BRITISH COLUMBIA
WATER POWER

EQUAL TO FIVE IAGA-RA FALLS.

Capable of Providing Power, Light and Heat For Future Needs.

Water-power, wealth equal, it is said one of the great sources of this province.
The chief source shown and exposed in British Columbia is the Fraser River. The
Fraser is a river of about 1,000 miles long, and is one of the largest rivers in the world. It flows through the heart of
British Columbia,
and has a catchment area of over 1,000,000 square miles.
The power of the Fraser is enormous, and it is one of the great sources of hydro-electric power in the world. The Fraser River is a source of power which is being developed by the Canadian Government.

Why have black cats nearly always been accounted lucky?
Ireland is by no means the only place where superstitions about black cats are of wide fame. In Egypt cats were regarded with great reverence.
Archaeologists have found them in tombs of kings and princes.
Australians have a curious legend about cats. Myra, the moon, they say, was a native cat, who fell in love with someone else's wife, and was driven away to wander ever since. To them a cat, black, grey, or white, phosphoresces only bad luck.
In Japan and China a black cat is regarded as a dangerous demon, often possessing as many as two or three forked tails, and having the power to change itself into an old woman.
The Chinese believe if a cat leaps on or walks over a corpse it will chase the corpse to rise up at once. Any person passing through the room would be in danger of being seized by the corpse when in that state, and would be killed immediately.
In Egypt, according to ancient writings of Herodotus, if a cat died in a private house by a natural death, all the inmates of the house were obliged to shave their eyebrows.

Where Old Uniforms Go.
The denizens of African forests and Eastern deserts are clothing themselves in khaki and longing for the days when the British army shall return to its more stylish scarlet. For it is to Africa and the East that the army's cast-off uniforms go to be sold, or to be bartered for rubber, and ivory, and other wealth.
Kilts are considered very good form or barbaric dances, but nothing is more admired than the waistcoat which has adorned a London dandy.
A native will show his importance by no number of waistcoats he can acquire, and if he can wear twenty, at a time he is very grand indeed.

To Replace Dot and Dash.
British scientists are experimenting with two musical notes, sent by a teletype key and received by a telephone, to replace the dot and dash in telegraphy.
Why Mummies Wear.
The extraordinary durability of the ancient Egyptian mummy is believed to be due to the fact that it was finished with a vegetable blue derived from the African locust-bean tree.

Buddha Statue Rivals Sphinx.
For many years it has been known that about fifty miles from Jah-ding, in western China, there is a very large and remarkable statue of Buddha, but it was not until a very few years ago that it was ever described by an Occidental.
Dr. Sprague, an authority on things Chinese, visited it. At the end of two days' travel he reached the image and found it to be a colossus in size, although not so large as rumor had made it out. The upper half of the hillside consists of a sandstone cliff, and in this a niche fifty feet broad has been cut leaving a central core of stone that is carved in the shape of a figure seated in European style, not gross-legged, as Buddha is so often represented. The traveller found the height of the image to be not less than one hundred feet.
A series of five tiled roofs, descending like a flight of steps, built in front of the image, protects it from the weather, so that only the face can be seen from without.
When the doctor came within sight of the great Buddha, he paused and rested from his journey at a point near one of the gates to the walled city that lies in the valley below. As his eyes turned to the great face, which has been gilded until it shines like metal, as the immense size and perfect preservation of the idol made their impression, the thought came to him that "this is more marvellous than many of the world's boasted wonders."
He thought of the colossal at Thebes and the Sphinx. Scared and ruined and defaced by the hand of man and the effects of time, they are little better than lumps of battered rock. But far in the west of China, sits this old Buddha, unnoticed and almost unknown, yet greater in size than the Egyptian colossi, with his proportions preserved intact, with temples above and below him, and with the priests in attendance to keep the incense burning at his feet. There he sits, grinly gazing out over the tiled roofs of the city that lies before him.

Sing a Song.
If you sing a song as you go along,
In the face of the real or fancied wrong,
In spite of the doubt if you'll fight it out,
And show a heart that is brave and true;
If you'll laugh at the jeers and refuse the tears,
You'll force the over-reticent cheers That the world denies when a coward cries.
To give to the man who bravely tries,
And you'll win success with a little song.
If you'll sing a song as you go along, You'll find that the busy, rushing thing
Will catch the strain of the glad refrain:
That the sun will follow the blinding rain,
That the clouds will fly from the blackened sky,
That the stars will come out by and by,
And you'll make new friends, till hope despends
From where the placid rainbow bends,
And all because of a little song—If you'll sing the song as you plod along!
If you'll sing a song as you trudge
along,
You'll see that the singing will make you strong,
And the heavy load and the rugged road,
And the sting and the stripe of the tormentous goad Will seem with the note that you set
along.
That the beam will change to a trifling mote:
That the world is bad when you are sad,
And bright and beautiful when glad,
That all you need is a little song—If you'll sing the song as you trudge along.

Never Give Up.
Never give up!—It is wiser and better Always to hope than once to despair;
Pile off the load of doubt's cankering fretters
And break the dark spell of transient care.
Never give up, or the burden may sink you—Providence kindly has mingled the cup
And all trials and troubles bethink
you,
The watchword of life must be,
"Never give up!"
Never give up; there are chances and changes, Hoping the hopeful a hundred to one,
And through the chaos His wisdom arranges Ever success, if you'll only hold on.
Never give up; for the wisest is boldest, Knowing that Providence mingles the cup
And of all maxims, the best as the oldest,
Is the stern watchword of "Never give up!"

NOURISHING FOOD AND GOOD HOURS
Help You to Resist Disease—Aid These With a Tonic to Keep the Blood Pure.
The power of your body to resist disease and to fight it after disease gets a foothold, is one of the most precious possessions you have. You weaken this power when you let your general health run down, your blood gets thin and your nerves, unsteady.
You weaken it when you wrorry, when you over-work, when you do not get sufficient sleep, and when you are unde-nourished, either because you do not eat the right kind of food or because your digestion is out of order.
You preserve your power to resist disease when you keep good hours and eat proper food at regular intervals.
You further increase and strengthen your resistance to disease when you build up your blood and nerves by the occasional use of a tonic like Dr.
Williams' Pink Pills, which are free from opiates and harmful drugs of any kind. The value of these pills as a health-builder is fully shown by the experience of Mrs. E. C. Taylor, Hanover, Ont., who says: "At various times since I was a girl of fifteen I have proved the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. At that age I was in a much run-down condition, suffering from many of the well known symptoms of anaemia, the best known being pale skin and aching joints. I was cured a supply of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and after taking about a half dozen boxes I was restored to normal health. Again after my marriage, and before my boy was born, I felt miserable and again took Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which once more, not all my experiences, but my latest experience with these pills was following an attack of pleurisy, which led me completely broken in health. Part of the time I was under the care of two doctors, and for three months I was practically between life and death. Again at my mother's suggestion I started the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I had not been taking them long before I could tell that they were helping me. Day by day I could feel my strength returning, and was soon enjoying good health once more. In view of my experience I think I can safely say there is nothing in the way of medicine better than Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.
Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.
