

TIMBER SUPPLY OF CANADIAN FARMER

VALUABLE ASSET TO AGRICULTURAL DISTRICTS

Prairie Provinces Possess More Than 32,500 Square Miles of Forest Reserves.

The various phases of work which are being carried on in Canada's forests, to make the lumber industry one of the most important of the Dominion, and the total commercial cut of the various kinds of timber, are being valued at the aggregate value each year to the Dominion of $100,000,000. This, nevertheless, does not comprise by any means the value of Canada's timber to the Dominion, and there is a large domain of which no reliable statistics are available. Timber is a small part in relation to the total of the province of agriculture, but in agricultural sections it has a great deal to do for the farmer, and makes for a better harvest.

The various provinces designated as agricultural provinces of Western Canada will have a great deal to do for the farmer, and makes for a better harvest. WOMEN AND GIRLS WANT ROSY CHEEKS

They Can be Had by Keeping the Blood Rich and Pure.

Every woman—every girl—wants rosy cheeks. They mean not only beauty, but good health. When a woman's blood is scanty or anaemic her color fades, she looks debilitated, is short of breath, and her heart palpitates after slight exertion. Sometimes this trouble is accompanied by severe headaches, or pain in the back or sides. This condition is entirely due to weak, watery blood, and can only be cured by making the blood rich and pure. For this purpose Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which act directly upon the blood, and in this way bring new health and strength to weak, ailing people. Mrs. Isaac W. Howell, Petalonia, N.B., tells of what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills did for her as follows: "For some time I had not been feeling well. I had been gradually growing weaker, and found it constantly growing harder to do my housework. I was very pale and had frequent headaches. I consulted a doctor and took his medicine for some time, but it did me no good. I found myself growing weaker, and taking faint and dizzy spells. A friend advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and although I had nearly lost faith in all medicine, I got a supply and began to take them. I found they were helping me, and I gladly continued taking them, and ultimately found that the troubles that had afflicted me had vanished. I am giving this statement in the hope that my experience will be of benefit to others."

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50. From The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Culinary Curios.

Visiting a Chinese restaurant recently, the writer had a dish made of chicken stewed with sweet almonds. And, curious as it sounds, the mixture was a very good one. Has it ever occurred to you how peculiar are the mixtures of food which we find on our plates every day of our lives? Who, for instance, was the first person to eat currant jelly with roast mutton? No one knows, and on the face of it, it seems absurd to eat jam with meat, yet no person can assert that the result is not excellent. Apple sauce with pork is more natural, for the acidity of the apple corrects the extreme richness of the pork. In Europe you will find stewed apricots served with pork and stewed prunes with veal. Although both these combinations may seem startling, there is no doubt about their being good. In Canada cranberry jelly goes with roast turkey, and here again the result is all that can be desired. A real Indian curry, which we practically never see in this country, is made with milk, as well as onions, mixed with meat. Try a curry made with apples and currants, and you will be delighted with the combination. A roast goose is a poor thing without a stuffing of sage and onions, but the name of the talented inventor of this combination is lost to history. Have you ever tried chicken with cold apple pie? This is a Yorkshire dish, which deserves to be more popular than it is. We all eat cucumber with cold salmon, but how many are aware that fenel sauce adds greatly to the excellence of hot boiled salmon. Every country has its own peculiar mixtures of savouries and sweets, and many of them are most delicious.

Lord Bryce's Hobbies.

Among the prized trophies of the late Viscount Bryce were fishing rods, alpenstocks and academic gowns. Lord Bryce was always fond of fishing. He never obtained such fame in this pursuit, of course, as Lord Grey, but he was a keen fisherman nevertheless, and had a valuable collection of fishing rods. Whenever Bryce saw a river he fished in it, whether it was the Neva at Petrograd, the Seine in Paris, the Manzanos in Madrid, the Humber in Toronto or the Potomac in Washington. Next in line to his fishing rods was his equipment for mountain climbing. It is his hobby of Lord Bryce that made him a popular hero in the Rocky Mountain district, and especially in the city of Calgary. For two years Bryce was president of the Alpine Club of Canada. As for university gowns, Lord Bryce had an unequalled collection. He held degrees, actual and honorary, from colleges and academies all over the world. From Oxford he had gowns of Trinity and Oriel; from Brussels, Navis, and the University of Toronto (Trinity College); from Glasgow, Edinburgh, Princeton, Leipzig, Buenos Aires, Adelaide, Brisbane, etc. These gowns and hoods were of every color and shape. The weight of them, if worn all together, would have borne any man to the ground, and the colors rivaled those of the spectroscopes.

Our Canadian winters are exceedingly hard on little ones. The weather is often so severe that the mother cannot take the little ones out for an airing. The consequence is that baby is confined to overheated, badly ventilated rooms; takes cold and becomes cross and peevish. Baby's Own Tablets should be given to keep the little ones healthy. They are a mild laxative which regulate the stomach and bowels and thus prevent colds. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Why Clocks on Socks.

What we describe today as a "clock" on a sock or stocking is nothing more than a piece of embroidery, which appears to have been placed in position in order to make the ankle of the wearer look more slender. Originally it was designed to cover a natural defect in the weave. In the days before the invention of the present type of machinery, which works automatically and turns out a completed stocking every few seconds, the stocking was woven in two separate pieces. When completed, the sock and stocking was joined together on either side of the ankle, a process which naturally left an unsightly seam. In order to conceal this, a decorative piece of embroidery was placed over the seam. The operation, on account of the "clocking" on the stocking, is necessary for an ornament of this kind has long since passed, but the "clocks" remain as a reminder of an old custom.

It is an unusual flock, too, for every one of the members of it has, not wool, but feathers! The mother of the flock is a Plymouth Rock hen, but Topsy is the shepherd. Whenever the chicks scatter she will run round them and gradually bring them nearer, the cucking mother. One day some of them had wandered off, and Topsy, much distressed, was making every effort to round them up, when a passer-by who thought she was going to hurt them, struck her with a folded paper. At once the dog set up an agonized barking, and finally her mistress hurried out to explain. Left alone again, the little dog brought the chicks into close formation and delivered them to the hen in a fairly compact group. Topsy was never trained to do that sort of thing and has never been with older shepherd dogs. Apparently "blood will tell."

Making Bad Worse.

Thomas Fiddle was a very learned young man. At school he shone like all the stars and planets lumped together. A sixty candle-power lamp wasn't in it beside the burning flame of his genius. But his friends were frightfully disappointed when he refused to accept the degree of Doctor of Divinity. One of them tackled him on the subject. "Ah, well," replied the genius, "it's bad enough to be named Fiddle, without being Fiddle, D.D."

The child of a father over fifty years of age has ten times as good a chance of becoming eminent as he would if his father were a younger man.

Surnames and Their Origin

MacLaurin. Variation—MacLaurin. Racial Origin—Scottish. Source—A given name. Here is another Scottish family name derived from a given name which the progenitors of the bearers brought to Scotland from Ireland in the ancient days when the Dalriada Gaels crossed over and by conquest and settlement won the dominance of the Highlands. The MacLaurins, or MacLaurins are traditionally descended from "Loran" or "Laurin," who was the son of Ere, one of the Dalriada chieftains who settled in Argyll in the sixth century. This "Loran" is the same chief who is said to have given the district of Lorn its name. The clan, for the MacLaurins once constituted one of the leading clans in the Highlands, was for a long time a big factor in Scottish history. As early as the reign of King Kenneth MacAlpin it appears to have acquired considerable territories in Strathgairn and Dalriada. In 1123 they played a prominent part in the Battle of the Standard, under the leadership of "Malise," the Earl of Strathgairn. The clan was reduced from the status of proprietorship over its land in 1128, when the earldom of Strathgairn became the property of the Scottish crown, though they retained a status as perpetual tenants. But its fortunes received a setback from which they have never recovered in 1745, when it took part in the uprising which attempted to put the Stuart line, in the person of "Bonnie Prince Charlie," back on the throne of England and Scotland.

GRANT

Variation—Grand. Racial Origin—Scottish; also Anglo-Norman. Source—A locality; also a characteristic. The most obvious explanation of the name of Grant is that it is a variation of Grand or "Grand," originating as a surname denoting superiority, or later becoming a family name in the natural growth of such nicknames. More often, however, it is traceable to a Highland Scottish source as the name of one of the clans which developed from the ancient Clan Aplin, of which group the MacGregors were the leaders. The name of the Clan Grant is Gaelic, not Norman, and as some Gaelic names, but virtually never with the Irish, it is derived from the name of a place. This place was an extensive moorland near Strathgairn known as "Grantach" or "Sliabh-Grantach." The clan itself traces back in its chieftainship to Gregor MacGregor, who, it is claimed, settled in that section about the twelfth century. Gauge Needs No Packing. A Swedish inventor has patented in seventeen countries a faucet which requires no packing, accurate grinding of the fitting surface of the valve preventing leakage. Largest Camera. The largest camera in the world has been built by United States geological survey experts, weighing 3½ tons and making photographs a yard square.
