KILLED ON THE FIELD OF HONOUR.

Leonard, Richard, Arthur McFadden

As the fearful struggle for our freedom and liberty proceeds and one after another, the best and bravest of the young manhood of our land lay down life itself as a supreme sacrifice for our common cause, the dark clouds mount over us all. Keen indeed were the pangs of sorrow which the community experienced when the information was received on Friday, that Leonard McFadden, third son of Mr. Hamilton McFadden, had been killed in action at Lens on August 24.

Particulars have not yet been received by the family, but reports indicate that he was killed instantly by a shell during the terrific fighting in which his unit, the C. M. R. was engaged. "Len" was one of those boys "with-out a fault"—A fine, stalwart, genial, large-hearted, up-standing, manly fellow, beloved by everyone. No soldier ever entertained higher ideals in life. In disposition somewhat retiring, he was a born naturalist, and possessed unusual ability to see the usually unseen secrets of the world of bird, animal and plant life. Ambitious, industrious and efficient, he was the very kind of man whose loss the country deplores. Another career of promise, another life of the highest ideals, has been cut short by the infernal war machines of the despicable Hun.

Although he need not have gone, the call to arms was the call to duty. He was one of the first of the Greys, with whom he trained. In England he was with the 8th Reserve and went to France last April with reinforcements to the 4th C. M. R.

The sympathy of the community goes to the heart-broken parents, brothers and sisters.—R. W. E. McFadden, M. A., Science Master in Brantford Collegiate Institute; J. J. of Glenelg, Mrs. R. G. Walker, Holland, and Dortha and Elgin at home.

Memorial Service A largely attended memorial service was held on Sunday morning last in the Methodist Church. Flags and flowers were much in evidence. Rev. Mr. Stanley's address was able and appropriate and the choir, under the efficient leadership of Prof. Dundas, rendered excellent and fitting music.

Following is a copy of letter received by brother of deceased: Somewhere in France, Aug. 12.

Dear Brother:— At this time you will be busy with the harvest. In France that is also the order of the day. Everything here is quite similar to Ontario, except buildings and methods, which are certainly not modern. In shocking the grain here they shove it with a hatch. I have seen cocks which have been standing for a year apparently in good condition.

Recently I have received numerous letters which I must answer as soon as possible. We have received parcels from home and from Amelia, and a box of Chiclets from Mr. Young, for which we are very grateful.

I was much pleased to receive a copy of "Standard" dated July 15. It is seldom received but it is very nice to get the news from home. It will not be long until the season for Fall Fairs to arrive. I wish that democracy's task were over and we were back to dear old Canada, free to attend a fair.

It is possible that the people at home have heard reports of the great temptation incident to army life—well, you know the kind of life I led at home—I am just as good a man yet. Here we have no chance to complain, but simply fight it out till the Hun makes peace.

Your loving brother, "Len."

The following letter was received by a brother of the deceased, from a friend in France: Somewhere in France, Aug. 28, 1917.

Dear Friend:— It is with deep regret that I write to give you details concerning Leonard, who paid the supreme sacrifice on Saturday morning, Aug. 25th, while doing his duty in a bombing post in front of our lines. You will have received the news, before, but this may help you to bear his loss.

"Len." was beloved by everyone and we are all deeply grieved over his loss. It brings home to us very vividly how near we are to death and that our lives are in God's hands all the time.

Leonard was not afraid to die. No one in the army ever lived up to his Christian principles as well as Len. He "carried on" with his beliefs as if he were at home.

Len and two others were wounded by shell. The two went to a dugout to have wounds dressed, but Len remained with the post. Some time later an officer inquired if he was wounded. He said "yes." They detailed six men to carry him out to a dressing station as he was hit in the back and was unable to use legs.

Legard of Flesheron, asked him how he was. He said he was fine. Everyone thought he would make "Brightly" and be alright, but he passed away as they carried him out of the dugout. "Good-bye father and mother," he said.

He is buried in a graveyard near the town behind the lines. The chaplain of the battalion has his effects, which he will send to you. He is untiring in looking after the men and sees that the killed are given decent burial.

My dear Mrs. McFadden, accept my heart-felt sympathy in this hour of sorrow. Take comfort that Len is safe in the arms of his maker and that he passed painlessly and peacefully away.

I too, mourn the loss of a true friend and pal in this far-off foreign land.

Yours sincerely, Oscar Gillespie.

WOUNDED.

Word was received last week by Mr. and Mrs. Alex. McEachnie, sr., that their son, Pte. Fred McEachnie, had been wounded in France. Particulars are not yet to hand, but we trust Fred's misfortune is not serious.

MARKDALE HIGH SCHOOL A BIG SUCCESS.

The following ten of this year's graduates of our High School have left town this month to attend colleges in Toronto:—Miss Grace Armstrong goes to Victoria College, Misses Ruby Sarjeant, Lella Purvis, Ruby Roche, Jean Irving, Ross Price, Cora Hutchinson and Gertrude Kelley to Toronto Normal School; Cecil Henry, to Victoria College, and Donald Murdoch, to Toronto Medical College.

These young men and women have been some of our best and brightest citizens of the younger set and will be greatly missed in church and social circles.

Our High School is to be congratulated on its gradually increasing success. In 1915, ten Departmental Certificates were obtained. In 1916, it secured sixteen and in 1917 it has thirty to its credit. While some of the large Collegiates have been using great headlines to publish their great success in securing an average of eight or nine certificates per teacher, Markdale High School has been quietly smiling to itself that it has obtained nearly double that number.

It was expected that the large number of graduates would have reduced the attendance this term but the increase in the number of Entrance pupils has counter-balanced this, leaving the attendance about the same as in former years.

Intending Exhibitors are requested to make their entries early.

Get Behind the Wheel of a Ford and Drive

TRY it just once! Ask your friend to let you "foot" his car on an open stretch. You'll like it, and will be surprised how easily the Ford is handled and driven.

If you have never felt the thrill of driving your own car, there is something good in store for you. It is vastly different from "just riding" being a passenger. And especially so if you drive a Ford.

Young boys, girls, women and even grandfathers—thousands of them—are driving Ford cars and enjoying it. A Ford stops and starts in traffic with exceptional ease and smoothness, while on country roads and hills its strength and power show to advantage.

Buy a Ford and you will want to be behind "the wheel" constantly.
