NEW YEAR OUTLOOK IN MOTHER LAND PICTURED IN SOBER COLORS

Difficulties at Home and Abroad Require Careful Diplomacy to Tide Over the Post-War Adjustment Period.

A despatch from London says—Britain's outlook for 1921 is pictured in rather sombre colors by the politicians, economists, financiers and labor leaders, who are casting their eyes forward to the New Year.

Officials here have not allied themselves with the Government, while it is also beset by many results of the war, including a vigorous newspaper campaign against so-called Government extravagance.

As the year opens, the political scene in the United States is almost dormant since the political conventions in the United States. There is a desire here to clear up the oil question, which has been the subject of a long series of communications to the United States.
