

E GREAT PUSH HAS ONLY BEGUN

in Asks Munition Workers Forego August Holidays.

dispatch from London says: The offensive on the western front in its beginning, declared Mr. Asquith on Thursday in answer to the House of Commons' orders to forego their August holidays because of the demand for arms in France. He expressed the hope that the workmen would return to Great Britain's front, that in its present intensity bombardment and assault would be continued indefinitely. The Premier also announced that all proclamation of the August holidays would be postponed, and called to all classes for the post-dated of all holidays until further definite progress of the war had been secured.

APS FOR ZEPPELINS.

device is in the hands of the British Government.

of these days, perhaps, new leaders may learn of a Zeppelin in an aerial net "some of England." Just as the sub-links of steel swept the seas, the terror of the German submarine to commonplace war has a weapon been found to impotent the battleship of the simple device, the invention of Joseph A. Steinmetz of Philadelphia, and it is in the hands of the Government, says the Philadelphia of netting and destroying it is almost as unique in its way as was the stoning of sub-

It consists of releasing a number of hydrogen balloons in sets of piano wire thousand feet long.

Feet network of wires carried at great speed will drift above the Zeppelin. The balloons are to contact with the airship foul about it. Automatic or rolled triggers then release which are of two varieties, explosive or inflammable. At or time things will happen

time things are done on a scale. No 20 or 50, but of balloons carrying a screen of contact wires will be the air and they will cover the area that the airship will considerable difficulty getting the net," said Mr.

"that the high-angle artillerie failed against the German, but what is worse, fragments of shells and bombs have seriously damaged London. The Zeppelins have made nearly a dozen in the difficulty in escaping while London really bombing."

UNARY INSANITY.

Normal Health Should Not Be in This Way.

as temporary

I think that the expression covers the kindly intent to "cure" relatives patients who have mental disorders embittering no time.

is no time. While I sympathize with tendencies of German, the discussion of the Belgian, the King is permitted course, on the part of the German, but it is comparative, the man to normal health suffer in this way.

mental disease has known a case in which a insane during a certain day, and that others have it when the patient was at ordinary times, but a temporary fit of mania a month.

INK IT OVER.

born leaders of men."

fresh, today may be tomorrow, none so deaf as those who when money talks.

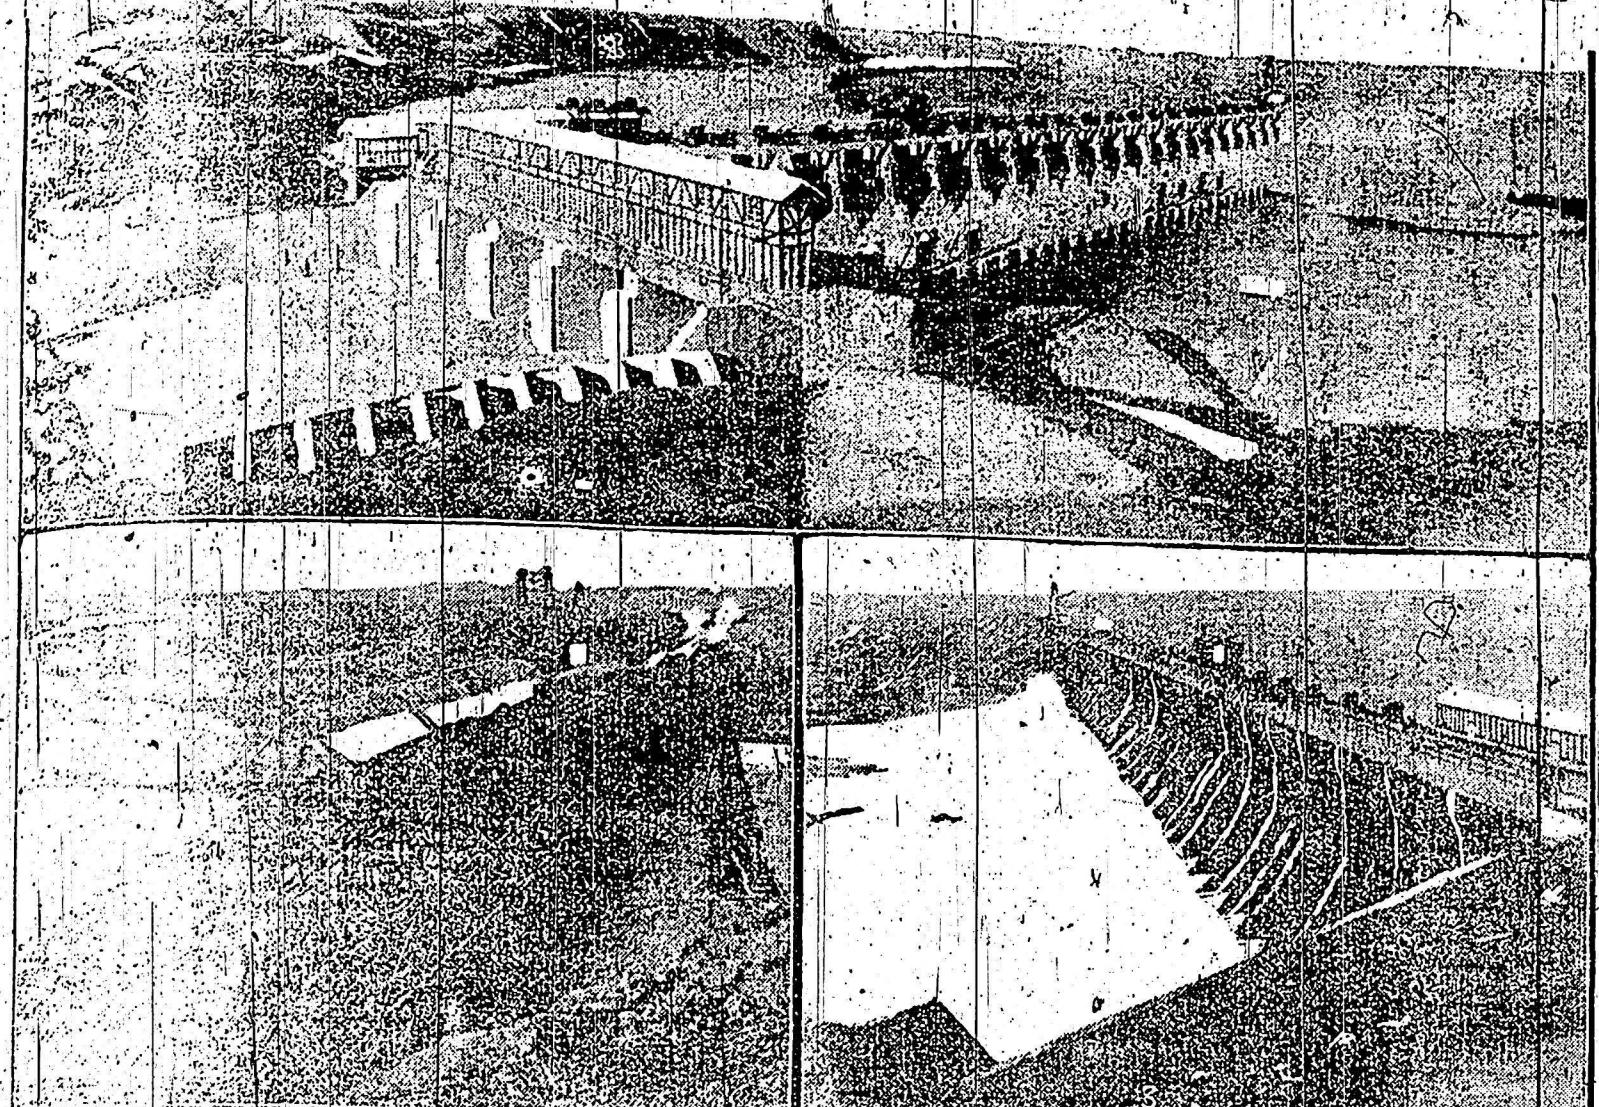

the heart may win a fair little assistance of her has so many fingers that may be pointing in your measure their fun by the suffering they endure the is a person, who is cause it is going to be so old next winter.

a big strong man that he is better to pay someone the news to him.

TURNING DESERTS INTO GARDENS

(1) Eye View of the Bassano Dam.
(2) The Dam Under Construction.
(3) The Shovel Gates Open.
(4) Irrigation Ditch, Water.

AT the parties of Western Canada and among the mountain valleys of British Columbia, deserts are being turned into gardens by the application of irrigating waters.

Everywhere is a potential garden on the one hand necessity is met, on the other hand to use the word "desert" even in regard to regions like Alberta is misleading and decept. But now, when the assisted in her growths of irrigation and this is the irrigation systems of the Canadian Pacific Railway is the largest irrigation project on the continent, an area larger than that of the state of California. Portions of million acres will be irrigated in the prairie provinces and the belt region.

The western part of Alberta, was used for the Bow River, Calgary, the Hugo River, will connect the Bow for the irrigation system.

Another great encl-ering work, which will serve the same tract, is a giant aqueduct at Brooks, fifty miles east, two miles in length, which carries the waters of a branch canal over a wide valley. One has only to visit this great undertaking of the Canadian Pacific Railway to realize not only its magnitude but the results it will produce. Here is one of the smaller radiating ditches, filled with rippling water. On either bank nature has responded with a luxuriant growth, and a garden of productivity is the result. The wheat fields extend in another direction, showing a flow of grain after imbibing the first-quenching waters, for nature thirsts as do humans. All kinds of growths prosper—fruits, cereals and garden truck, while dairy and live stock growing flourish wherever there is an irrigation canal. The country is being up with what are called dry farms for the waters ensure a practical certainty of crop. A six-year yield of Marquis wheat on irrigated land ran forty-four bushels to the acre, compared with only 29 on non-irrigated lands. Here the C.P.R. provide them Ready-Made Homes, where the settler is assisted generously in establishing a foothold. Through southern British Columbia, the effect of irrigation systems is shown in the flourishing orchards of the Okanagan, Arrow and Kootenay Lakes country, along the Cariboo road and in many another section. Thus it is the most modern dating from the Garden of Eden and continuing to the Alberta irrigation system, is one that has contributed to the world's productivity and to Canada's wealth.

the Queen."

It Worked Well.

A honest citizen of Brussels, returning home late at night under artificial stimulation and singing at the top of his voice, was apprehended by a German patrol, says the Echo Belge. The citizen resisted, and after a scuffle broke away from his captors and fell into the canal. Unable to swim, he began to call for help without eliciting response from the German policemen, who seemed to think this was as good a way as any out of the situation. Just as he was going down for the third time the fugitive had a happy thought. With all his remaining strength he yelled:

"Vive la France! Vive la France!"

A couple of Germans died for him at once. He was hauled out taken to the lockup and the next day sentenced to three months for uttering seditious cries.

Ask for MINARD'S Liniment in the home.

Evidence of Genius!

"He started life with a shoestring and now he has a million dollars. Seems incredible, eh?"

"Not at all. I should consider that a man who could get anybody to buy one's shoestring was inevitably bound to succeed."

Thanks are so cheap that there's no excuse for giving them grudg-ily.

"I'm resting in the parlor," came the reply.

"What on the sofa?" cried the old lady, horrified.

"No, on the floor."

"On that grand carpet!" came in tones of anguish.

"No, I rolled it up!"

Not Broke Yet.

Court Judge: "How long have you owned a car?"

Motorist (charged with speeding): "One week, Your Honor!"

Judge: "Um—then you can still afford to pay a fine! Twenty dollars!"

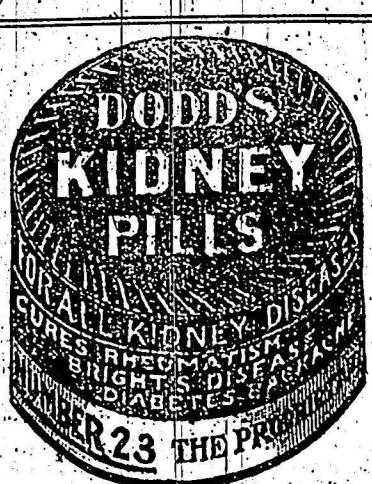

A gentleman is one who tries to make life as easy as possible for the other fellow.

WEAR THE GOOD SHOES.

Cheaper than leather—and far better for Summer.

SOLD BY ALL GOOD SHOE DEALERS.

Worn by Every Member of the Family.

ly appointed chaplain for the 209th Overseas Battalion.

Lewis Daniel French, for 39 years manager of the North Canada Lumber Co., Ltd., died last week in Prince Albert after a brief illness.

The inter-provincial conference of representatives of the western branches of the Patriotic Fund met in Regina. Delegates from all the Western Provinces were present.

SUMMER HEAT HARD ON BABY

German Party Councillor's Book About Teuton Power.

Priy Councillor Mathesius' book "The German After the War" affords abundant material for a study of the new German megalomania. We see in these pages a faithful reflection of the swollen-headed Hun seeking to persuade the world to accept him at his own inflated valuation.

There is a chapter headed "Establishing the German Might Legend," in which it is declared that the bulk of every patriotic German is to noise abroad the legend of Germany's power, her invincibility, and the inevitable destruction of those who have the temerity to dispute it. It is hard to understand why Her. Mathesius uses the word "legend" especially as legends are usually regarded as mere guides to historical truth.

Inability is a reputation which Germans will acquire at the cost of the nation which has hitherto been regarded as the jewel of the world—the English. And it will be the task of Germany; when the legend of her invincibility has been firmly established to cleanse the world of the British French Italian with whom the entire globe has been covered.

It is, therefore, not enough to be in possession of power. Possession must be trumpeted abroad. No great ruler or world-conquering nation has ever yet neglected the external of power, the symbolic representation of its might. It is not enough, says the author, that power is there. This power must be known to all the world. It must be no doubt about it. It must be a cardinal belief of the entire civilized world.

German Power Legend!

This is the German power legend. The war would never have been entered on this loosening of all the lowest human passions would never have broken forth, had the legend of German power been a part of the world's convictions.

Ernestine would have hesitated to drive the Continental powers to war with the ministers and generals.

Another chapter in the Mathesius' book deals with "The New World."

The nations who have let the world for a thousand years are fading and a new nation is rising. The "Gefechtsrit" with their Latin culture, are played off. Their departure from the stage is accompanied by a deluge of events, said "shamefulibus." Germany rises mighty and majestic, a youthful giant, in whom all weapons, save one stroke of the sword, as well as poisoned word. On one side a flood of phrases, a chaos of words, indeed. On the other no word, but a camp bed, close to the ground and of exiguous breadth, a small table and two chairs of uncompromising hardness. The only ornament in the room was the base of the last Austrian shell which burst just above the King's head. It had been mounted as a souvenir by the Queen."

Honest.

He—There goes the honest girl in the world.

She—How's that?

He—She won't even take a kiss without returning it.

The Banff road is again in good shape and open to traffic.

School children will be factors in the Calgary Fair this year.

Frank Cline, a one-time resident of Lethbridge, died at Great Falls.

Mrs. H. M. Entwistle, a well known pioneer resident of Moose Jaw, is dead.

John F. Bradshaw, a sheepman of Magrath, received 33 cents a pound for wool.

Lewis D. French, manager of North Canadian Lumber Co., Prince Albert, is dead.

Joseph Coates, a former Winnipeg contractor and politician, died at his home in Keeler, Sask.

The explosion of the kitchen stove caused a bad fire in the home of Mrs. Richardson, of Saskatoon.

Four-year-old Pauline Kohler, of Calgary, stumbled into a tub of hot water and was fatally scalded.

The Northern Saskatchewan Company of the 183rd Battalion left Saskatoon last week for Camp Hughes.

Donald Black, of Calgary, secured a scholarship for high standing in class work at Alberta University.

Regina citizens interested in better education, held a mass meeting in the City Hall prior to a Better Schools Day.

W. J. Munro, veteran train dispatcher of the O.N.R., has arrived in Winnipeg, and will be chief dispatcher there.

Mrs. Arnold George, a patient of Elmwood Sanitarium, jumped from a thirty-foot veranda and has not been found.

Rev. Frank Forster, a graduate of Manitoba University, has been repre-

SWOLLEN-HEADED HUNS SILLY TALK

GOOD EXAMPLE OF STUFF WRITTEN FOR TEUTONS.

Her Argument.

Going to drop your cooling lessons right in the middle of the course. Why, I heard you got a proposal of marriage on the strength of going to cooking school.

I did. And now that I am going to be married, what's the use of holding any more about cooking?

That's the argument used by Physicians.

Shop at Her Pudding.

A girl sent back her plate twice or three times and I helped beautify to all the nice things that go to make a good dinner. Finally she was obviously looking rather disconsolately at my finished plate of pudding.

What's the matter, Dora?" asked the cook mournfully.

"I'm just as bad as ever," said Dora.

"That's the cook's humor."

A girl's self in a good humor observed the day after her wedding. "The reason I forgot to ask him for a ring is that he's got a Swallowed Evidents.

Eyes inflamed by exposure to Sun, Frost and Wind quickly relieved by taking a few drops of Eye Drops. Eye Drops are the best eye drops.

Eye Drops are the best eye drops.

Eye Drops are the best eye drops.

Eye Drops are the best eye drops.

Eye Drops are the best eye drops.

Eye Drops are the best eye drops.

Eye Drops are the best eye drops.

Eye Drops are the best eye drops.

Eye Drops are the best eye drops.

Eye Drops are the best eye drops.

Eye Drops are the best eye drops.

Eye Drops are the best eye drops.

Eye Drops are the best eye drops.

Eye Drops are the best eye drops.

Eye Drops are the best eye drops.

Eye Drops are the best eye drops.

Eye Drops are the best eye drops.

Eye Drops are the best eye drops.

Eye Drops are the best eye drops.

Eye Drops are the best eye drops.

Eye Drops are the best eye drops.

Eye Drops are the best eye drops.

Eye Drops are the best eye drops.

Eye Drops are the best eye drops.

Eye Drops are the best eye drops.

Eye Drops are the best eye drops.

Eye Drops are the best eye drops.

Eye Drops are the best eye drops.

Eye Drops are the best eye drops.

Eye Drops are the best eye drops.

Eye Drops are the best eye drops.

Eye Drops are the best eye drops.</p