers in town, and one sister, Mrs. Samuel Pawson, in Regina. The funeral took place to Durham cemetery on Monday. The impressive services at the home and grave were conducted by Rev. Mr. Moyer, who made cheering reference to the preparedness of the deceased.—Durham Chronicle.

Rocklyn Patriotic Concert a Big Success.

(Meaford Express)
The Women's Institute at Rocklyn served a cold meat supper at the village on Monday evening last and it proved a decided success, some $53 being realized for patriotic purposes. After the supper was served a program of usual merit was rendered at the township hall and was most interesting to the large gathering. Dr. Miller acted as chairman and "called off" the various items of the program. Addresses were delivered by Rev. Mr. J. H. Hill, and Rev. Mr. J. You Heatcote, while the Misses Yles, Miss Scott, Miss H. Olive Dunlop and Mr. C. Jolley added greatly to the number were deservedly honored. Many of these solo artists were brought back and played an admirable reputation of their first appearance. In a tableaux act, Mrs. F. J. Stewart, Mrs. Victoria, Mrs. T. Lankford, Mrs. Wm. Jamieson, while Mrs. John Perry acted as "mother" in the soldier's family, the parts were well taken and all were voted a success.

The Rocklyn Women's Institute have worked incessantly for their "bit" for the patriotic cause and this concerted effort has succeeded to their intent. They have been very fortunate and have rounded up the amount of the adjoining townships to the financial aid to the cause of patriotism. When it was considered that Mrs. G. H. Jolley had selected from the north end of the township and the Misses Yles, of Heathcote, on the south end, these ladies have been the furtherance of their work. Their shadow never grows less.

Walden, son of Auctioneer Walden, of this place, was about two years a valued member of the Markdale Standard staff, but in September last enlisted in the 81st Batt., Toronto, and has been transferred to the 147th Grey Battalion.
