BRITISH CROSS FIELD OF WATERLOO

Amazed to Find the Opposing Armies So Close Together.

A despatch from the British Armies in Belgium says: When I crossed the field of Waterloo the British and French forces were not far apart and were advancing in unison towards the German frontier. A British general was standing beside the great bronze lion on the mound which dominates the battle field. He watched the troops cross the historic ground in a thin, straggling column which spread far into the distance—a wonderful panorama of modern armies.

British troops were fortunate to find Waterloo on their route, as they have passed most of their days on this battlefield.

[illegible] around a little Belgian [illegible] took the story of [illegible] and in excellent [illegible] and shaking with [illegible] were amazed to find [illegible] were so close [illegible] suggested very fully [illegible] edition of Hodgeman [illegible] of the Iron and then [illegible] say to the companions [illegible] search marks a wood [illegible] ness."

[illegible] looked their last on [illegible] ago. They were [illegible] and a woman told [illegible] has all gone to [illegible] on the north [illegible] and you have some idea of the [illegible] people who fell that [illegible] fierce conflict [illegible] birth of the millennium.

[illegible] Guards stood for the [illegible] The King was at [illegible] when behind [illegible] by his generals. Two [illegible] the Belgian army, accompanying the [illegible] of French, [illegible] described in the operation, [illegible] divisions of French, [illegible] with [illegible] so far [illegible] Chantilly, while the front [illegible] from the Prussia, [illegible] midsummer. [illegible] hence [illegible] a little Page [illegible] as they moved forward [illegible] in the blue Queens [illegible] on the ground, [illegible] window, balcony, roof and [illegible] was packed with the [illegible] The people on the [illegible] had garnished themselves [illegible] with numerous miniature flags [illegible] ornaments that [illegible] Thousands could [illegible] even beneath the roofs of the [illegible] All the roads leading to [illegible] Porte and the Boulevard [illegible] were flooded with folk, [illegible] was impossible for the [illegible] Flanders horses to face the [illegible] arrival. I found these Belgian crowds enveloped by an ardent, [illegible] of the line of route and [illegible] to move either way. Musical [illegible] burst into the national song [illegible] anywhere or at none at all.

Symbolic Works of Art.

"If it was a day's journey to enter Brussels," continues the correspondent, "it was another to penetrate the streets. The people had come to practice the technique of a general holiday. Nobody stayed home. The city had spent a huge sum on decorations, including flags, [illegible] statuary of symbolic meaning, wonderful stucco works of art that would deceive the very elect. A [illegible] sculptor had wrought heroic figures of Edith Cavell and others [illegible] by the Germans.

"[illegible] members of the Royal [illegible] in the procession were mounted on very beautiful animals and [illegible] be seen even by those far back [illegible] the crowd.

"[illegible] first stage of the journey [illegible] at the Palais de la Nation [illegible] the King descended to be [illegible] at the first session of a Parliament that will be historic. He then [illegible] the troops in the square and [illegible] to the palace.

The King's Speech.

"[illegible] the afternoon he returned to [illegible] Hotel de Ville to receive the [illegible] Burgomaster Max, in response to which he said:

"The Queen and I have listened [illegible] reception to the eloquent words [illegible] addressed to us by Burgomaster [illegible] 'This is the best day of our [illegible] this day when we return to our beautiful capital at last liberated by the victory of the allies. [illegible] the trials of four and a half [illegible] we rejoice from the bottom [illegible] our hearts to meet once again [illegible] brother citizens who have never ceased to hold their heads erect like [illegible] men before the brutality and [illegible] oppression. I desire to pay them the [illegible] tribute of my profound homage and [illegible] admiration. Your Burgomaster has been heroic; he takes his place in the [illegible] rank among the most illustrious magistrates in our history.'

"The capital by its enthusiastic reception witnesses its admiring gratitude to the sovereign who returns to it covered with glory of the purest quality, and to the Queen who lived throughout the war amongst our soldiers, lavishing upon them treasures of kindness and devotion without [illegible]

The horse properly fed and fitted for work will give much cheaper power than the underfed animal or one soft muscled and lacking in energy.

THE BEST DAY OF OUR EXISTENCE

KING ALBERT TELLS CITIZENS OF BRUSSELS

Royal Family Acclaimed by Populace, Riding at Head of Victorious Army.

King Albert entered Brussels on [illegible] He was accompanied by Queen Elizabeth, Princess Leopold [illegible] and Princess Marie Jose, [illegible] royal party entered [illegible] the Boulevard Anspach [illegible] proceeded to the Hotel de Ville, receiving a great ovation along the streets. [illegible] the Parliament House, King Albert and his family proceeded to an [illegible] of welcome. Then followed a [illegible] of Belgian troops, which formed [illegible] here.

Flowers were thrown in the path [illegible] King Albert as the procession [illegible] the route along boulevards lined [illegible] with dense throngs.

[illegible] Albert and his two sons were [illegible] The Crown Prince was [illegible] right, and was dressed in [illegible] while his younger brother was [illegible] in the uniform of a midshipman.

Thought of Fervor.

[illegible] have never seen more fervent scenes [illegible] of enthusiasm," the correspondent of the London Daily Mail [illegible] "It seems to be a thought of fervor, a [illegible] and a [illegible] people who feel that [illegible] have come to their own [illegible] birth of the millennium. [illegible] Guards stood for the [illegible] The King was at [illegible] when behind [illegible] by his generals. Two [illegible] the Belgian army, accompanying the [illegible] of French, [illegible] described in the operation, [illegible] divisions of French, [illegible] with [illegible] so far [illegible] Chantilly, while the front [illegible] from the Prussia, [illegible] midsummer. [illegible] hence [illegible] a little Page [illegible] as they moved forward [illegible] in the blue Queens [illegible] on the ground, [illegible] window, balcony, roof and [illegible] was packed with the [illegible] The people on the [illegible] had garnished themselves [illegible] with numerous miniature flags [illegible] ornaments that [illegible] Thousands could [illegible] even beneath the roofs of the [illegible] All the roads leading to [illegible] Porte and the Boulevard [illegible] were flooded with folk, [illegible] was impossible for the [illegible] Flanders horses to face the [illegible] arrival. I found these Belgian crowds enveloped by an ardent, [illegible] of the line of route and [illegible] to move either way. Musical [illegible] burst into the national song [illegible] anywhere or at none at all.

Symbolic Works of Art.

"If it was a day's journey to enter Brussels," continues the correspondent, "it was another to penetrate the streets. The people had come to practice the technique of a general holiday. Nobody stayed home. The city had spent a huge sum on decorations, including flags, [illegible] statuary of symbolic meaning, wonderful stucco works of art that would deceive the very elect. A [illegible] sculptor had wrought heroic figures of Edith Cavell and others [illegible] by the Germans.

"[illegible] members of the Royal [illegible] in the procession were mounted on very beautiful animals and [illegible] be seen even by those far back [illegible] the crowd.

"[illegible] first stage of the journey [illegible] at the Palais de la Nation [illegible] the King descended to be [illegible] at the first session of a Parliament that will be historic. He then [illegible] the troops in the square and [illegible] to the palace.

The King's Speech.

"[illegible] the afternoon he returned to [illegible] Hotel de Ville to receive the [illegible] Burgomaster Max, in response to which he said:

"The Queen and I have listened [illegible] reception to the eloquent words [illegible] addressed to us by Burgomaster [illegible] 'This is the best day of our [illegible] this day when we return to our beautiful capital at last liberated by the victory of the allies. [illegible] the trials of four and a half [illegible] we rejoice from the bottom [illegible] our hearts to meet once again [illegible] brother citizens who have never ceased to hold their heads erect like [illegible] men before the brutality and [illegible] oppression. I desire to pay them the [illegible] tribute of my profound homage and [illegible] admiration. Your Burgomaster has been heroic; he takes his place in the [illegible] rank among the most illustrious magistrates in our history.'

"The capital by its enthusiastic reception witnesses its admiring gratitude to the sovereign who returns to it covered with glory of the purest quality, and to the Queen who lived throughout the war amongst our soldiers, lavishing upon them treasures of kindness and devotion without [illegible]

The horse properly fed and fitted for work will give much cheaper power than the underfed animal or one soft muscled and lacking in energy.

Montreal Daily Star.
MONTREAL, WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 9, 1918

WHAT SOLDIERS WANT.

A suggestion to those who are sending gifts to soldiers overseas comes from Lt.-Col. (Canon) Frederick George Scott, Senior Chaplain of the First Division, in a cable received by friends in Montreal. He says "The men want pipes, cards and chewing tobacco."

"Ever-lastingly Good".

KING AND QUEEN OF THE BELGIANS

TWO HEROIC FIGURES IN THE WAR'S DRAMA

Albert and Elizabeth, Undaunted in the Hour of Defeat and Glorious in the Day of Vindication.

A. Lemercier, the famous outlaw of "L'Independance Belge," has written the following on Albert, King of the Belgians, and his Queen:

"In the course of this long and terrible war there have stood out two figures of almost legendary worth and heroic appeal—the King and Queen of the Belgians. Grandson of Leopold I., the founder of the Belgian dynasty, King Albert has inherited from his grandfather his calm nerves. His love of work, his sagacity are irresistible. At the same time he is characteristically a man of his social class, simple in living and democratic by habit.

"He is the ideal of the democratic King—the first citizen of the state, who takes his citizenship seriously and conscientiously. All the multiple problems in which Belgium is concerned, industrial and social alike, have been his life study; he has always studied them at first hand, preferring to go into matters for himself, as he did, for instance, in the colonial question, when he crossed the Belgian Congo from Lake Tanganyika, on the east, to Boma on the west.

A Royal Physician.

"With such character and tastes King Albert was not likely to choose for his wife a princess of a powerful and worldly house. He married the Princess Elizabeth in Bavaria. She was the daughter of a savant, who had made himself, by study and work, one of the first oculists of Europe, who put his science and skill to the daily service of the unfortunate. Princess Elizabeth shared her father's labors and had charge of his clinic. Never were a wedded pair more suited to each other.

"In 1913 King Albert paid his visit to the Kaiser, and it was then, at Potsdam, in November, that the Kaiser spoke openly of war with France, as inevitable and not far distant. It was on that occasion, too, that he tried to persuade King Albert that his interest lay in ranking himself alongside Germany. Never did Germany believe that Belgium would resist.

"Yet on the receipt of the revolting ultimatum addressed by Germany to Belgium on August 2, 1914, there was not an instant's hesitation. From Belgian King and people there came the unanimous answer: 'Honor above all!' Before the Chamber and Senate, united in historic session, the King declared, pale with emotion but with firm voice: 'I have faith in our destiny; a nation that defends itself compels respect; such a country never perishes.'

"Next day he issued a proclamation to his troops: 'Soldiers, Remember, as you face the enemy, that you are fighting for liberty and for your imperilled Motherland. I am leaving Brussels to put myself at your head.'

"From his headquarters at Louvain the King followed with anxious pride the heroic defence of Liege. He shrank from no risk. He went to the advance posts and into the trenches.

"As he was of tall stature, he was a likely target for the enemy. One day a colonel said to him: 'Sire, if you were a simple soldier I would scold you.' 'Scold away!' said the King, laughingly. 'Sire,' replied the colonel, this time severely, 'I do scold you,' and the King obeyed, bending down into the shelter of the trench.

"At Waelhem a shell burst near him: he did not wink an eyelash.

"The army fell back into Antwerp. There the Queen had been staying with her children, busy with the organization and superintendence of the hospitals. When the Zeppelins sought to bomb the palace she took away her children and confided them, to Lord Curzon in London, afterward returning to her post beside the King, with whom she shared the dangers of the siege.

"Then came the fall of Antwerp and the retreat. The enemy had crossed the Scheldt: there was danger of the roads being cut off, but eventually the royal couple succeeded in reaching Ostend, and thence, still accompanying the army, across the Yser.

"It was at this moment that the King issued that manly proclamation:

" 'Soldiers, in the positions where I have stationed you let your eyes be turned only frontward. Look upon him as a traitor who utters the word retreat.'

"How valiantly the Belgian army responded to the appeal is a matter of history. It clung with the energy of despair to the little remaining patch of the Motherland and brought the German march on Calais to an abrupt halt, amid that region of marshes and clinging mud.

"During all this terrible period the Queen remained among the troops, dividing her time between the education of her children and the management of a huge hospital.

"Finally has come the resumption of the offensive, with its glorious results. The liberation of Belgium is proceeding rapidly before our eyes. King Albert and his Queen have set foot in Ostend while German shells were falling, and amid the enthusiastic welcome of its inhabitants.

"A few days hence King Albert and Queen Elizabeth will make their entry into Brussels. What an event it will be! It will be a delirium of joy; it will be a spectacle beyond imagination or description. It will be a unique celebration—that of the liberation of a heroic nation!"

Some people learn of the harmful effects of tea and coffee by reading. Others find out through experience. In either case it's a good idea to adopt

INSTANT POSTUM

A delicious drink made from the finest cereals, harmless and nourishing. Made in the cup, instantly. Saves sugar and fuel.

ITALY'S WAR EFFORT

Won War Against Austria Despite Big Odds.

The Italian troops were well on their way into the Trentino when the armistice halted the allied armies on their many battle fronts. The dream of a century of the Italian people—the redemption of their lost domains in the north—was being realized by the force of arms when the German-Austrian collapse made it sure that the Trentino, like Alsace-Lorraine, would be returned by the peace terms to the mother race.

The Austrian government in its latest official census admitted that the Trentino was Italian by 370,000 out of its 380,000 population. The whole district had retained the Latin culture in spite of the efforts to Germanize it in language and customs. Attempts at rebellion had been put down ruthlessly by the Austrian masters. Seeds of dissension sowed by the Austrians had caused estrangement between the Italian irredentists and the Jugo-Slavs, whose interests since have proved to be parallel.

The Italians had fought not only against superior Austrian forces, but against the physical difficulties presented in the mountainous districts of the frontier. In three years of fighting under the most difficult conditions the Italians took from their hereditary enemies prisoners numbering 1,489 officers and 169,800 enlisted men. Italian engineers built 650 kilometres of road and some 500 kilometres of cable from cliff to cliff for the transportation of troops and ammunitions.

Italy has called to arms little fewer than 5,500,000 men, of these she has lost 1,500,000. In recent fighting on the Austrian front Italy had at her disposal only fifty-four divisions to oppose the seventy divisions of the enemy. In addition Italy sent forces into France, Albania, Macedonia and Palestine, which, it is said, were greater than the French, British and American forces sent to aid Italy.

Italy did all this at a time when she was not well prepared for war in her industries and natural resources. She especially lacked coal.

The Trentino with the Italian occupation could not be much more Italian in spirit than under the Austrian rule. Trent is a city of 29,099 inhabitants, is typically Italian in customs and architecture. Such is the condition in Riva, on Lake Garda, and other important towns in the district. The rural districts, too, are almost completely Italian in language and spirit.

It is one of the anomalies of history that such a province could remain so long under an alien yoke. It was highly prized by the Hapsburgs for its military possibilities. A mountain wedge projecting into Italy, as one Italian writer expressed it, "an enormous foot shod with mountains upon the neck of Italy."

Seaweed Fodder.

French chemists have discovered that certain seaweeds common on the coast of Brittany are composed of the same basic materials as oats, and in almost equal proportions. They therefore tried feeding the dried seaweed to horses, for the first eight days as a substitute for half the usual quantity of oats, and then for sixteen days as a complete substitute for the oat ration. The experiment was tried first on three horses suffering from lymphangitis. At the end of twenty-four days the horses had gained six per cent. in weight and were apparently well, whereas three other sick horses that were fed on oats, hay and straw were still suffering from lymphangitis. The experiment was next conducted on two lots of twenty cavalry horses. Ten of them received the ordinary diet, while the rest received two pounds of seaweed in place of two pounds of oats. At the end of two months it was found that those that had been fed on seaweed had each gained about twenty-five pounds, the others had gained barely four pounds. As a result of the experiment French veterinarians believe that it may be possible to utilize great quantities of seaweed in place of the two hundred million pounds of oats that are imported in ordinary times. It is possible, too, that ways may be found to use seaweed as food for human beings.

MONEY ORDERS.

Send a Dominion Express Money Order. They are payable everywhere.

Camouflaged Verse.

A surprising sign of German ingenuity was found lately by an English officer on the body of a dead German. It is a New Year card of good wishes carried about by the poor fellow for many a month. On the reverse is a print of Lady Butler's "Charge of the Scots Greys at Waterloo." But the bearskins of our men have been adroitly changed to the spiked helmets, the German "pickelhauben," and in place of the British Standard flies the German flag. All the rest is correct, man for man, and horse for horse. Joy-bells decorate the frame. And for a fine German cavalry charge is before us.

Almost seventy per cent. of all the sugar consumed in this country is used in the households. So it is up to the women to make the sugar go around.

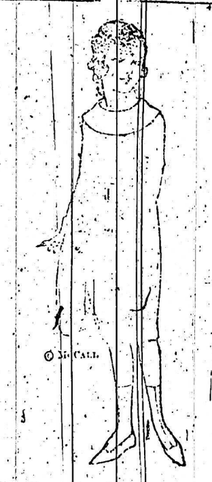
To prevent lamp glasses cracking put them into cold water, bring them to a boil, and let them cool gently. Then see that they are perfectly dried and polished.

As soon as we find a well-balanced ration that produces good results, we should stick to it; for changes in the line of feeding are often expensive and produce heavy losses.

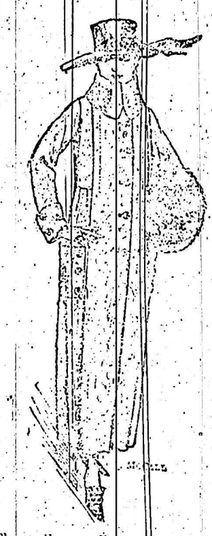
Minard's Liniment Cures Garget in Cows

ISSUE No. 42—'18

The Weekly Fashions.



What could be more pleasingly simple than this little empire dress? The deep yoke opens in the centre-back as far as the short portion and no opening is required in the skirt. McCall Pattern No. 8[illegible], Girl's Empire Dress. In 6 sizes, 4 to 14 years. Price, 20 cents.



The collar, cuffs and pockets of this design are constructed of two contrasting materials, which gives a novel effect. McCall Pattern No. 8667, Ladies' Coat. In 6 sizes, 34 to 44 bust. Price, 25 cents.

These patterns may be obtained from your local McCall dealer, or from the McCall Co., 70 Bond St., Toronto, Dept. W.

NEW TRAVELLING REGULATIONS.

Persons Embarking at U.S. Seaports Must Procure Permission Before Leaving Canada.

Under an order issued by the Secretary of State, Washington, effective November 11th, 1918, all persons going from Canada to foreign destinations by way of United States seaports must procure permission for embarkation before leaving Canada.

Such permission must be arranged for either by executing declaration and procuring vise on passport before one of the American Consuls in Canada, or by making formal application before any of the United States immigration officers located in Canada upon forms furnished by the said officers.

In order to allow sufficient time for investigation, transmission of papers to Washington, etc., applications should be filed either with the Consul or the Immigration Officer at least 17 days prior to the date of proposed departure.

The State Department invites special attention of prospective travellers to the fact that unless they have obtained vise by an American Consul, the said Department must decide whether or not departure from an American port will be allowed, such decision being based upon the application submitted through the immigration officers. Passengers are accordingly warned not to proceed to the port of embarkation until they are in possession of either the Consular vise, or proper certificate from the U.S. Immigration authorities showing that permit for departure has been granted.

The foregoing applies to all persons not citizens of the United States, and it is effective regarding all destinations, including Mexico, U.S. Insular possessions, etc., but not including Bermuda.

United States citizens seeking to proceed to foreign points are required to have passports issued by the State Department, applications for same being obtainable from the various American Consuls.

Minard's Liniment Cures Colds, &c.

Never keep an unlabeled bottle of medicine around the house. Throw it out. Some one may make a serious mistake.

Turn medicines out of the side opposite the label to keep directions plain.

"Hymn for Peace.
Lord of the Ur[illegible]
Brother and Fr[illegible]
We are Thy [illegible]
World without [illegible]
In Thy Name [illegible]
Shod with Thy [illegible]
Crowned with Th[illegible]
War now s[illegible]

Servant, Deliverer
Thine was the [illegible]
Bitter the agony,
Dark was the [illegible]
Deep hearts th[illegible] Thee
Met Thee d[illegible]
Thee we gi[illegible] them
While we [illegible]

Speak to the [illegible]
Join us in o[illegible]
Court if our C[illegible]
Thy will be [illegible]
Wisdom and [illegible]
Give us, and [illegible]
Take Thou o[illegible]
Give and [illegible]

I was cured of [illegible] ago by MINARD'S [illegible]
[illegible] BROWN.

I was cured of [illegible] Sciatica by MINARD'S [illegible]
[illegible] BLACK.

I was cured [illegible] Sore Lungs by MINARD'S [illegible]
[illegible] ASKERS.

Military Ko[illegible]

He held her [illegible] of Ha[illegible] khaki clad arms [illegible] at his silence and [illegible] "Do you love me, [illegible]
"Yes," he [illegible]
"Yes, wha[illegible]
"Yes, sir [illegible] Tried.

Minard's Liniment [illegible] Dysentery.

Potatoes should [illegible] dry and free of [illegible]
ed in the [illegible]

As soon as [illegible] place
darn neatly [illegible]
break, and [illegible]
on table lin[illegible]

"The country [illegible]
most prosperous [illegible] years after the w[illegible] has the most live [illegible] T. A.
Crerar.

Are relieved [illegible] taking [illegible]
Sympathetic [illegible]
It dissolves [illegible] accumulations [illegible] be expelled, thus [illegible] soreness. Sold [illegible] known as [illegible]
containing [illegible]
drugs to kill [illegible]
rheumatism [illegible]
moves the [illegible]
at druggists [illegible]

WHEN NERVE ATTACKS NERVES

Sloan's Liniment scatters the congestion and relieves pain

A little, applied to the [illegible] will [illegible] and soothe the nerves. Sloan's Liniment is effective in allaying external pains, such as bruises, aches, stiffness, sprains, sore muscles, lumbago, rheumatic twinges.

Keep a bottle always on hand for family use. Druggists everywhere.

Sloan's

30c., 60c., $1.20.

FIRST'S PAIN EXTERMINATOR

DON'T SUFFER PAIN—BUY FIRST'S

and be prepared when attacks of rheumatism, lumbago, sciatica, toothache and [illegible] Equally effective for relieving [illegible] sprains, sore throat and [illegible] of painful ailments. For over 40 years a family friend. Don't [illegible] buy Firsts—always have a bottle in the house. [illegible] At druggists or [illegible]

35¢ BOTTLE

FIRST REMEDY CO., Hamilton, Canada.

Hotel Del Coronado

Coronado Beach, California

Where the balmy yet invigorating climate makes possible the enjoyment of outdoor sports throughout the Winter months.

POLO, GOLF, TENNIS, MOTORING, FISHING, BAY AND SURF BATHING

Write for Winter Folder and Golf Program.

JOHN J. HERNAN, Manager

GILLETT'S LYE EATS DIRT

MADE IN CANADA

GILLETT'S LYE

CLEANS—DISINFECTS—USED FOR SOFTENING WATER—FOR MAKING HARD AND SOFT SOAP.—FULL DIRECTIONS WITH EACH CAN.

A Wonderful Old Man.

Little Elizabeth was sitting on her grandpapa's knee one day, when she suddenly blurted out, after a long and interested scrutiny of his wrinkles:

"Grandpa, were you in the Ark?"

"Certainly not, my dear!" was the astonished reply.

"Then why weren't you drowned?"

Minard's Liniment Cures Distemper.

All wool growers in preparing their [illegible] for market, should consider the man who is doing the buying if the name of Canadian wool is to become properly famous in the wool world.

WANTED

WANTED AT ONCE, [illegible] Tinsmiths, Helpers [illegible] Boilermakers and [illegible] Sheets [illegible] Machine Work [illegible] Canada.

FOR SALE

WELL [illegible] NEWSPAPER and job printing plant [illegible] Ontario; [illegible] carried; [illegible] go for $1,200 on quick sale. Box [illegible] Western Publishing [illegible] Toronto.

WEEKLY NEWSPAPER FOR SALE [illegible] New Ontario. Owner [illegible] Large [illegible] Will [illegible] Write [illegible] Publishing Co., Limited, Toronto.

MISCELLANEOUS

CANCER TUMORS [illegible] Internal and External cured [illegible] Call [illegible] or write [illegible] before too late. [illegible] Sanitarium [illegible] Co., Limited, College [illegible]

For Hair and Skin Health Cuticura is Supreme

If you use Cuticura Soap for every-day toilet purposes, with touches of Cuticura Ointment now and then as needed to soothe and heal the first pimples, redness, roughness or irritation you will have as clear a complexion and as good hair as it is possible to have.

Sample Each Free by Mail. Address postcard: "Cuticura, Dept. N, Boston, U. S. A." Sold by Dealers throughout the world.

BRITAIN'S BIG CONTRIBUTION OUTPUT

75 per cent. of Entire Supply of Pyro-Cotton.

[illegible] (Ottawa) [illegible] recently [illegible] production of [illegible] is a very substantial [illegible] material used by the [illegible] in the [illegible] during the [illegible] the British and [illegible] of munitions [illegible] with the [illegible] last September, [illegible] produced one-quarter [illegible] production of nitrocotton [illegible] at Trenton, Ont. [illegible] by the Imperial [illegible] of its kind. The [illegible] Canadian plants produced [illegible] of the whole [illegible] the fourth [illegible]

Plant at Toronto, [illegible] in the establishment [illegible] the Imperial Munitions Board [illegible] Messrs. Goodyear [illegible] Company, Limited, [illegible] manufacture of [illegible] Canadian product [illegible] for the production [illegible] for the Empire [illegible] rapid rapidity [illegible] per cent. of the whole [illegible] produced. The Trenton [illegible] is the largest producer of [illegible] in the British Empire.

CANADIANS IN NORTH RUSSIA

[illegible] from London says: The [illegible] which the Chamber [illegible] fighting men is taken [illegible] the River Dvina in north [illegible] set forth in a letter [illegible] printed in The Times. [illegible] describe the men as [illegible] long-haired board [illegible] evening of dinner with the [illegible] present. He says they [illegible] of the past few days [illegible] of the Arctic [illegible] to shoot and fish, a [illegible] 12-pound salmon [illegible] hours' play.

"The men are healthy and very [illegible] They are in great demand [illegible] often turn their hand to any-

PRINCE GEORGE SENDS HIS CONGRATULATIONS

A [illegible] from Ottawa says: His [illegible] the King has cabled to the [illegible] Governor-General of Canada his [illegible] upon the success of [illegible] Loan. His Majesty's message follows: 'I have heard of [illegible] magnificent success of the Victory Loan with the greatest satisfaction [illegible] Please convey to the [illegible] and people of Canada my [illegible] congratulations upon so [illegible] a demonstration of the magnificent [illegible] of financial strength to which the Dominion has attained.'"

RUPTURE BETWEEN BERLIN AND BAVARIA NOW COMPLETE

London, Dec. 1.—Bavaria will open negotiations for a separate peace with the Entente Allies, according to the Exchange Telegraph despatch from Zurich, which adds that the ruptura between the Governments of Berlin and Munich is now complete.

The Government of Germany is supported by Field Marshal von Hindenburg, who placed the army at its disposal, and refuses to resign or dismiss Dr. W. S. Solf, Foreign Secretary in the Coalition Cabinet, or Dr. Mathias Erzberger.