Prune back the heads and long canes of blackberries and raspberries after picking is over. Propagate black raspberries by tip

If bearing trees have not had their crops thinned before this, do it early in July. Thinning pays well in improving the quality of the fruit.

The last cultivation of the orchard trees may be made late in July. Plant a cover crop at this time consisting of rye, winter vetch, and perhaps some crimson clover if the climate is not too severe for it.

Keep the runners well pruned from the strawberry plants unless you are practicing the matted-row system. Fight insects and disease by spraying: send to your experiment station, or call on your county representative for free literature.

If you have a good farm record, you can, with the expenditure of a few minutes each week, have a check upon your business, and can at any time see where you are making money and where you are losing it.
