New Idea Which May Overcome th Submarine Menace.

America, according to all accounts, showing the Allies the true way out of the U-boat peril. It is not a method which gives sudden and imme-diate relief, but it is likely to be of vast utility if the war lasts twelve months longer and more. It is one of those far sighted plans which take Fly Poisons Attract have served the Hun in good stead in the past, and will serve well in the future.

It is an application of the old saying about not having all your eggs in one basket. This is the age of huge ships, and in peace times big ships are cheaper in every way than small ones. But a well-aimed torpedo sinks a fifteen-thousand-tonner as easily as it sinks a trawler, and a tremendous cargo is got rid of at one blow.

Now the idea is to have fifteen ships of one thousand tons, instead of one of fifteen thousand. Even a U-boat can't be in fifteen places at one and the same time, and if five of these boats are sunk, ten get through with their invaluable loads of corn and leather and timber and sugar.

These small boats, being standard-ized and built on speedy lines, will go far to counter the menace in the near. future, for just as Britons proved that munition-making can be speeded up beyond a point even unimaginable before the war, so can ship-building, if the problem is only tackled with that determination which is a British char-
