

IMMIGRATION OF CHILDREN

SEVENTY-THREE THOUSAND IN PAST FIFTY-TWO YEARS.

Splendid Work of Benevolent Societies Under Supervision of British and Canadian Governments.

The value of a Canadian immigrant is largely estimated according to his economic worth on entry and the likelihood of his becoming an early revenue-producer. Accordingly, the important sections of immigration records are considered to be the statistics of adult entrants and the wealth they are possessed of at time of entry. This outlook attaches rather unimportant importance to the immediate present and does not give merited consideration to that greater building for the future. Thus the introduction of children, who possess the greatest possibilities of assimilation and citizenship-making and are the greatest factors in the future development of the Dominion, is not generally considered the important feature it really is in the yearly immigration total, and there would be no such movement if it were not for certain charitable organizations to which it has been relegated.

In the British Isles there are thousands of children, sprung of good working class stock and possessed of fine qualities, who are growing up in depressing atmospheres and undesirable surroundings with prospects that are utterly hopeless, into a future that will not bear consideration. Many are orphans and others homeless from other unfortunate circumstances, all to be classed in their native country as "street children" and neglected before they have attained the status of maturity. Inherently they are of the best material with infinite possibilities if taken in the pliable liquid state. Their only salvation is to be taken from their discouraging environment and be permitted to develop their natural qualities in a new, better ground. Canada offers to bright prospects and the Dominion has need of such potential labor.

First Party Arrived in 1869.

The work of transplanting these children and setting them out in fresh air has to a great extent fallen to certain benevolent societies, the Salvation Army, Dr. Barnardo's Homes, the British and Canadian Society, the Catholic Immigration Society, working under the supervision of the British and Canadian governments. The work has been in progress now some fifty years. The first organized party arrived at Quebec from Great Britain in 1869 and since then parties of healthy girls and boys have come to Canada every year, with the exception of two years during the war period. In this fifty-two year period, approximately seventy-three thousand children have come to Canada through agencies approved by both the British and Canadian governments.

The children, who at the time of entry may be of any age from three to seventeen, are all carefully selected by the agencies and approved by the regular immigration authorities. They must themselves declare a desire to emigrate, and no child is compelled to do so against his will. They are received in Canada at homes of the various agencies, and from there are sent out to foster parents or to situations on farms previously arranged. They are carefully supervised in their new homes, which are visited frequently and unexpectedly by government inspectors, and should there be any dissatisfaction on the part of the child, his foster parents or employer, he is sent back to a receiving home until other satisfactory arrangements can be made.

Many Have Attained Outstanding Success.

Whilst the younger children usually go to foster parents, the other youths and maidens are appreciated as farm laborers or domestic servants. As is to be expected from such unpromising beginnings, these children are largely to be found among the humbler walks of life in Canada, though it is significant to note that in the history of the movement there is no record of even one child becoming a public charge. An indication of what a creditable reputation these juvenile settlers have made in Canada may be taken from the fact that whilst only 33,617 have come to the Dominion in the past ten years, there have been in the same period, 448,289 applications from people anxious to either adopt or employ these wards.

Fully seventy-five per cent. of the boys have remained in agricultural life and many are prosperous farmers. The girls have without exception, proved valuable citizens and many have married men prominent in Canadian life. There are several successful engineers, doctors, lawyers, merchants, school teachers, etc., who made their first appearance in Canada under the auspices of a benevolent society, and it is noteworthy that ten thousand of these former immigrant boys lentised in the Canadian army many making the supreme sacrifice and those who survived winning a wide variety of honors, including the V.C.

UNSIGHTLY PIMPLES AND FACE ERUPTIONS

In the Spring Most People Need a Tonic Medicine.

One of the surest signs that the blood is out of order is the pimples, unsightly eruptions and eczema that come frequently with the change from winter to spring. These prove that the long indoor life of winter has had its effect upon the blood, and that a tonic medicine is needed to put it right. Indeed, there are few people who do not need a tonic at this season. Bad blood does not merely show itself in disfiguring eruptions. To this same condition is due attacks of rheumatism and lumbago; the sharp stabbing pains of sciatica and neuritis; poor appetite and a desire to avoid exertion. You cannot get rid of these troubles by the use of purgative medicines—you need a tonic, and a tonic only, and among all medicines there is none can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for their tonic, blood-improving, nerve-restoring powers. Every dose of this medicine helps make new, rich blood which drives out impurities, stimulates every organ and brings a feeling of new health and energy to weak, tired, ailing men, women and children. If you are out of sorts give this medicine a trial and see how quickly it will restore the appetite, revive drooping spirits and fill your veins with new, health-giving blood.

You can get these Pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Irish Free State Stamps.

The Irish Free State has already begun to issue postage stamps, although its existence is only provisional. So anxious was the Dublin Cabinet to see itself, in print that, with the permission of the British postoffice, it began the issuance of Free State stamps within a few weeks after the conclusion of the Anglo-Irish treaty. So far the Irish stamps consist merely of a Gaelic superscription on the current issues of Great Britain, but a distinctive Irish issue is promised soon and designs for the different values are already being considered by the Free State Postmaster General.

The first Irish stamps were put on sale at the Dublin postoffice on February 17. There are fifteen varieties, running from half-penny to the 10-shilling. The inscription in Gaelic is "Rialtas Sealadach na hEireann," or, in plain English, "Irish Provisional Government," and the date 1922 is surcharged at the bottom of the stamp.

The Irish postmaster obliges stamp collectors by having established at Dublin a philatelic department, where collectors may obtain all the Irish issues they can afford to buy.

All that is known definitely of the forthcoming distinctive issue of Irish stamps is that they will bear the Gaelic inscription "Saoirse na hEireann," which means "the Irish Free State."

BABY'S OWN TABLETS ALWAYS IN THE HOME

Once a mother has used Baby's Own Tablets for her little ones she always keeps a supply on hand, for the first trial convinces her there is nothing to equal them in keeping children well. The Tablets are a mild but thorough laxative which regulate the bowels and sweeten the stomach, thus driving out constipation and indigestion, colds and simple fevers and making feeding easier. Concerning them, Mrs. Saluste Pelletier, St. Dumas, Que., writes: "I have used Baby's Own Tablets for the past ten years and am never without them in the house. They have always given the greatest satisfaction and I can gladly recommend them to all mothers of little ones." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or direct by mail at 25 cents per box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

To Him Who Plants a Tree.

Perhaps our God has somewhere made a thing
More beautiful to see
Than a majestic tree;
But if He has, I think it grows
In heaven, by the stream that flows
Where whiter souls than ours do dwell.

Who plants a tree, he is akin to God,
In this impatient age
Where quick returns engage
The fevered service of the crowd.
In reverent wisdom he is bowed
And hides his purpose in the cloud.

The blessed man that plants a long-lived tree
That shall grow nobly on
When he is dead and gone,
He seems to me to love his kind
With true sincerity of mind.
He seems to love his fellow set to be.

Above his grave the suns shall flush
And fade,
The seasons come and go
And storms shall drive and blow;
But sun and rain that from his tomb
Erease his name, renew the bloom
And glory of the monument he made.

Surnames and Their Origin

HEWESSEY
Variation—MacHennessy.
Basis of Origin—Irish.
Source—given name.

FORBES
Variation—Fordyce.
Racial Origin—Scottish.
Source—A locality.

The name of Hennessy doesn't look as though it came from the same source as MacHennessy, or MacCaish, or Angus—but it does.

Among the Gaelic of Ireland, and those who at an early period crossed over to Scotland and settled among the Highlands, the given name of "Aongus" (from "aon" excellent, and "gus," strength) was a popular one, and as a result, it has given rise to several clan names and a still greater number of family names in both countries.

In Scotland there was the "Clann Aonghais" (MacHennessy), which name will be discussed in a later article. In Ireland there were the "MacAonghais" (Maginnis), whose name already has been explained, and also the "MacAongusa" (MacHennessy), a branch of the Clann Colgan.

It is from the last named, of course, that the name Hennessy has been derived.

As you might guess from the foregoing information there has been a great deal of confusion in Anglifying the various forms of these clan names, which, in the Gaelic, are separate and distinct in spelling, though they are all derived from the same given name (from a different chieftain in each instance) and though the o's little

The Birth of the Daffodil.

The slender fingers of the rain
Reached down through mass and mold
And woke the bulb asleep within
Its rough brown blanket's fold;
The sun came out and warmed the
The like a finger white
Was groping in the clouds of earth
To find the kindly light.

The south wind blew across the fields,
A troubador of spring,
And piped a little tune that set
The branches whispering:
It ruffled loose the tissue sheath
That held the bud until
Arrayed, behold! in cloth of gold,
Appeared the daffodil.

Take Your Seats for Cairo.

"Cairo in the rear; Calcutta forward."
This sort of cry now may soon become familiar to travellers by air, for a new kind of aerial trailer has been invented by Mr. Fokker, who designed the aeroplane which bears his name.

His invention renders possible an aerial train, sections of which may be slipped and can glide to earth with safety at any suitable place on the route of the journey.

This will be the need for the whole aeroplane train to land at each air station on a long trip, and considerable time may be saved in this way.

Experiments are being carried out to demonstrate the possibility of aeroplanes picking up packages from the ground when in full flight. The tests have been made with tins of petrol. A kind of grappling-hook, with an automatic spring attachment at the end, has been used, and the fuel has been lifted from the ground to the machine without accident.

It is believed that boxes of merchandise could be treated in the same way.

TELLS DYSPEPTICS WHAT TO EAT

Avoid indigestion, sour acid stomach, heartburn, gas on stomach, etc.

Indigestion and practically all forms of stomach trouble, say medical authorities, are due nine times out of ten to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach. Chronic acid stomach is exceedingly dangerous and sufferers should do either one of two things:

Either they can go on a limited and often disagreeable diet of foods that disagree with them, thus irritate the stomach and lead to excess acid secretion or they can eat as they please in reason and make it a practice to counteract the effect of the harmful acid and prevent the formation of gas, sourness or premature fermentation by the use of a little Bismarck Magnesia at their meals.

There is probably no better, safer or more reliable stomach antacid than Bismarck Magnesia and it is widely used for this purpose. It has no direct action on the stomach and is not indigestible. But a teaspoonful of the powder or a couple of five grain tablets taken in a little water with the food will neutralize the excess acidity which may be present and prevent its further formation. This removes the whole cause of the trouble and the most digestible naturally and healthfully without need of special pills or artificial digestants.

Get a few quinces of Bismarck Magnesia from any reliable drug store. Ask for either powder or tablets. It never comes as a liquid, milk or citrate and the bisulphate form is not a laxative. Try this plan and eat what you want at all times, and you will see if this isn't the best advice you ever had on "what to eat."

Cooking Meals by Sun's Heat.

You have only to put your hand on a stone on a bright sunny day to realize how much heat the sun is in the means of a lens, focus them to a point on a piece of paper, and it is not long before a hole is burned.

If we could collect and use this heat we should have a vast source of power that would cost nothing.

Dr. C. G. Abbot, a British scientist who has been experimenting in this direction for some time, uses a series of mirrors which are so curved that they focus the sun's rays like lenses. A clockwork mechanism turns them so that they follow the sun as it moves across the sky.

The hot rays are directed on to a boiler coated with dull black paint, this color being used because it soaks in heat. The boiler is filled not with water, but with oil, which can absorb a far greater amount of heat and retain it for a longer time.

Last summer Dr. Abbot did the whole of his cooking by solar heat. Pipes from a boiler allowed the hot oil to circulate around stoves and so long did the oil retain its heat that he was able to cook an evening meal even if the afternoon had been cloudy.

The solar oven is only a beginning. If we can cook food in this way we can use the heat to do the thousand and one things that are now done by us with coal and other fuels.

Winter Fishing.

Lake Winipeg is expected to produce upward of 1,500,000 pounds of whitefish this season, in addition to a large catch of pickerel, jackfish and tullibee. The coarser fish are exceptionally plentiful this season. Lakes Manitoba and St. Martin are also being extensively fished.

AFTER EFFECT WAS WORSE THAN FLU

TORONTO WOMAN SAYS SHE WAS LEFT ALMOST HELPLESS.

Digestion Ruined and Nerves Shattered She Could Find No Relief. Tanlac Again Proves Merit.

"I have all the faith in the world in Tanlac for it has certainly been a joy and blessing to me," declared Mrs. Robert Dawson, 571 Church St., Toronto, Ont.

"The flu a year ago is what broke my health down," she stated. "I had pneumonia following the flu and was down in bed seven weeks and was left almost a wreck. For some time I was unable to get around as I was so weak I was almost helpless. My appetite was gone, my nerves were almost shattered and my whole system seemed to be disordered. I suffered from headaches and dizzy spells, couldn't sleep well and just seemed to be troubled in one way and another all the time."

"But I'm so glad I gave Tanlac a trial for it was just the thing I needed. My appetite returned and my nerves quieted down and by the time I finished my sixth bottle I was in just splendid health. Tanlac is a grand medicine. It certainly proved to be a 'friend in need' in my case."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists. —Advt.

Her Mother's Faith in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Led Her To Try It

Kenosha, Wisconsin.—"I cannot say enough in praise of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. My mother had great faith in it as she had taken so much of it and when I had trouble after my baby was born she gave it to me. The Boy Who Started to Town With a Hundred Dollars

The advice they gave him for getting on in the world was simple and familiar enough: "Keep what you have, and build on it. Be careful what you do and it will grow into more."

It's a safe rule—with money or health, but a good many overlook the rule with health, until they have lost what they had. Then it's hard to get a new supply.

and it's free from any disturbing element.

You can begin with Postum today, with an order to your grocer. The road to health is a good road for anybody to follow. "Say what you have, and build on it," is sound policy for everybody.

Postum comes in two forms: Instant Postum, (in tin) made instantly in the cup by the addition of boiling water. Postum-Cereal (in packages of larger bulk, for those who prefer to make the drink while the meal is being prepared) by boiling for 20 minutes. Sold by all grocers.
