Children's Diseases Are Not Necessary

They Add Nothing to the Well-being of the Child and Invariably Leave the System in Worse Condition Than Before They Came

N fact, they often sow the seed which. in adult life, develops into disorders of the heart and blood vessels and degenerative diseases of the kidneys.

So if children escape any child's disease they are the gainers in general health by just that much. It may be that years are added to their lives or chronic invalidism avoided. Then there is the enormous risk which every child runs who has measles, whooping dough, sqarlet fever, or other diseases.

Perhaps this does not agree with your idea of letting your children have these ailments when young, with the belief that they must have them some time. This old idea has cost many thousands of lives. It is time to forget it, and to put forth an effort to save the children from these

All these children's diseases are known as germ diseases, and germs are harmless to a body strong enough to fight them.

Rich blood is the greatest of germicides. Therefore, seek to keep your children's blood rich and pure by giving them wholesome, nourishing food, and by allowing them to exercise freely in the open air.

Children whose blood bloomes thin and watery are helpless before an attack of measles, scarlet fever, whoping cough, or other contagious disease. They seem to "catch" everything that is going. They are always "catching" co.a. Their resisting force is nil.

A MOOSE TRAGEDY.

Friday evening as Mr. Herb, Stewart was driving home to Burks Falls along the North Road he noticed two big moose following him. Near Parker's farm, one of the animals truck off in one direction and the other jumped the fence and ran across a field at a tremendous speed. Suddenly it ran into plowed ground and turned a complete with such violence that its neck was broken, killing it almost instantly, Fortunately settlers were quickly on the scene and the big moose was properly bled and will make palatable food, even though out of season. This extraordinary incident was actually witnessed in person by Mr. Stewart and occurred only about two and a half miles outside the northerly limits of Burks Falls.—Burks Falls
