CREW OF TWENTY FELLER LOST IN LAKE SUPERIOR STORM

Steamer H. E. Rannels Pounded to Pieces by Waves but Crew Rescued—John B. Owen Believed Foundered.

A despatch from Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., says:—The steamer H. E. Rannels, loaded with hard coal for Lake Linden, was pounded to pieces on the beach at Grand Marais on Friday, and there is every indication that the steamer John B. Owen, with its crew of twenty, has foundered off Manitowish Island in the storm which is raging over Lake Superior.
 The storm is declared by mariners to be the fiercest of the year, and now, with wind, is adding to the peril of the graveyard of the lakes. The Rannels, which left the Soo westward last Monday, went to pieces at 10 o'clock Friday morning shortly after coastguards had rescued

Must Keep Navy In Efficient State

A despatch from Victoria, B. C., says:—"To my mind the British navy should not be kept short of overseas squadrons. I believe that the Empire as a whole realizes the imperative necessity of maintaining ships of war not only in home waters, but in close proximity to the most distant Dominions. We must see to it that our overseas naval forces are never again permitted to be as they were prior to the war. It is due to the gallant souls that were given to the Empire in its hour of peril that such a condition should not exist again."
 This declaration was made before the Canadian Club, Vancouver, before the Scapa Flow, summed up the lesson which the great admiral had learned from the experiences of the war. "I know that Great Britain is hard up," he said. "I know that the Dominions, too, are hard up, but I don't believe that the Empire feels so hard up that it cannot keep up an efficient navy."

A despatch from Washington says:—One of the most cheerful twenty minutes which President Wilson has spent since his illness he thoroughly enjoyed late on Thursday when the Prince of Wales called upon him at the White House. In describing this visit afterwards, Rear-Admiral Corey T. Grayson, the President's personal physician, said the two had a "splendid time."
 President Wilson sat propped up in a great old-fashioned bed in which not only Abraham Lincoln had slept, but in which the Prince's grandfather, Edward VII., had reposed when he visited this country nearly 60 years ago. Even before Prince Edward knew of his attention was attracted by the great mahogany bed with its towering headboard. He kept talking about it to the President.
 The President and his boyish caller joked and laughed together. Dr. Grayson said afterwards there was no doubt that the visit put the President in splendid humor. It was something of a family party, for the King George, Queen Mary, and Queen Alexandra, all of which the Prince was, of course, able to answer in de-
