NO LEAS BUT THEY WALK

British Cripples Deceive Onlookers By Brisk Movements. When a wounded soldier or sailor is sent to hospital nowadays the amount of patching up made possible by modern science is so wonderful that by the very nature of its success it captivates full appreciation. Thus, if you see a fine looking young man walking round briskly with no more support than a walking stick you are not likely to realize that a short time ago he had no legs at all.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL INTERNATIONAL LESSON

VERSE 1. We seem to hear the echo of a boast that they could not be tolerant of 'resisters.' The whole verse is reminiscent of the Lord's encounter with men who brought him a woman overtaken in a grievous trespass, when he bade 'look to thyself.' Verse 2. The idea of the verb is that of putting something in order to be ready for use again. Like tumbled notes after a night's tossing (Mark 1, 9). Note the corresponding noun in Eph. 4, 12, of 'fitting of the consecrated for work of serving.' It is God's work to estimate and punish guilt; our only concern is that one of God's tools is out of repair, and we must see it working again.
