

The Pioneers

BY KATHARINE SUSANNAH PRICHARD

Copyright by Hodder and Stoughton.

CHAPTER XL. (Cont'd.)
It's great times we had together, er, me and him," said Schoolmaster asked. "I don't like going without you, but it's better. It's great times we've had together, though.
I'm an old bird! devil that wouldn't be able to look after you properly in the town. It's not a nice place for a girl to be going about in; and I'd be more than a burden. Pete had all the guide and take me by the track round the swamp to McNaib's. He says he couldn't do the short cut across the swamp, but he knows the roundabout track, all right. We'll have to be busy on Davey's account then. You're good to Davey, though.
The day's long when he gets home. But you do love me, too, don't you, darling.
Lack head? For God's sake say you love me!"

His voice broke.
Deirdre flung her arms about him rockingly, all but that some trouble was still forcing their cry. There was a bitter emotion in the eyes that she did not understand, although she associated them in some way with Davey's mother and the disturbance and mental turmoil into which Davey's arrest had put him.

"I love you," she cried, "more than all the world—more than Davey, more than the house or anything in it!" He started in surprise.
"What a peasant brute I am," he murmured, "to have taken that from you."

"There's nothing you haven't told me!" she asked, searching his face.
"No," he replied, turning his face from her and burying it in his hair.
"I haven't told you anything at all of what you're going to do to get Davey off," she said sharply.
"Oh, well," he retorted, "if I don't know—well, I haven't decided, don't worry about circumstances."

He recognized the anxiety of her voice.

"You aren't going to try and get him off by letting yourself in, his name, I suppose?" she asked sharply.
"Yes, I am," she said firmly.
"Oh, no!" the Schoolmaster laughed easily. "I wouldn't try to do that!"

He went out to the stable-yard.
When the Kangaroo was saddled, he rode Deirdre to the inn again.
Deirdre flung herself down into the saddle, the riding being neglected the instant that Pete Mc-Nab, one of Steve's horses, a few yards behind him. The thought of the fury of his troubled heart. Why had he come? McNaib's sake, pay my love me!"

The flood of her love for him rose and Deirdre lost the idea of all else except him. She had been so anxious of his confinement, of his garison, of the life of his wife, that because it had reached the depth and power of that passionate affection, but now that he had called for it, showed his need of

An INVINCIBLE Treat

Everyone in the family will enjoy the delicious desserts made by MELARREN'S INVINCIBLE Jell Powders.

Sixteen Fruit Flavours: Easy to make Economical
1 Package Serves Eight People.

Ask for MELARREN'S
INVINCIBLE

Made by MELARREN'S LIMITED Hamilton and Whitchurch.

The Canadian Pacific Railway

WILL FIND

Farm Help for Eastern Farmers

TO BE OF SERVICE to Eastern needs in securing competent farm help, the Canadian Pacific Railway is prepared to utilize its widespread network of connections.

THE CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY will now receive and arrange to fill applications for farm help to be placed in England, Scotland, Ireland, France, Belgium, Holland, Denmark, Switzerland and Norway, in all of which countries the Company has representatives who have farmed in and are familiar with the conditions. Applications for farm help may be submitted in writing to the Canadian Pacific Railway, Montreal, Quebec, Canada, or to any office of the Company in the United States.

THE GOVERNMENT of the Dominion above mentioned has expressed their willingness to aid the immigration of this class of their people. In order to fill such applications satisfactorily and bring the help to the farms in the proper manner, the Canadian Pacific Railway has made arrangements and has prepared a printed Application for Farm Help which has been prepared which can be obtained from any of the offices listed below.

The Canadian Pacific Railway will make no charge to the farmer for this service nor will the farmer be required to make any cash advance whatsoever towards the traveling expenses of his help to the nearest railway station. The form of application is as follows:

The Canadian Pacific Railway will make no charge to the farmer for this service nor will
the farmer be required to make any cash advance whatsoever towards the traveling expenses of his help to the nearest railway station. The form of application is as follows:

MONTRAL, P.Q.—Gen. Agricultural Agent, C.P.R.
KENTVILLE, N.S.—Geo. E. Graham, Gen. Mgr., Dominion Atlantic Ry.

Department of Colonization and Development Canadian Pacific Railway

7. DENNIS, Chief Commissioneer, Montreal.

After Every Meal

WRIGLEY'S

The Great Canadian Sweetened provides pleasant action for your teeth, also penetrating the crevices and cleansing them.

Then, too, it aids digestion.

Use WRIGLEY'S after every meal—see how much better you WILL feel.

The Flavor Lasts
D97

About the House

Entertainment for the Child.

It is not the purpose of this article to teach you to entertain your child but rather to tell you how to teach your child to entertain himself. His older brothers and sisters are at school and it is often a problem to find some clean and healthy amusements for the little tot.

I do not agree with many mothers who think their child should be taught to be a paragon of neatness and cleanliness.
While the precepts of order and tidiness must be impressed on the plastic minds of our children, we can not expect them to be contented and happy if never allowed to indulge in any of the amusements dear to the hearts of the little folks, such as blowing soap bubbles or cutting paper.
Of course, it makes mothers more work but it does not make a disagreeable litter to sweep up and either amusement is clean. They both help to develop the child's imagination and love of creation, that is a natural trait in any normal child.

We save all the scraps of paper and now that the older children are in school, our little tot spends many happy hours making scrap books. He cuts the paper the right size and with twine and darning needle, sews the sheets together. In these books he pastes bright pictures which he cuts from seed catalogs or magazines. After the little fellow becomes tired of this amusement, he is old that it is time to gather up the scrap papers. He thinks he is helping and is certainly not having the idea instilled in his mind that he is to be waited on, but rather, that he must do his part.

If the child is inclined toward a liking for books he should be given every opportunity to develop along this line. It is the early training that forms a good foundation for his school training. He will spend many happy hours matching himself acquainted with the characters of his picture book that will help in forming his early impressions.

Four English boys went to bathe in Inglemore Pond, near Asolo, in England. One of them, who shall be called Tommy, walked into the water to the depth of four feet, when he spread out his hands and tried to swim.

At that instant a large fish came up and took the boy whole hand into its mouth, but finding itself unable to swallow it relinquished its hold, and the boy, turning round, prepared for a mighty retreat. His companions, who saw the fish, scrambled out of the pond as fast as possible.

Tommy had scarcely turned around before the fish again took the nail of his hand.

Deirdre knew the meaning of the trick. She had heard it often. It was an old dodge to discover escaped conicts, this clinking of a chain near
a man who had worn iron shoes. She never forgot the sound they made when he moved. The rage that burned
in her heart kept her silent a moment.

Deirdre put the milk in its place.
"What have you done to him?" she cried, facing
McNaib.

He took a heavy chain from his pocket. It clinked with a dull, slow sound.

Steve started from his chair.

"Oh, send him away, Deirdre, send him away!" he sobbed.

Deirdre knew the meaning of the
trick. She had heard it often. It was
an old dodge to discover escaped
conicts, this clinking of a chain near
a man who had worn iron
shoes. She never forgot the sound they
made when he moved. The rage that burned
in her heart kept her silent a moment.

Deirdre put the milk in its place.
"What have you done to him?" she cried, facing
McNaib.

He took a heavy chain from his
pocket. It clinked with a dull, slow sound.

Steve started from his chair.

"Oh, send him away, Deirdre, send
him away!" he sobbed.

Deirdre knew the meaning of the
trick. She had heard it often. It was
an old dodge to discover escaped
conicts, this clinking of a chain near
a man who had worn iron
shoes. She never forgot the sound they
made when he moved. The rage that burned
in her heart kept her silent a moment.

Deirdre put the milk in its place.
"What have you done to him?" she cried, facing
McNaib.

He took a heavy chain from his
pocket. It clinked with a dull, slow sound.

Steve started from his chair.

"Oh, send him away, Deirdre, send
him away!" he sobbed.

Deirdre knew the meaning of the
trick. She had heard it often. It was
an old dodge to discover escaped
conicts, this clinking of a chain near
a man who had worn iron
shoes. She never forgot the sound they
made when he moved. The rage that burned
in her heart kept her silent a moment.

Deirdre put the milk in its place.
"What have you done to him?" she cried, facing
McNaib.

He took a heavy chain from his
pocket. It clinked with a dull, slow sound.

Steve started from his chair.

"Oh, send him away, Deirdre, send
him away!" he sobbed.

Deirdre knew the meaning of the
trick. She had heard it often. It was
an old dodge to discover escaped
conicts, this clinking of a chain near
a man who had worn iron
shoes. She never forgot the sound they
made when he moved. The rage that burned
in her heart kept her silent a moment.

Deirdre put the milk in its place.
"What have you done to him?" she cried, facing
McNaib.

He took a heavy chain from his
pocket. It clinked with a dull, slow sound.

Steve started from his chair.

"Oh, send him away, Deirdre, send
him away!" he sobbed.

Deirdre knew the meaning of the
trick. She had heard it often. It was
an old dodge to discover escaped
conicts, this clinking of a chain near
a man who had worn iron
shoes. She never forgot the sound they
made when he moved. The rage that burned
in her heart kept her silent a moment.

Deirdre put the milk in its place.
"What have you done to him?" she cried, facing
McNaib.

He took a heavy chain from his
pocket. It clinked with a dull, slow sound.

Steve started from his chair.

"Oh, send him away, Deirdre, send
him away!" he sobbed.

Deirdre knew the meaning of the
trick. She had heard it often. It was
an old dodge to discover escaped
conicts, this clinking of a chain near
a man who had worn iron
shoes. She never forgot the sound they
made when he moved. The rage that burned
in her heart kept her silent a moment.

Deirdre put the milk in its place.
"What have you done to him?" she cried, facing
McNaib.

He took a heavy chain from his
pocket. It clinked with a dull, slow sound.

Steve started from his chair.

"Oh, send him away, Deirdre, send
him away!" he sobbed.

Deirdre knew the meaning of the
trick. She had heard it often. It was
an old dodge to discover escaped
conicts, this clinking of a chain near
a man who had worn iron
shoes. She never forgot the sound they
made when he moved. The rage that burned
in her heart kept her silent a moment.

Deirdre put the milk in its place.
"What have you done to him?" she cried, facing
McNaib.

He took a heavy chain from his
pocket. It clinked with a dull, slow sound.

Steve started from his chair.

"Oh, send him away, Deirdre, send
him away!" he sobbed.

Deirdre knew the meaning of the
trick. She had heard it often. It was
an old dodge to discover escaped
conicts, this clinking of a chain near
a man who had worn iron
shoes. She never forgot the sound they
made when he moved. The rage that burned
in her heart kept her silent a moment.

Deirdre put the milk in its place.
"What have you done to him?" she cried, facing
McNaib.

He took a heavy chain from his
pocket. It clinked with a dull, slow sound.

Steve started from his chair.

"Oh, send him away, Deirdre, send
him away!" he sobbed.

Deirdre knew the meaning of the
trick. She had heard it often. It was
an old dodge to discover escaped
conicts, this clinking of a chain near
a man who had worn iron
shoes. She never forgot the sound they
made when he moved. The rage that burned
in her heart kept her silent a moment.

Deirdre put the milk in its place.
"What have you done to him?" she cried, facing
McNaib.

He took a heavy chain from his
pocket. It clinked with a dull, slow sound.

Steve started from his chair.

"Oh, send him away, Deirdre, send
him away!" he sobbed.

Deirdre knew the meaning of the
trick. She had heard it often. It was
an old dodge to discover escaped
conicts, this clinking of a chain near
a man who had worn iron
shoes. She never forgot the sound they
made when he moved. The rage that burned
in her heart kept her silent a moment.

Deirdre put the milk in its place.
"What have you done to him?" she cried, facing
McNaib.

He took a heavy chain from his
pocket. It clinked with a dull, slow sound.

Steve started from his chair.

"Oh, send him away, Deirdre, send
him away!" he sobbed.

Deirdre knew the meaning of the
trick. She had heard it often. It was
an old dodge to discover escaped
conicts, this clinking of a chain near
a man who had worn iron
shoes. She never forgot the sound they
made when he moved. The rage that burned
in her heart kept her silent a moment.

Deirdre put the milk in its place.
"What have you done to him?" she cried, facing
McNaib.

He took a heavy chain from his
pocket. It clinked with a dull, slow sound.

Steve started from his chair.

"Oh, send him away, Deirdre, send
him away!" he sobbed.

Deirdre knew the meaning of the
trick. She had heard it often. It was
an old dodge to discover escaped
conicts, this clinking of a chain near
a man who had worn iron
shoes. She never forgot the sound they
made when he moved. The rage that burned
in her heart kept her silent a moment.

Deirdre put the milk in its place.
"What have you done to him?" she cried, facing
McNaib.

He took a heavy chain from his
pocket. It clinked with a dull, slow