

Auld Lang Syne

25 YEARS AGO. Items of General Interest from The Standard Files of November 5, 1891.

The Flesheron Advance sent the first telephone message to Toronto from that village on the opening of the line last week.

A paragraph from the Council reads—Pleves-Hill—That the Auditors for 1891 be paid $2 each for their services, viz: Messrs. T. L. Moffat and S. J. Coleman—Carried.

A car load of coal was delivered in town last week and divided among four citizens, who are about the only persons in the village who use that kind of fuel, viz: W. J. McFarland, R. D. Bigger, Thos. McNea and C. W. Rutledge.

Presentation.

On the evening of Oct. 30, the friends and neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. John Chard met at their home to present them with a "sight" remembrance prior to their departure for their new home in Flesheron.

Miss Minnie Wright made the presentation, while the following address was read by Miss Anna Letich:

Dear friends and neighbors, we have had this evening to express our regret at your departure from our midst and to extend to you our most sincere wishes for your future well-being. We hope you will have every happiness and prosperity in your new home. We shall miss you greatly and often wish you were with us again, but are content in knowing that our loss is some one else's gain.

As a slight token of our esteem and as a remembrance of the old friends, we ask you Mr. Chard, to accept this Morris chair, Mrs. Chard, this manicure set, and Miss Clara, this mirror.

Signed on behalf of the neighbors, Mrs. W. McKeachnie, Mrs. G. Leigh.

HE WAS A SUCCESS.

And yet he died poor, unloved, and unrecognized, and he rests in a forgotten grave, but he loved God, he loved his fellows, and he did his best to translate that love into service, and that is success. We measure the life of a man by the standard of his faults, and is useless for Christ died poor, and Commodore Vanderbilt lifted millions. Fame is not an adequate measure for sometimes it rests upon falsehood. History is not always true, and some great men are unknown. Kant was dead long before men realized the greatness of his thought. Education is no true test of success. The unlettered father is sometimes a much bigger man than his cultured son, and the doctor of divinity is often a lesser saint than some of his uneducated hearers. Mountain peaks and stars are grand but they are no more useful nor beautiful than the blades of grass. To be just and merciful; to love honor and truth; to be pure and kind and loving; to live our faith and help our neighbors, this is true success.—Christian Guardian.

10 CENT "CASCARETS" IF BILIOUS OR COSTIVE

For Sick Headache, Sour Stomach, Sluggish Liver and Bowels—They work while you sleep.

Furred Tongue, Bad Taste, Indigestion, Sallow Skin and Miserable Headache come from a torpid liver and clogged bowels, which cause your stomach to become filled with undigested food, which causes fermentations like garbage in a swill barrel. That's the first step to untold misery—indigestion, foul gases, bad breath, yellow skin, mental fears, everything that is horrible and nauseating. A Cascaret tonight will give your constipated bowels a thorough cleansing and straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist will keep you feeling good for months.

Honesty in Politics.

Seth Lew, former Mayor of New York, died yesterday at the age of 66, mourns the Buffalo Courier. As business man, educator and public official, he had a unique career.

Perhaps the latest generalization about him would be to say that he demonstrated that high ideals and the strictest standards of honesty do not have to be abandoned in order to succeed in politics, but, rather, that they promote success when they are lived up to.

Seth Lew entered politics as a business man on an independent ticket to reform the municipal government of Brooklyn before the consolidation of greater New York.

He proved to be so good an executive that the trustees of Columbia University, his alma mater, asked him to become president of that institution and build it up.

He succeeded so well in that task that he was asked to make a try at the herculean labor of clearing up New York City. At the end of his term the New York World said to him: "He has given New York a decent, honest, efficient and business-like administration—the best the city ever had."

His influence in state and national politics becomes well recognized.
