WHAT CATARRH IS

It has been said that every third person has it in some form. Science has shown that nasal catarrh often indicates a general weakness of the body, and local treatments in the form of snuffs and vapors do little, if any good.

To correct catarrh you should treat its cause by enriching your blood with the old food in Scott's Emulsion which is a medicinal food and a building tonic, free from any harmful drugs. Try it. Scott & Bowne, Toronto, Ont.

his argument. He pleaded with the members for a united support. He urged the evils of strong drink and the sacrifices being made in war as a reason for the adoption of the measure. Before his mind were two grim pictures—the battlefields of Europe and the suffering, sorrowing families cursed by drink.

He felt his responsibility as a man and as a leader. A great moral issue was in his keeping. To him had come the call, the chance, to make a great decision. For himself and his Government the choice had been made. But that choice did not imply a disregard of the opinions of others. There were those who differed with him; he pleaded with them to sacrifice their personal views and habits for the public good. Some had predicted his political fall as a result of this measure, but he had rather go down to political oblivion than to be false to his trust of a traitor to his conscience.

Memorable Address.

The Premier spoke with passion, his own feelings were deeply moved; his attitude, speech, voice, language, were all masterful and compelling. Sincerity, courage, frankness, a desire to conciliate without the sacrifice of any principle, seriousness as was becoming in the presentation of such a momentous issue, self-restraint in certain respects and selfforgetfulness so far as the personal consequences were concerned; a prophetic look into the future, and the consideration of what posterity might take of the Government; all showed that the Premier realized that his address was likely to prove a memorable one. There were not a few who regarded it as opening a new era of power to a public man who entered upon his high office from comparative obscurity, succeeding, on his own personal hold upon the people was unique and unusually dominant within his own party.

I venture to think that the Premier's address will live in the history of Canada as one of the noblest addresses ever delivered by a Canadian, and that apart from its political allusions, it might well be studied by young people in our public schools. As a fine sample of fervid oratory. May I also make this prediction: The people of a democracy do not dig political graves for men of courage and real leadership, and the Premier of Ontario, so far from losing political prestige, has risen above the level of mediocrity so often kept by the mere politician to the altitudes where statesmen see with open vision and follow the gleam as the leaders of their fellowmen.

The Need of Production

It must be plain to the most obtuse and unreasoning mind that twenty-four of twenty-five million of men cannot be withdrawn even from the swarming population of Europe without effecting a huge reduction in the produce of labour and of the soil. Women may in a measure supply the places of men, but it must be remembered that women have also their sphere in the economics of life. Therefore in taking them to the land they are being taken, in the main, from other employment. Consequently if for every man who goes to fight there was a woman to take his place in agriculture or other industry, there would still be a deficiency not only in labour, but in production. At the present time, 400,000 women are being called for to take the place of 500,000 British soldiers recruited from farms work.

Hence it is clear that no matter what steps may be taken, either during the war or after the war, there must be an enormous shortage of the requirements across the Atlantic for many years to come. And that shortage for a period subsequent to the declaration of peace will be as keenly as at any time during the gigantic struggle. With the nonchalant scramble for existence resumed there will be less immediate government control—in other words there will be less systematic regulation of supplies. To meet the huge demands that must succeed extra consumption, tremendously less production and immensely greater wastage, there will be abundant use, not for one year's bountiful crops, but for similar blessings during a score of successive years. Where and how can this assured demand be met? There is but one answer to the dual question—by the undevastated countries and by redoubled efforts at production in these countries.

That Canada is not the only country that has not had its resources in large part exhausted or destroyed, is true, but there is plenty of reason to believe that the nations of Europe not engaged in the war, have been drawn upon to the utmost by these so engaged; hence when the time comes all eyes will be turned from east to west for succour. Canada, being the nearest to the great centre of demand will, of necessity, apart from sentimental reasons, be the first looked to and will have the greatest opportunity. The bogey of released Russian harvests has been on parade since the war commenced but Russia, with twelve or fifteen million men called to arms, largely of the peasant class, has suffered and is suffering, like the rest, she, too, will need reorganizing, rejuvenating and regenerating. Hence, while for a few months after the outbreak of hostilities, there may have been something to be expected from the release of stores of wheat and other grain from Odessa and other Black Sea ports, there is nothing available now, and there may be little in the next decade. Hence Canada's role is plain—to go on producing, to go on garnering and storing, if necessary, in the sure and certain hope of ultimate profit and prosperity. There never was a time, and probably never will be another time, when we were more urgently called upon to produce in increased quantities, not alone all articles of food, but every article that enters into the industrial life of peoples.

Items of General Interest from The Standard Files of April 9, 1891.

Markdale's tax rate for 1891 is 8 mills on the dollar.

During the last week or so, over six thousand bushels of potatoes have been shipped from Markdale. Messrs. R. E. Currie, F. Graham, J. M. Davis, Thos. Kells and S. Hill are in the business and have got their stock well away.

The census enumerators, now busy hereabout, tell some amusing experiences; for instance: one of them called at a house and the good woman gave her age as 71 and her husband 69 years, and when the question came, "Has there been any births in the family during the past twelve months?" the lady replied, "Oh no, we've been only six months married."

Regulate Kidneys AND Relieve Constipation

Gin Pills are acknowledged to have the largest sale of any proprietary medicine in Canada—an achievement solely due to their remarkable action as a kidney and bladder remedy.

Physicians of Gin Pills have discovered that the inevitable remedy also acts as a mild cathartic. The evidence of hundreds of letters we have collected establishes the very logical fact that in compounding a medicine to heal and tone up the kidneys and bladder certain of the ingredients act as a stimulating effect upon the other organs, especially the bowels.

It is important to know in the case of constipated patients, that Gin Pills do not act harshly on the bowels; there is no griping, but a gradual and gentle restoration of the function. Try Gin Pills for constipation. In this relieving the bowels, you safeguard yourself against possible kidney trouble.

Gin Pills are 50c a box, or 6 boxes for $2.50 at your dealer's. A trial treatment will be sent on request.

How I Cured My Catarrh

Told in a Simple Way.

Without Apparatus, Inhalers, Salves, Lozions, Harmful Drugs, Smoke or Electricity.

Heals Day and Night

It is a new way. It is something absolutely different. No lotions, sprays or sticky smelling salves or creams. No atomizer, or any apparatus of any kind. No smoke or inhaler. No spraying or rubbing or injections. No electricity, no steam, or massage. No powder; no plaster; no keeping in the house.

Nothing of the kind will do. Something new and different, something simple and healthful, something instantly successful. You do not have to wait, and linger and pay out a lot of money. You can stop it over night—and I will gladly tell you how—FREE. I am not a doctor and this is not a medical doctor's prescription—but I am cured and my friends are and you can be cured. Your suffering will stop at once like mine.

I Am Free—You Can Be Free

My catarrh was filthy and I had become tired of it. It killed my appetite, it undermined my health and was weakening my will. The hairpins coughing and sneezing made me obnoxious to all, and my food became disgusting habits made even my loved ones avoid me secretly. My delight in life was dulled and my faculties impaired. I knew that in time it would bring me to an untimely grave, because every moment of the day and night it was slowly yet surely sapping my vitality.

But I found a cure, and I am ready to tell you about it FREE. Write me promptly.

RISK JUST ONE CENT

Send no money. Just your name and address on a postal card (ask "Parisian Sage" Kater). Please tell me how you cured your catarrh and how I can cure mine. That's all you need to say. I will send you a sample and will write to you with complete information FREE at once. Do not delay. Send me a postal card or write me a letter to-day. Don't think of turning this page until you have asked for this medicine. I will send you a sample and you will have done for me.

An Earnest Appeal.

Recruiting officers have worked hard in many towns and villages recently, including Markdale. More young men are required to fill the vacancies of fallen heroes. With a little real encouragement from the right source the men will readily come forward. Hence, an earnest appeal is made to the mothers and sisters of the young men of this community, to encourage their son and brother to put on khaki. Young men who do not enlist should not be despised and called shirkers. No! Mothers, in your own loving ways, speak to them as your true model sons, and tell them of how handsome they will appear if they will only wear a uniform, and what sturdy heroes they will make. All young men have a desire to be come strong and heroic, and as the boys of this community are of the right spirit, the vacancies will no doubt soon be filled. Although a few men have gone from Markdale, all of whom we honour, we are informed that they have a dozen places open for men from this village. Think it over, and while you think, listen to the soldiers singing "This is the Life," and there is no doubt but that a number of others will adorn the khaki before the end of this week.

Production and Thrift

"CANADA from her abundance can help supply the Empire's needs, and this must be a comforting thought for those upon whom the heavy burden of directing the Empire's affairs has been laid. Gain no gain the course before the farmers of Canada is as clear as it was last year—they must produce abundantly in order to meet the demands that may be made, and believe this to be especially true in regard to live stock, the world's supply of which must be particularly affected in this vast struggle. Stress and strain may yet be in store for us before this tragic conflict is over, but not one of us doubts the status, and Canadians will do their duty in the highest sense of that great word."—HON. MARTIN BURELL, Minister of Agriculture.

"MODERN war is made by resources, by money, by foodstuffs, as well as by men and by munitions. While war is our first business, it is the imperative duty of every man in Canada to produce all that he can, to work doubly hard, to put our soldiers are in the trenches, in order that the resources of the country may not only be conserved, but increased, for the great struggle that is before us. Work and Save is a good motto for War-time."—SIR THOMAS WHITE, Minister of Finance.

THE CALL OF EMPIRE COMES AGAIN IN 1916

TO CANADIAN FARMERS, DAIRYMEN, FRUIT GROWERS, GARDENERS

WHAT IS NEEDED? THESE IN PARTICULAR:

WHEAT, OATS, HAY, CANNED FRUITS, FRUIT JAMS,
BEEF, PORK, BACON, SUGAR, HONEY, WOOL, FLAX FIBRE, CHEESE, EGGS, BUTTER, POULTRY, BEANS, PEAS, DRIED VEGETABLES.

We must feed ourselves, feed our soldiers, and help feed the Allies. The need is greater in 1916 than it was in 1915. The difficulties are greater, the task is heavier, the need is more urgent, the call to patriotism is louder—therefore be thrifty and produce to the limit.
