On Saturday evening last the bodies of the young men, Charles Smith and Wm. Wilson, drowned on June 23rd in the Hydro electric dam at Eugenia came to the surface and were recovered almost immediately by the latter's brother not far from where the upturned canoe was found. Search had been continued from the time of the accident and a diver was not work several days, but had no success, closed with the double funeral, which took place at the Salem Cemetery on Sunday afternoon and was the largest ever witnessed in the township. ## Alf. Hall Succeeds.

The Standard Editor was much pleased to receive on Monday last a letter from Alfred H. Hall, son of Mr. Theo. Hall, formerly of this place. Alf has been railway station agent in the western states for a number of years, but is now manager of a large Wisconsin cheese Producers' Federation. This concern included last year over seven million lbs. of cheese at a value of one million dollars. Alf's parents as also the other members of the family now reside at Pasadena, California.

Improved Conditions.

The advent of the automobile has furnished a means of enjoyment, which farmers are speedily putting themselves in possession of. They can come in their car to town and do their shopping while the horses feed, and return rested and invigorated. Then an occasional outing can be enjoyed by the family, picnic fashion, and parts of the country toured which they never otherwise would have seen, thus broadening their minds, and enabling them to profit by new ideas picked up on the way. The tillers of the soil are certainly entitled to this great boon, and progressive ones are not slow in adapting themselves to this new and improved condition.

Habden-Montgomery.

A pretty June wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Montgomery, of East Garafraxa, on Wednesday afternoon of last week, when their daughter Margaret Irene became the bride of Mr. Mervyn Habden, of Peterboro. Rev. G. W. Robinson officiating, pastor of the Methodist church. The bridal party took their places on the lawn under an arch of evergreens, and Union Jacks to the strains of Elohengrins wedding march, played by Mrs. Harrison, sister of the bride.
The bride, who was given away by her father, looked lovely in a dress of white pussy willow tulle and georgette crepe, with a veil of embroidered tulle and wreath of orange blossoms and carried a bouquet of pink roses. Miss Ruth Montgomery was maid of honor and wore pink voile with white hat and pink roses. The groom was supported by Mr. Walker Montgomery.
After the ceremony the guests, numbering about seventy-five, repaired to the dining-room, where a dainty wedding repast was served. The tables were decorated with pink carnations and white lilies. The groom's gift to the bride was a sunburst of pearls; to the bridesmaid a gold bracelet; to the maid of honor a camera; the groom a man a pearl tie pin, and to the pianist a bar pin. The young couple were the recipients of many handsome presents, among which was a cheque from the bride's father.
