SALVATION ARMY LAUNCHES BIG DRIVE.

Red Shield Campaign to Assist Blood and Fire Soldiers in After War Work.

The Salvation Army is about to launch a campaign to raise one million dollars to war and demobilization purposes.

The money-getting campaign will be from January 19 to 25. The Duke of Devonshire, Governor General of Canada, Sir Robert Borden, Sir Wm. Hearst, Sir Wilfrid Laurier and many other prominent citizens have endorsed the scheme and strong committees have been formed for the purpose of boosting the objective.

The Salvation Army intends to use the money for three purposes:

1. To establish hostels for returned soldiers, who are discharged and in need until they are absorbed into industrial life.
2. To provide emergency relief, including and maternity homes for soldiers' wives, widows, and dependent children in need.
3. To continue during demobilization in England and France the comforts and equipments already provided by the Salvation Army for the Canadian soldiers overseas.

The Salvation Army was the first of the strictly social organizations to follow the British Army to Belgium. On the 18th of August, 1914, its Officers and Soldiers appeared at Brussels ready to help the boys.

We all know how the Army has kept up with the fighting boys. Right to the front line with the sandwiches and coffee, and farther back huts for recuperation and social purposes were established. They have 197 huts. Over 300,000 soldiers daily have received comforts, help and guidance from the lasses and matrons who fight under the Blood-and-Fire banner.

Now the Salvation Army has not asked for money, except in small contributions on the street corners. Other agencies have appealed for help, to carry on their good work with the soldiers. The Salvation Army is now asking for a million dollars to continue the good work which was begun on the battlefields. The request is reasonable-but it should not be left for a few to subscribe. This is a chance for everybody. Will you help?

EUGENIA HYDRO SYSTEM

(Electrical News)

This system obtains power from a hydraulic generating station constructed at Eugenia on the Beaver River and was placed in service in November 1915. Extensions are now almost completed to provide double the output. This development is one of the most interesting in Ontario, and has the distinction of having, with one exception, the highest hydraulic head of any plant in Canada, being 52 feet gross. It is also one of the highest heads in the world using reaction wheels.

The first installation consisted of two 2250 h.p. turbines each directly connected to 1410 k.v.a. three-phase, 4,000 volt, 60 cycle, 900 rev. per min., horizontal shaft generators having neutral grounded without resistance. The extensions cover enlargement of the building to accommodate two additional generating units, one of which is now being installed, and for double high-tension and low-tension buses, and for six 25,000 volt feeders. The new unit consists of a 2,519 k.v.a., three phase, 60 cycle, 720 rev. per min., horizontal maximum rated generator direct connected to a 4,000 h.p. turbine.

The success of this development depends upon the storage of the water of the Beaver River and for this purpose two large storage dams were constructed. From the head works, a wood stave pipe 46 in. in diameter which conducts the water 3,400 feet to the Johnson differential surge tank, which is 105 feet high. From this tank a 32 in. diameter steel pipe is carried 1,550 feet to the power house, which is a brick building 69 ft. wide, 112 ft. long and 34 ft. high above the generator room floor. Actual tests made at this station after the first installation was completed in 1915, gave an overall full load efficiency of 80 per cent, which shows how carefully the design was worked out.

Additional power for the Eugenia system will be obtained, when required, by the construction of further water storage systems and of a second pipe line at the Eugenia Falls development and the installation of a fourth unit, also by the construction of a station on the Saugeen River near Lake Huron, which, operating in parallel with the Eugenia Station, will make available a total output for the system of 15,000 h.p.

The Eugenia system comprises 245 miles of 22,000 volt circuit, 176 miles of lines, supplying sub-stations, and 50 miles of 3,000 volt circuits. This system is connected to the Severn system by means of a single circuit, three-phase tie line from the Eugenia generating station to Collingwood, a distance of 24 miles. By means of this tie line and the tie line from Wasdell's Falls and the Big Chute, the Eugenia, Severn and Wasdell's Falls systems are paralleled. The generating station of the town of Orillia on the Severn River at Swift Rapids near Big Chute is also connected into the Severn system.

SOUR, ACID STOMACHS, GASES OR INDIGESTION

"Pape's Diapepsin" neutralizes excessive acid in stomach, relieving dyspepsia, heartburn and distress at once.

Time it! In five minutes all stomach distress due to acidity, will pass. No indigestion, heartburn, sourness or belching of gas or eructations of undigested food, no dizziness, bloating, foul breath or headache.

Pape's Diapepsin is noted for its speed in regulating upset stomachs. It is the surest, quickest stomach sweetener in the world, and besides it is harmless. Put an end to stomach distress at once by getting a large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin from any drug store. You realize in five minutes how needless it is to suffer from indigestion, dyspepsia or any stomach disorder caused by fermentation due to excessive acids in stomach.

SUNDAY SALE OF GASOLINE.

W. M. Rochester, General Secretary, Lord's Day Alliance.

Because the Fuel Controller has announced the raising of the ban on the Sunday sale of gasoline, many conclude that there is now no reason why this commodity should not be freely sold on Sunday. Two considerations of vital importance are, however, overlooked.

First: The Fuel Controller's authority is limited. His order prohibiting the Sunday sale of gasoline for war purposes. The rescinding of that order means only that the crisis is past and conservation is no longer necessary and, therefore, so far as the interests of the public are concerned, there is liberty to sell on the Lord's Day. His action in no way affects, nor can affect, the Lord's Day Act. Why, then, were Sunday sales permitted before the prohibition of the Fuel Controller? Because some authorities concerned in the enforcement of the Lord's Day Act regarded the sale of gasoline on Sunday as necessary. We have had, however, new light on the question. It has been demonstrated not only that it is unnecessary to sell on Sunday, but that motorists could make provision for Monday by purchasing on Saturday and they did so provide. In other words, the case is re-opened because new and convincing testimony is available. What we and others have always believed is now proven. Thanks to the Fuel Controller it has been made clear that it is no more necessary to sell gasoline on Sunday than the food for man and beast required for that day.

If this be the case, then Sunday sales of gasoline are still illegal notwithstanding the rescinding of the Fuel Controller's order. Second: Under the ban, motorists discovered the possibilities of forethought. They should not forget their lesson. They have learned that the alleged necessity was not absolute but avoidable. That it was perfectly simple to purchase on Saturday the quantity required for Sunday. No burden was placed upon them by the ban other than to think themselves of their requirements in good time. This the vendor discovered that a Sunday was possible, found happy release, and his employees and their families shared his liberty and delight.

The moral is plain. "Buy your gasoline Saturday." What you were compelled to do for a while, do now voluntarily. Do not be a conscript. Do not let that which was designed for all, permit others to come into its freedom and opportunity. Do not forget the lessons of forethought and charity taught incidentally by our erstwhile schoolmaster, the Fuel Controller.

Of course, if "please" does not accomplish results "must" then takes its place. There is the law. Its majesty must be upheld and the right of employees and the community to their day of rest be fully vindicated. The end, however, may be accomplished without an appeal to the law. This is a splendid opportunity for seller and buyer to show themselves magnanimous and by combining to discontinue this form of unnecessary Sunday trade.

CONTROL OF WEED SEED IN CLOVER.

While there are only a few kinds of weed seeds which are commonly found in red clover seed in quantities sufficient to cause it to be prohibited from sale under "The Seed Control Act" it is yet necessary that the seed for sowing be as pure as possible. It is not easy to say how much damage to soil and injury to live stock, may be caused by impurities in red clover seed. For this reason "Pamphlet S-2" prepared by the Dominion Seed Analyst, and just issued by the Seed Branch of the Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, is one that should command wide and general attention from farmers. "The Seed Control Act" prohibits the sale of red clover seed if it contains more than 50 seeds of noxious weeds or 400 of all kinds of weed seeds per ounce. The pamphlet referred to, which can be had free on application to the Publications Branch, Ottawa, tells of the maximum number of weed seeds per ounce that are permitted in the different crops of timothy, red clover, alfalfa, and alsike, and describes with exactitude the steps that are necessary to purify the seed. Information is given of the relative prevalence of weed seeds; of the method of eradication of weeds, as regards testing, and instructions for taking and sending to the Branch to be tested. A series of exact illustrations of the commonest weed seeds and of sieves necessary for their removal are given in the pamphlet.

THRIFT IS PATRIOTIC COMMON SENSE SAYS HON. T. W. MCGARRY.

Prosperity Should Not Be Permitted To Hide Need of Saving.

Hon. T. W. McGarry, Provincial Treasurer for the province of Ontario, is a firm believer in the gospel of Thrift, and a strong supporter of War Savings Stamp Campaign. In a recent statement he says: "Years of progress and prosperity have tended - quite naturally - to make Canadians forgetful of the time-honored virtue of Thrift, which was so admirable a trait in the character of our Canadian pioneers. As a people we do not know what Thrift means, as it is understood in Great Britain and Europe. - the small daily personal economies which enable a man to not only live within his income, what ever it may be, but to save something every year, and which in the aggregate makes a nation rich. France (prior to the war) is a striking example of a nation made rich by individual Thrift.

"To-day Canada is facing a big war debt incurred in defending our country from a ruthless foe. We have got to foot the bill in one way or another, and what easier or more profitable way than by saving our money and lending it at good interest to the Government in the form of War Savings Stamps? Thrift is patriotic common-sense. Small investments in Government securities have been the foundation of many a fortune, and the War Savings Stamp system ought to garner an enormous harvest of small change from Canadians, old and young, rich and poor alike."

SALVATION ARMY HAS INDEPENDENT AUDIT OF BOOKS.

Its Financial Operations Carried On In Modern Way - Public Invited to Inspect.

The thirty-sixth Annual Financial Statement of the Salvation Army for Canada East, Newfoundland, and Bermuda, for the past year, has just been issued from the office of Commissioner Richards. Some of the chief institutions supported by the Army's funds are: Thirteen Rescue and Children's Homes and Hospitals from London to Halifax; Men's Hostels at London, Hamilton, Quebec, St. John, N. B., St. John's, Nfld., Toronto, Montreal and Halifax; Training Colleges, Young People's Work, Prison Gate Work, Salvages, and many other branches of the Army's activities which call for considerable outlays of money. The books of the Salvation Army are audited by independent auditors and are on file and open for the inspection of the public. The business of the Army is conducted on modern principles just as any large commercial or financial institution is conducted. Every account is kept separate, and the financial management is in the hands of Lieut. Colonel A. E. Smeeton, who is a chartered accountant of ripe experience.

FROM PTE. HARRY WALL.

Mons. Belgium, Dec. 4th, 1918.

Dear Friend - A line or two in answer to your letter of November 17th, which I received the other night, and am pleased to have a little more news from the old home town, and trust these few lines will find you and all the members of the Class in the best of health. I sure hope that the influenza has fled from Canada and that it does not stop till it reaches the Kaiser and all the Prussian autocrats and there may it stay and confine them to the soft sod of a maple floor for the rest of their lives. I am pleased to say that I am in my usual good health. I received a letter from Mrs. Wall saying that they had been down with the "flu" but pleased to say they are much better now. We have had real nice weather all through the summer and fall, and it is still very mild weather out here. We have had but very little rain and this has been very favorable for the Allies in their big offensive, because it makes the transportation problem very much easier. We have fairly good billets in Mons, and it is sure a treat to what it was last winter when we were in dug-outs, bunk-holes, and trenches, and at times wading through mud and water. Last Xmas I spent in the trenches and dug-outs at Loos but Fritz continues to hand over his war material according to the terms of the Armistice as he has done, and is doing now, he will not be able to open hostilities again. I see where the British, French and Americans are now at the German Frontiers, so I guess we shall soon be winding up the watch on the Rhine. I think this will be much better than holding down the old front line back at Loos.

"This (Mons) is, quite a large town and the Germans have done practically no damage here. All the stores are open, but everything is a fierce price; an ordinary pair of Ghent shoes cost 200 francs ($30.00), and beef steak is about 10 francs per pound, ordinary toilet soap is 5 francs per cake. I really can't understand how the working people of Mons make a living. Of course when peace is signed and times become normal again the cost of living will adjust itself. But at present I would think it was no "hon" to a poor citizen of Mons, and I guess that all the other necessities of life are just as high accordingly.

I have not seen your brother this last while back, don't know whether he is with the battalion or not. I met George Fox and Nick Burns at Arras, when I was going on a ten days leave to Bligny. They both looked real well. Wes. Stokes is with the Battalion now and he is in the best of health. I see him often. Was sorry to hear of McKechnie being taken prisoner. I guess he will be released again by this time. We see hundreds of refugees coming through here, as they trek back to their homes, but many of them will find that all that is left of their once happy home is a mass of ruins, and in many instances in Northern France they will have a time to find the village itself, many of them are nothing more than shell holes and heaps of brick and lumber.

Well, I must thank you and all the members of the class for the kind thoughts and efforts on our behalf, and will sure let you know when the Xmas box arrives. We have got much room for complaint about our rations, but you can readily understand that we do not get in this army life and a few days leave to Bligny.

I must ring off, with kindest regards to your mother, yourself, and members of the Class. Yours sincerely, Pte. H. Wall.
