J. H. STEPHENSON
EXPERT WATCH REPAIRER
The Horse as a Motor
He is Largely a Self-Feeder—Does Not Rust When Resting—Has Horse Sense.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture—Toronto.) The horse is, and will continue to be, the principal farm motor for an indefinite period. There are approximately 1,500,000 horses in Canada, all of which are used as a source of motor power. One and a half million may not seem to be a large number, but if we were to place the horses in the Dominion head and tail in one long parade line, they would reach from Halifax to Vancouver. So there is some horse flesh left in Canada, notwithstanding statements to the contrary by people interested in the manufacture of mechanical motors.

About the Farm Horse.
The farm horse as a farm motor differs from the mechanical farm motor in that it is self-feeding, self-maintaining, self-reproducing, and self-controlling. These qualities give the horse a tremendous advantage over the mechanical devices used for field work on the farms and for hauling on the roads.

The Horse Largely a Self-Feeder.
Self-feeding means a lot. There is no carture on the horse; nor are spare plugs required. Green grass, root clean hay and oats, the products of the field in which the horse labors, produce the energy that keeps up the horse's body, and keeps him going as a motor truck while labor is being performed.

The Animal Motor a Reliable One.
Within the horse's body cavity there is a wonderful self-maintaining motor. The heart, the lungs, and the digestive organs make an engine combination of great efficiency. This hidden motor made of flesh, blood and tissue keeps light, and makes its own repairs. Furthermore, the horse motor develops pep, or places, in reserve energizing substances that may be used on demand. The mechanical motor when at rest does not improve nor grow stronger as does the horse, but frequently wastes, or rusts. The high cost of gasoline, oil and motor mechanic service, together with the too frequent neglect that is unwisely accorded tractors on many farms, has reacted to the advantage of the faithful horse.

Old Dobbin Has Horse Sense.
Old Dobbin is also possessed of horse sense. No mechanical motor yet devised has possessed this function. Fuel for the horse motor is grown on the farm, and all profits remain on the farm. There is no tax on it either. Lionel Stevenson, Secretary, Department of Agriculture, Toronto.

Mrs. John Wright

(The Durham Chronicle)
Mrs. John Wright, an aged and respected resident of the town died on Thursday last, after an illness of several weeks. Her maiden name was Naomi Cooper and she was born near Toronto eighty years ago on the 27th of March. When about eighteen years of age she left for the township of Brent, near Walkerton, but in a short time moved to Eramosa, where she was married on the 15th of January, 1853, to the late John Wright, who died on the 2nd of August last year. After marriage, the then young couple commenced homemaking in Guelph, where Mr. Wright followed his trade as a baker. Subsequently they moved to Rockwood, and about thirty years ago moved to Durham.

To them were born twelve children, of whom only three survive, as follows: Samuel, in Kingston; Mrs. J. G.
Matthews, in Markdale and Mrs. A. C.
Traylor, in Bentinck. One sister, Miss Cooper, who made her home with the deceased for a number of years, is the sole survivor of a family of five.

The deceased lady was an estimable resident, honest and honorable in all her dealings, and highly esteemed in the community and in the Methodist church, where she was a consistent and devoted member and a regular attender while able. During her late illness she had the careful attention of her daughters, Mrs. Matthews and Mrs. Traylor, and her sister Miss Cooper, but at the age of four score years she was not to be nursed back to health and vigour.

Her funeral service was conducted at the home by the pastor, Rev. Mr.
Cole, who made touching reference to the good qualities of the deceased and of her loyalty and her devotion to her church and family. Interment was made in Durham cemetery.

Death of Mr. W. E. Wells

The death of a former well-known resident of Markdale occurred on Wednesday, of last week, in the person of Mr. William Edward Wells, in the General and Marine hospital, Owen-sound, after an illness lasting for some time.

The late Mr. Wells came to Canada as a young boy from England. For some time he lived near Chesley and later moved to near Markdale and then to Owen Sound three years ago.
He was twice married and is survived by his wife, who was Miss Elizabeth Cottis. The following of the family survive: Henry Wells, of Alliston; C.
H. Wells, Sask.; R. S. Wells, Strath-roy, Ont.; Mrs. W. G. Irwin, of Owen Sound; Mrs. Henry Barnett, Sask.; Miss Susie E. Mary G. and Annie of London, daughters.

The funeral took place Thursday afternoon at Greenwood Cemetery, the Rev. P. T. Pilkey officiating.

Methodist Church Notes

Farewell, O' Shield. After a brief sojourn in Markdale you must dwell in Dundalk for at least one year. And surely you go sojourn against your will. Didn't we treat you well? Cheer up. You'll be back. It's simply a temporary separation. We know it isn't a case of desertion, but rather one of abduction. There'll always be a light in the window and the latch string hangs out. The League extends its thanks to Miss McLoughry, who represented it in three debates; and to Miss Edna McHugh, Mr. Clarence Ewing and Mrs. Birch, each one of whom took part in one debate, also to Mr. Messenger, the faithful guardian of its interests in the judges' room. Incidentally, congratulations are extended to Dundalk.
They were worthy opponents for whom Markdale have much respect and admiration.

Prayer meeting on Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock.
Next Sunday the services will be conducted by Rev. T. W. F. G. Andrews, of Dundalk, who is exchange-ing work for the day with the local pastor.
District Meeting will be held on May 30th, at Walters Falls. The financial year is about closed. All contributions for this Conference Year, no matter for what object they are intended, ought to be "in."

Received Call

A call to Rev. J. Thurburn-Corn, Markdale, from Chateaugay, has been sustained by the Presbytery of Montreal, and will be considered at a meeting of the Owen Sound Presbytery in Wharfedale on May 30th.
Mr. Corn, we understand, has declined to accept the call and his removal from Markdale in the near future is almost a certainty. He has been here nearly six years, having come to Markdale in November, 1916, and during this time he has been one of the town's most foremost citizens as well as one of the county's best orators. To have a man of such forceful ability as a distinct asset to the Village, and his removal will be regretted by all classes.
We understand that the Presbyteri-al church here, under his care, has always been in excellent condition and that the different departments have been advanced during his pastorate. His ability as a preacher has been recognized, even beyond his own parish of labour, and his services have been much in demand.
It is understood that the church membership here will oppose his translation, and those outside the presbyterian church could assist materially in retaining Mr. Corn in the town by organizing and appearing before the Presbytery at Wharfedale.

This and That

(By The Janitor.)
Some drivers appear to think they have the only auto on the road.
Fishing, to some people, is a disease, while to others it's only a waste of time.
Thought produces action. If you are not prepared to act on your thoughts, why waste time thinking?
Going to church becomes a habit with some people, while staying away from church is a habit with a good many others.
"Luck" gets credit for the success of a great many people, but without effort, their "luck" wouldn't have amounted to much.
Being a good fellow, at your own expense, may be a good way to become popular for a while, but it's a mighty expensive way to buy popularity.
A man without ambition is much like an auto without gasoline: It takes considerable energy on the part of some person to get either of them to move.

Greater Tea Consumption In Great Britain

The reduction of the English duty on tea by four pence a pound will undoubtedly result in greater consumption on the part of the public of Great Britain, which is now, by far, the largest tea-consuming country in the world. This increased demand will tend to raise the present abnormally high market, and an increase in cost of teas throughout the world may be expected.
