EFFICIENT FARMING

SPONTANEOUS COMBUSTION IN HAY MOWS AND THE ANNUAL FIRE LOSS IN ONTARIO.

The farmers of Ontario have just begun to realize, so says Prof. W. C. Blackwood of the Ontario Agricultural College, that each and every one of them is bound by the laws of national economy to play his part in the attempt to wipe out the disgrace of the past few years, when millions of dollars have been lost in the destruction of the best farm buildings. There is nothing surer than the fact that if a farmer persists in putting into the barn poorly cured, or moist hay, sooner or later his turn will come to stand the total loss of his buildings and crops through spontaneous combustion of the hay.

ERADICATE THE THISTLE.

The Canada thistle can be eradicated if thorough work is done at the right time, says J. E. Howitt of the Botany Department, O.A. College.

1st By early after harvest cultivation of stubble ground.

2nd By careful and persistent spading done in such a way as to prevent the plants developing above ground.

3rd By frequent introduction of hoed crops into the rotation.

4th By seeding with clover, taking one or two crops of hay, plowing shallowly after harvest, and cultivating frequently through the fall.

5th By summer fallowing.

CANADIAN VARIETIES OF FARM CROPS GROWN AT HERTZ'S DELIGHT FARM, CHAZY, N.Y.

The Heart's Delight Farm at Chazy, New York State, consisting of eleven thousand acres, is one of the most noted farms in America. It is interesting to learn, when on a recent visit to this farm, that the hundreds of acres of spring grains under cultivation were, in all instances, varieties which had been originated in Canada; the oats and the barley at Chazy, and the spring wheat at Ottawa. The O.A.C. No. 104 variety of winter wheat, originated at Chazy more recently, was being tested out.

JULY SEEDING OF SWEET CLOVER

Experiments at the Ontario Agricultural College, conducted within the past few years, show excellent results from seeding sweet clover alone in the month of July. The seedlings in which took place later than July were curing and storing crops with unsatisfactory results.

Painters on Painting by a Painter

A Business Where a Little Knowledge Often Saves Many Dollars

BY CLIVE B. PRICE.

One can rarely say that fifty per cent of the farmers' buildings in Canada need painting. The author's research into this question when crossing the country a few years ago, led to the discovery that the basic over two different routes and noticing the condition of the buildings along the right-of-way in the country through which he passed.

If you are among the fifty per cent who have buildings needing paint, and you paint them this year, you will have made an investment that will be offset, under two ways. It will not more than what it cost you to the value of your buildings. However, the main reason for painting when completed of a good quality of ingredients properly mixed and skillfully applied is to form a complete weather-proof covering to all the wood and metal in your structure.

Without this protection, both wood and metal soon deteriorate. Although the usual procedure followed in getting a job of painting done is to call on competitive bidders in the work and let the job to the lowest bidder, one should have some knowledge of just what a good paint consists of and how it is applied. It is definitely stated in the contract as to the kind of material to be used and how applied.

A job done with this kind of oil will look like white lead, but at the end of thirty days it will have the appearance of a job of kalsomining. Fish oil is sometimes used to adulterate linseed oil. In this case the binding qualities of your linseed oil is weakened in proportion to the amount of fish oil used.

dryers give the best results with peeling oils.

The most important feature in getting a good job of painting done is to see to it that all surfaces to be painted are first properly prepared.

All scale and blister should be removed with a steel scraper or steel brush. All surfaces where the oil will be applied should be kept thoroughly with a steel brush or a good stiff scrubbing-brush. If a good grade of paint is now used and well brushed in on the first coat, you will have a job of painting that will last and look well when the cheap jobs are being done again.

Haymaking Hints.

There is an old saying, "Make hay while the sun shines," with which Prof. Wade Toole of the O. A. College agrees—and fortunate is the farmer who gets sunshine for the job. However, with hay to harvest, one cannot always wait for the weather. It is better to be prepared for the weather than to be caught by it. It is better to have a good hay that will be cut at the proper time. It must have sufficient maturity to ensure curing quality, but not so mature that it will be too dry when it is cut. Sweet clover should be cut in the late bud stage. Alfalfa should be cut just as it begins to blossom and the new shoots are starting at the base of the plants. Red clover is handled to best advantage when approximately one-third of the blossoms have turned brown, and timothy just after a cutting sweet clover two methods are followed. Perhaps cutting with the binder and stacking on like grain would be the best method.

John's Intolerance, Luke 9:49-55.

In a valuable study of New Testament characters, Rev. George Matheson writes that John has been much misunderstood. Instead of a man of peace and unobtrusive disposition, he is shown as a man who was not confined to the discipline of others without that circle had Jesus, he was decidedly aggressive. He made a bid for one of the two upper seats in the Messianic Kingdom, and the same spirit which led him to do this, led him to do other things. He was a man who was not content with a quiet life, but who was full of the spirit of the kingdom.

The Sunday School Lesson

JULY 22

John the Apostle, Mark 1: 16-20; 3: 17; Luke 9: 49-56; John 13: 21-25; 19: 26, 27; 21: 20-23; Acts 4: 13-20; Rev. 1: 9. Golden Text—God is love; and he that dwelleth in love dwelleth in God, and God in him.—1 John 4: 16.

LESSON SETTING.—This week we study the life of John the Apostle. Like Peter, he was called from the fishing boat to become a fisher of men. We understand God. God is love. This recognizes a distinct difference between the characters of Peter and John. Peter was the leader of the disciples; John was the living definition of God.

Every poultryman knows that some colonies are much easier to handle and more profitable than others. The gold standard is found in certain colonies and should be encouraged and in building up the apiary become the predominant characteristic.

I Sell to a Hatchery.

I have the purebred White Wyandotte chickens of from 300 to 305 egg strain. Instead of selling eggs to the stores at market price, I contract all of them from February 1st until August 1st. I will let a hatchery buy a dozen above the market price here. I have built up a reputation for good chickens, and sell lots of eggs by advertising in our town paper.

To make is one of the easiest things to do. To praise who praise is to do often led enduce.
