

This Blue Serge Suit $25

By taking the cloth from my stock of tailors' woollens and having it hand-tailored in this very fashionable three-button model, as shown here, I am able to offer you this guaranteed blue serge suit for $25. The greatest value in the clothing trade today. City shops are asking from ten to fifteen dollars more for no better suits than these. Don't miss this chance. I have only 16 suits of the line.

We believe that it pays to give our customers service and satisfaction; that is why we want to sell you a

DE LAVAL
Cream Separator

Here's why the DeLaval is the cheapest machine to buy:

It will pay you in cream saved from $3 to $5 a cow every year over an inferior or half-worn-out cream separator.

It will pay you in cream saved from $10 to $15 a cow every year over a gravity skimming.

It will give you a heavier and better cream, the kind the creamery-men want, the kind that gives you more skim-milk for your stock.

It will last two to ten times as long as other cream separators. Figure it out for yourself and you will see why the DeLaval is the most economical.

And added to all is the immeasurable satisfaction of owning a machine that "works like a charm" 365 days in the year.

We know that when we sell you a DeLaval we sell you a machine you'll be proud to own. We sell them on liberal terms. Come in, see, talk it over.

With the former's parents, Editor and Mrs. Thurston.

Mrs. (Judge) Green and young son of Cadilla, Mich., are visiting her parents, Postmaster and Mrs. Trimble.

PRESENTATION PARTY

On Tuesday evening of last week prior to the departure of Ptes. Will Fothergill and Alex. Miller to military camp, a number of friends and highbros assembled at the home of the former to bid them a hearty farewell. During the course of the evening the boys were each presented with a wrist watch and fountain pen to serve them as a remembrance of the host of friends they leave behind. The address was read by Miss Bertha Bradley and the presentations were made by Messrs. Hugh John and Jos. Abercrombie, after which the boys, in a few well chosen words, thanked all for the kind sympathy they had given them. The remainder of the evening was spent in a pastime which seemed to meet with the hearty cooperation and approbation of all present. The following is the address:

Dear Boys,—We, your friends and neighbors have assembled here tonight to bid you a hearty farewell before you leave our midst to answer the call of King and Country.

As we gathered here this evening it was with a hope in each heart that your separation from us will last but a brief time. We feel that under the present national crisis it is an impracticable fact that you will soon be free for a time at least, on those grounds and, if fortune so directs your footsteps, we will all have you home again.

On the other hand, should the bugle-call-to-arms lead you further from us, you have the one assurance that you are fighting for the greatest cause for which man ever laid down his life—Justice, Liberty and Freedom for all.

You leave us with a deep-set trust in our hearts that wherever duty calls you, you will play your part bravely and from what we already know of you, we can truly say that you are the type of young men who "will never let the old flag fall" if any effort of yours could prevent it.

We say farewell with sadness in our hearts on the one hand, at seeing you leave us, but at the same time we have a feeling of joy that we have such noble sons to defend our fair land. Many have paid the supreme sacrifice since first war's stern clarion sounded, but we hope you may be among the more fortunate who will return to us once again and even if in the thick of the fray remember that the good wishes and prayers of
