

PRINCE OF WALES LAYS CORNER-STONE OF VICTORY TOWER AT OTTAWA

Fifty-Nine Years Ago the Prince's Grandfather Laid Corner-Stone of Old Parliament Buildings Destroyed by Fire Three Years Ago.

Ottawa, Sept. 1.—In the laying of which another Edward, Prince of the restored Parliament Building—the Victory Tower, as it is to be called—the climax of the State functions attendant upon the visit of the Prince of Wales to the Capital was reached. To-day's ceremony was the most elaborate that has been staged, since the arrival of the Heir Apparent to ride with His Excellency the Governor-General in a state carriage drawn by four horses with postillions prominent in the public life of the Dominion, and was witnessed by the greatest throng of citizens for the Labor Day holiday; while the delightful weather enabled all the world and its wife and his children, too, to be present. Lieutenant-Governors of Provinces, members of the judiciary, clergy, foreign consuls and leading Government officials had taken the cession to his Royal Highness on places allotted to them. Her Excellency the Duchess of Devonshire and her husband, the Earl of Kimberley, the Duke of Connaught and the invited guests, including the Royal Canadian Dragoons and the band played the opening bars when he came to Parliament Hill on the National Anthem.

LOUIS BOTHA PASSES AWAY

Strong Unionist Premier of South Africa Victim of Influenza.

Pretoria, Union of South Africa, Aug. 28.—General Louis Botha, Premier and Minister of Agriculture of the Union of South Africa, died suddenly early this morning, following an attack of influenza.

Right Honorable Louis Botha was born in Greytown, Natal, in 1863. His family was of mingled Dutch and French blood, descended from some of those Huguenots who went to South Africa after the Revocation of the Edict of Nantes.

In 1907 Botha became Premier of the Transvaal, and three years later became Premier of the South African Union. From the beginning he was a warm advocate of the union. He attended the Imperial Conference in London in 1907, and was a member of the South African National Convention, afterwards visiting England with the other delegates in order to assist the Secretary of State in the passage of the South African Act through the Imperial Parliament.

When the great war broke out Botha elected for the Empire. By definition he sought to hold the responsibilities in check, and when the rebellion came he crushed it. Then came his campaign against the Germans in Southwest Africa. The campaign was a masterpiece of rapidity and efficiency. He took a force of from 40,000 to 50,000 men over sandy wastes of waterless country at a speed that seemed almost incredible. He won the campaign, and destroyed another German dream.

The only love worthy of the name ever and always uplifts.—MacDonald.
