

Canada from Coast to Coast

Halifax, N.S.—An extension of fifteen days, from June 1 to June 15, has been made in the lobster fishing season on the Nova Scotia coast from Halifax westward. This action was taken because, owing to the backward spring practically no lobsters have yet been landed, although the season opened on March 1.

St. Stephen, N.J.—That the Hollingsworth-Whitney Corp., large pulp and paper manufacturers of the United States, would erect a pulp and paper mill here, was the statement made by David Maxwell, well known railway engineer of this town. He said that large tracts of land had been purchased by this corporation, and that they had secured water power rights on the St. Croix River.

Quebec, Que.—A conference was held here recently between representatives of the Quebec and New Brunswick forestry departments to arrange for co-operation between the two provinces for protection against forest fires. Forest rangers of both provinces will co-operate to such an extent that it is understood they may work in either province at border points.

Iroquois Falls, Ont.—A new production record is reported from the mill of the Abitibi Paper and Paper Co. recently, when the machine turned out half a ton over five hundred tons. Since the three machines were installed, almost two years ago, they have been gradually creeping up in speed and production until this winter they practically reached capacity.

TO ENIRCLE GLOBE IN ONE AIR MACHINE

British Airmen Will Make Another Attempt Within the Next Few Weeks.

A despatch from London says: Captain Norman Macmillan and Captain Geoffrey H. Midans, who last year covered 10,000 miles in an attempted flight around the world, but had to abandon the venture when they had a breakdown in the Bay of Bengal, intend continuing from that point within a few weeks.

The attempt is to be made in one month the exact build of which is secret. Their route will be by way of Japan, the Kurile Islands and Kamchatka, following the line of the Aleutian Islands to Southern Alaska and Vancouver.

They expect to cross Canada and the United States to New York; thence north to Halifax, Newfoundland and Greenland and back to London by way of Iceland, the Shetlands, the Orkneys and Scotland.

A steam yacht will voyage to Southern Alaska with a special crew of adventurers in charge of captain Roger Pocock, of the Legion of Frontiersmen, in order to plant sixteen store dumps along the chain of islands between the North Pacific and the Bering Sea, for the use of aviators. On certain of the islands one or two of the ship's company will be marooned as a stores guard.

Duchess Called "Lazybones Lion" by Lancashire Girl

A despatch from London says:—The name of Elizabeth Bowes-Lyon, now Duchess of York, whose marriage to the second son of King George and Queen Mary, was solemnized in Westminster Abbey on April 26, has proved a stumbling block to many persons, but to more than a little Lancashire lass who, explaining why she was not at school that day, said it was because the Duke of York was "weddin' a Lazybones Lion."

England is asking for Canadian canned fruits from the most westerly part of the Dominion, Vancouver Island. A local canning factory was recently asked by a London firm if they could make shipment of 50,000 cases of canned loganberries. There is a considerable quantity of loganberries produced on the Island, and it is hoped that a permanent trade in this commodity may be developed with England.

RUSSIAN CHEF ASSASSINATED AT LAUSANNE, TWO ASSOCIATES WOUNDED

M. Vorovsky Shot and Killed Outright While Dining in Lausanne Hotel—Swiss Murderer Surrendered to Police

A despatch from Lausanne says:—M. Vorovsky, an unblown guest from Soviet Russia at the "Lausanne" conference, dead, slain by a Swiss, formerly an officer, in the Russian service, and two of his lieutenants were seriously wounded, each with two bullets in his body.

One of the wounded is Hermann Ahren, a Bolshevik from Berlin, who was the Russian press agent at both the first and second Lausanne conferences; the other is J. Dzhivilevitch, Vorovsky's young Russian secretary.

The assassin, whose name is Maurice Alexander Conradi, and whose home was in the Canton of Grisons, was seized immediately after he shot the three Russians while they were dining at the Hotel Cecil, headquarters of the Russian delegation.

Most of the guests in the dining-room had finished dinner when the assassin drew his revolver and advanced quickly, fired upon the Russians. The first bullet struck Vorovsky below the ear. He fell across the table and uttered no word; probably he died immediately. He was struck by other bullets also.

A Swiss who is always armed, drew his weapon after being shot twice, but before he could use it a waiter seized his arm, apparently fearing for the safety of the guests, who were closing the doorways.

The assassin, however, kept on firing, shooting Ahren and Dzhivilevitch. Then he walked up to the proprietor of the hotel, surrendered his weapon and said he would wait for the police. Panic pervaded the hotel; it was half an hour before the police arrived. Meanwhile, the wounded men had been carried to their rooms, in an unconscious condition, but Ahren soon regained his senses long enough to say:

"Switzerland will pay dearly for this."

By some the murder of Vorovsky is regarded as a tragic sequel to his attacks on the Swiss Government for refusing a visa for a Russian courier to Berlin. The recently organized Fascisti took up the matter and warned Vorovsky and his colleagues to leave Lausanne immediately. Vorovsky ignored the warning.

The leaders of the Fascisti, however, claimed responsibility for the crime. They asserted that the only plan they had in view was to kidnap Vorovsky and escort him over the Swiss frontier.

The assassin Conradi told the police who was born in Petrograd, of Swiss parentage. He said he served as a captain in the Russian army during the world war.

They are typical of the families which are being attracted to this country under the new immigration plans. They are of spindle stock, and bring with them the traditions which have made Scotch men and women ideal settlers.

CHANGES IN ORGANIZATION OF TORONTO GENERAL HOSPITAL TO BE RECONSIDERED

Government Committee Brings in Eighteen Recommendations Effecting the Administration of the University of Toronto.

The special committee appointed by the Provincial Government to investigate the administration of the University of Toronto has completed its task. Its report contains eighteen recommendations, set forth in the summary section 16 of the summary of recommendations.

In dealing with the relation of the Eaton and Rockefeller gifts to changes in organization, the committee finds that they did have a bearing on the reorganization and it recommends that, in future private endowments should not be accepted unless given unconditionally.

The following is a summary of the recommendations:

1. That the relationship between the University of Toronto and the Federated Colleges, having proved at all times eminently satisfactory, be not disturbed.

2. That the present methods of financing the university be continued.

3. That (a) plans for the erection of new buildings and extensions, and substantial alterations on existing buildings; and (b) terms of gifts preferred to the university, be subject to the approval of the Senate before their acceptance by the board of governors.

7. That generous provision be made for the furtherance of the efforts of those engaged in scientific research.

8. That the composition of the council of the faculty of medicine be revised, so as to enable lecturers and instructors in the clinical departments to vote after serving as assessors for three years, and restricting the franchise in the primary (non-clinical) departments to full professors only.

9. That the status of the Ontario College of Education be continued as at present.

10. That the city of Toronto contribute towards the support of the university and with better results at the end of his college term. Besides, the cost of an extra year in the collegiate would be less than that at the university, an important consideration to parents in these days of financial stress.

Of great interest to the university graduates—many of whom fought for alumni representation on the Board of Governors—the committee expresses itself, as quite won over to the proposition, and recommends that the Federated Alumni Association of the University of Toronto be entitled to elect eight Governors out of the total of twenty-four by direct election.

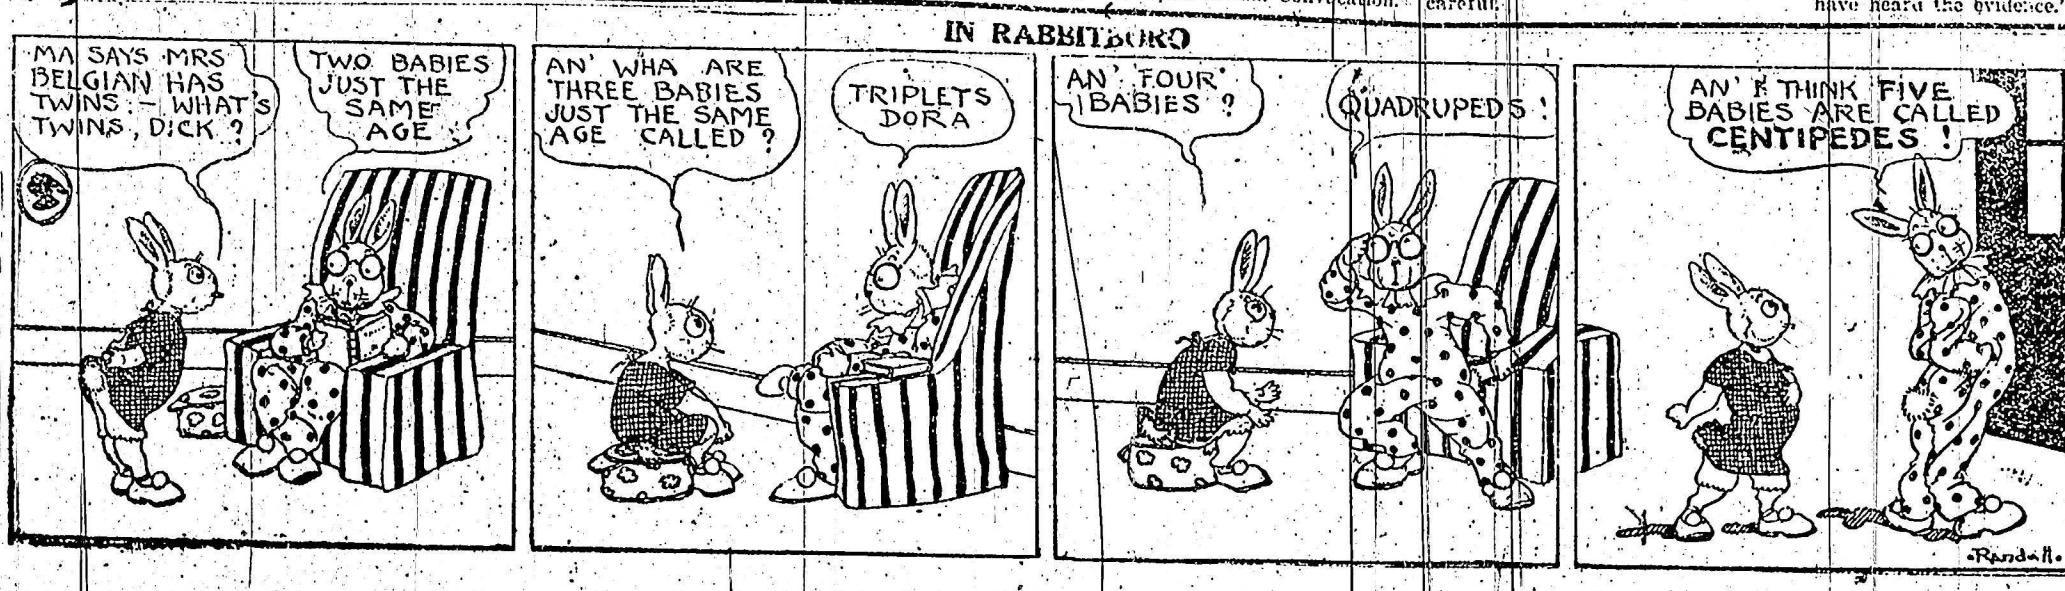

Also of interest to all graduates is the fact that the Alumni Federation is to take the place of Convocation, which had become virtually obsolete as constituted under the Act.

It is recommended that the City of Toronto contribute to the support of the university in a measure commensurate with the benefits accruing to the city as the seat of the Empire's largest university. It is estimated that the sum of $3,000,000 is expended in the city annually by the college and the students, and another $500,000 saved to the city, without taking into consideration money expended in new buildings, which provide employment for Toronto workers.

In regard to the re-organization of Toronto General Hospital the report reads: "In connection with the release of certain doctors from the hospital staff, the committee considers that the Board of Governors and the trustees of the hospital, respectively, showed a regrettable lack of consideration for, and appreciation of the valuable and efficient services rendered to the university and the hospital for many years by those whose services were abruptly and irregularly terminated.

Natural Resources Bulletin

The Natural Resources Intelligence Service of the Department of the Interior at Ottawa says:

Of the total output of salt in Canada last year, 187,463 tons, Ontario produced 161,651 tons. This was valued at $1,637,512. In 1921, 149,599 tons was produced, valued at $1,569,287. Nova Scotia is the only other province contributing to Canada's salt production with the exception of a few tons used annually in the Northwest Territories from the salt springs on the Salt River. The Nova Scotia salt is used almost exclusively for fish curing and land salt. The finer qualities are all produced in Ontario. The salt industry is largely centred in the south-western portion of the province.
