

And a Savings Account Not Yet Opened

What about the resolution made at the beginning of 1922 to start a savings account? Is it going to be the same story at the end of the year—nothing saved for the future? Do not continue putting it off. A savings account will open an account. The assurance, independence and satisfaction which the knowledge of something in reserve always begets will be incentive enough for building it up.

ROCKLYN

(Special to The Standard.) Mrs. W. Falls is visiting with her daughter, Hazel, at Owen Sound. Mr. T. Gilroy spent a few days last week in Toronto. Miss Alma Johnston, of Markdale, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Johnston. Mr. J. A. Cook and Mr. J. Perry spent a few days in Owen Sound last week. Miss Myrtle Carson, of Bognot, is visiting her friend, Miss Leona Boyd. Mr. Will Yeadell, of Toronto, is home at present. Miss T. Knight, of Thornbury, spent a few days recently with her cousin, Miss Florence Falls. The annual meeting of Temple Hill Church was held on Thursday afternoon last. Owing to the storm there was not a very large attendance. The report was on hand and showed a balance on hand of $376 after all the expenses were paid. The masquerade carnival held on Tuesday evening last was a decided success. The band provided excellent music for the occasion. The Institute served refreshments in the Agricultural Hall. The following are the prize winners:—Ladies' Costume, Orma Clarke, Barbara Curry; Clown, J. Abercrombie, of Hawarden, Sask.; Highland Costume, Eva Rutherford; Comic Costume, Fred Thompson. Wallace Myles; Tramp, E. Lougheed, A. Smith; Negro Swell, Ivan Cook; Gent's Costume, Ivan Cook, Orwell Boyd; Indian Costume, Elsie Yeadell; Gordon Perry; Fat Man and Woman, Elvin Wench and Fred Thompson; Miss Canada, Marge Boyd; Annie Curry and Jean Boyd; Best Lady and Gent Skaters, Ivan Cook and Annie Curry, Mrs. L. Curry and Ed. Abercrombie; Dude, Ivan Cook, Orwell Boyd; Fancy Skater, R. J. Orr, Ivan Cook; Fastest Skater, boys, Walter Milne, O. Hooley; Fastest Skater, lady, Barbara Curry. Mrs. Lorne Curry.

B. ANTYRE

(Special to The Standard.) No doubt, Bruin would see his shadow on candlemas day. The Ladies' Auxiliary of Temple Hill held their first meeting of the year at home of Mrs. S. Boyd on the 25th of January. A goodly number of ladies were present and four new members were added to the roll. The trustees of Biantyre school have had a new slate blackboard installed, which, no doubt, will be a valuable asset to the school. Mr. A. C. Patterson attended the annual meeting of the Sydenham Mutual Fire Insurance Company in Owen Sound on Tuesday of last week. Married—At the parsonage, Walters, Falls, on Wednesday, January 18th, 1922, by Rev. E. M. Burgess, Mr. Jaustin L. Vickers to Miss Mary V. Wright, second eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Wright of this place. The young people assembled at the home in the evening and a very enjoyable time was spent in games, music and dancing. Mr. and Mrs. Vickers will reside on the first line. All join in wishing them a prosperous journey through life.

The Late W. G. Myles

Owen Sound Sun-Times) In the death on Sunday morning of George W. Myles, Owen Sound loses one of her best citizens. For a period of eight or nine years the late Mr. Myles had been in poor health, but it was not until about three years ago that he was forced to give up his tailoring business. Since then he has been seriously ill.

He was born in the Township of Euphrasia forty-five years ago, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Robert Myles. About twenty years ago he married Miss Lena Leslie, of Owen Sound, daughter of the late James Leslie, Sr. Besides Mrs. Myles, four daughters, Dorothy, Helen, Mildred, and Margaret and one son, Willard, survive. Four sisters and three brothers also survive. They are Mrs. A. V. Edick and Mrs. J. R. Stevenson, of Rochester, Mrs. J. R. Boyd, of Owen Sound and Mrs. H. Hooley, of Thornbury; James A., of Heathcote; Thomas R., of Thornbury and J. R. Myles, of Haileybury.

The late Mr. Myles learned the tailoring business in Thornbury and over twenty years ago started a business in Owen Sound which he continued until about three years ago. During the time he was in business he won a large number of business friends and personal friends. He always had the highest ideals in business and was well liked for his kindly disposition by all with whom he came in contact. He was a member of Westside Church and as long as his health would permit he was a regular attendant of the services. The funeral will be held from his late residence, 1394 4th Avenue West to Greenwood Cemetery, this afternoon at 2:30. Rev. C. W. Marshall, of Westside Church, will conduct the service at the house at two o'clock.

Who is Who in Western Lumber

JOHN HANBURY

(Western Lumberman) "And there were giants in those days." Looking at John Hanbury, with half a century of pioneering in the Canadian lumber industry back of him, you can well feel the truth of the old quotation. The head is silvered, but it is held as erect and firm as fifty years ago. The strong face and powerful frame still emanate virile force. On the twelfth day of June, 1855, in a little village in Grey County, Ontario, (Markdale) Mr. Hanbury made his premier appearance in this act of the Great Drama. From the public school he stepped into the contracting business. As the first train of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company were passing through Brandon, Manitoba, Mr. Hanbury arrived on the ground. Most of the large buildings of Brandon's next few years were built by John Hanbury. And it was at Brandon that he bought his first sawmill, cutting logs that came from the upper Assiniboine River. In 1905 he arrived at Vancouver, British Columbia, and bought a little cedar mill which stood where the east end of the Granville street bridge now stands. To-day the plant of John Hanbury and Company, Limited, occupies one thousand feet of frontage on False Creek and has a capacity of 125,000 feet per day. While Mr. Hanbury has been consistently a lumberman during the past half century, he has also operated extensively in mercantile lines. He organized the Hanbury Hardware Company, at Brandon, doing a wholesale hardware business. He also operated a chain of seven retail stores with retail lumber yards in connection. Four sons have been raised and trained in the lumber industry by Mr. Hanbury. John Hanbury is still to be found "on the job" however, we are told that he holds a "nasty" club at golf. When baseball is in season, the ball grounds are a good place to look for him—after business hours.

CHERRY GROVE

Mr. George Hill, who died recently in the Fergus hospital, aged 83 years, was an old and respected resident of this neighborhood, coming here from Marsville over forty years ago. He was a good neighbor, always ready to lend a hand when needed. Besides his widow he leaves five sons and three daughters, all of whom reside hereabout, excepting two sons at a distance. He was a native of Belfast, Ireland. On Thursday last Mr. W. E. Bradley drove a jolly sleigh load of ladies to the W. I. meeting at the home of Mrs. W. T. Walsh, where a very enjoyable afternoon was spent. At the conclusion of the meeting the hostess, who is a recent bride, was invited to come forward when Mrs. E. Bradley, on behalf of the members of the Women's Institute, presented her with a pyrex case-roller. Following is the address read by Mrs. W. E. Bradley: Dear Mrs. Walsh—We take much pleasure in coming here this afternoon to meet with you for the first time in this, your new home. We are not unmindful of the fact that you have been a valued member of this branch of the Women's Institute ever since it was organized, being always so prompt and willing to take your part in its various activities. On the occasion of your recent marriage we thought it only fitting to remember you in some way. We would therefore ask you to accept this pyrex case-roller as a slight token of our appreciation, and the esteem with which we regard you. In conclusion, we extend to you and your esteemed partner our very best wishes for a happy and prosperous wedded life. Signed, Cherry Grove W. Institute. Mrs. W. Walsh, in reply, thanked the ladies sincerely for the gift and extended them an invitation to visit her at any time in her new home. A short program was then given in which the following took part: violinist, Mrs. E. Bradley; pianist, Mrs. W. A. Dickie and Mrs. W. E. Bradley; Recitation by Mrs. Laughlan; solo by Mrs. Dickie; granulosa selections by the hostess. The latter afterwards served a dainty lunch, assisted by Mrs. W. J. Ward and Miss Jean Stephenson. Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Bowler and daughter, Bertha, of Saskatoon, also Miss R. Hutchinson and three young friends, of Dundalk, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ran Bradley last week. Mr. W. E. Bradley received a severe fall one day last week by being thrown with considerable force from a sleigh to the hard ground, receiving a broken rib, in addition to a severe shaking up. Though able to move about he is incapacitated for work for a few days at least.

COWS IN HOT WEATHER

Shade and an Abundance of Water Are Necessary.

Trees in the Pasture a Boon—Some Cows Drink 20 Gallons of Water a Day at High Milk Flow — Fly Remedies—Life on Hogs. (Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.) During the extremely hot weather, cows and calves frequently suffer, sometimes needlessly, from three things—effects of high temperature, lack of water, and from torment by flies. A great mistake was made in the older parts of Ontario when practically all the trees were cut down, thus leaving no shade for cattle and other live stock. This is being remedied to some extent by the planting of trees along roadsides, lanes, and line fences where the trees will not interfere with the crops. But it takes a long time for trees to grow into a size which will provide much shade. When the late Prof. Brown was in charge of the O. A. College farm and live stock, he planted small groves of trees on various parts of the College farm, and no more pleasant sight may be seen than that of the College herd lying in the shade among these trees on a hot day. These groves make the fields where located rather awkward to work, but the cattle certainly enjoy themselves among the trees. On a live stock and dairy farm, while it may not be advisable to plant trees in the middle of a field, it certainly will pay to have them in as many places as possible, where they do not interfere with the working of the land. They, of course, must be protected when young, from injury by the stock, but this can be done without too much expense. In the meantime, on dairy farms where no shade is available in the regular pasture field, sometimes a wood-lot can be utilized for the stock during the heat of the day, though they may damage the young trees to some extent. Another plan is to keep the cattle in a darkened stable for part of the day. This means a good deal of extra labor cleaning the stable, and keeping the cows clean, and under present labor conditions may not be practicable on many farms. However, where there is necessary labor available and particularly where cows are receiving staling or sludge feed to supplement the pasture, the feeding in the stable may well take place during the day, and the cows be kept inside while it is very hot. This plan also reduces the worry from flies, when the windows are covered to make the stable dark. Cows frequently suffer from lack of sufficient water. As a boy, the writer remembers driving cattle to "Big Creek" in Brant County during the spells. The cows were nearly famished when they reached the "Creek" and would drink until they looked like bursting. But, by the time they reached home, after walking for a mile-and-a-half over a dusty road, the cattle were nearly as thirsty as ever.

The only safe source of a pure water supply is a deep well, driven or bored, and having the water pumped by windmill or other source of power, with a storage tank for emergencies. There is no part of Ontario in which an abundance of water cannot be obtained, if we go deep enough to tap the hidden sources of supply. In some districts, more particularly in the natural gas regions, the water may be salt or sulphur, in which cases, large tanks or cisterns for storing rainwater may be necessary, but this is unusual. No matter how it is obtained, the owner of dairy stock, and especially of cows in milk, must apply a large amount of water, over the stock with a siphon, which means lessened milk supply, and small amounts of water, especially in the case of the cow, are of little value. A quart of water (40 gallons) of milk daily, and water in a day. Cows drinking less than water in proportion "Gave the cows plenty of water. Young calves, especially and heifers, also need plenty of clean water in hot weather. There are several good fly remedies on the market. Where there is not time to make one, the purchase of a patent fly-killer or repellent is advisable. These are usually applied daily or twice a day with a small hand sprayer. The expense is not great and the freedom from worry by both cow and milker is worth the money. A home-made remedy may consist of one-half gallon of kerosene oil, or any other grease, one-half pint coal oil, and four tablespoonsful of crude carbolic acid, cresol, etc. Mix thoroughly. This will be sufficient for twenty-five cows and may be applied with a brush or cloth. If there is no rain it will keep the flies off for several days. Milkers must be careful not to get this on the udders, nor allow hairs to drop into the milk pail, as it will taint the milk. It is safer to apply after milking.—H. H. Dean, O. A. College, Guelph.
