"Don't Worry About Me"
Tom's Assuring Message

On a little farm away up north Tom lived with his parents and one brother. His father well up in years found himself unable to continue the hard work of farming, so Tom took up the burden. The income was not large, and the lad signed up with a lumber gang working nearby—sawing logs, stripping bark and driving the teams. Altogether these two jobs, farmer and lumberman, kept his day so well filled that he had time for little more than sleep. Nature rebelling at this heavy burden—consumption claimed another victim.

After trying various ways to overcome his physical weakness, he went to the Muskoka Hospital. His parents are anxious about him, they send the other son to see him often, for they are old and feeble and journeying is a hazardous undertaking to them. Tom's own troubles are never so real to him that he forgets others. He asks for those about him, lives for little bits of news about his home, and never fails to send this message back, "Don't worry about me. The people here sure do treat you white."

The sessions of the Grey County Council held in Owen Sound last week were not productive of anything out of the ordinary routine business, which also includes the usual amount of useless discussion, in which a few members are always very conspicuous.
