HEALTH EDUCATION

BY DR. J. J. MIDDLETON

Provincial Board of Health, Ontario

Dr. Middleton will be glad to answer questions on Public Health matters through this column. Address him at Spadina House, Spadina Crescent, Toronto.

Scarlet fever, the scourge of child life, is on the increase. There were 870 cases reported during the month of January, 1924, with 13 deaths. During the month of January, 1923, there were only 368 cases, so the number of cases this year has more than doubled.

Prevention of contact is the only known way to prevent scarlet fever. Keep sick children at home and away from other children in the household. Although the disease belongs to the list of winter born ailments, and an increase at this time may be expected, it can be cut to a minimum by prompt isolation of cases. The school room offers the best medium for spreading scarlet fever, hence any child having even the suggestion of a rash, a cold or a sore throat, should be kept at home until permission to return is granted by a competent physician.

The seriousness of scarlet fever lies in the fact that it is extremely infectious. Mild cases, known as scarletina, frequently pass unnoticed. Yet these spread infection just as potently as the more severe cases, and the virulence of disease builds up with increased prevalence. In other words, the more a disease spreads the more serious are the cases of it that occur. Scarlet fever is infectious to the very last stage of the disease, and much of it is spread by the careless person who ventures abroad before complete recovery. The regulations of the Provincial Board of Health of Ontario require a quarantine period of 10 days for contacts, and in the case of patients a quarantine period of 35 days from appearance of rash, providing the discharges from nose, throat or ears are all cleared up.

After effects from scarlet fever, such as deafness and arrested development often follow. The disease is particularly damaging in its effects on the kidneys, and much Bright's Disease of later life may be attributed to scarlet fever contracted in childhood. There are from two to four deaths in every 100 cases of scarlet fever. Exercise precautions so that your child may not be numbered among the victims.

With The BOY SCOUTS

A Talk to Patrol Leaders.

By an A. S. M.

"Come on, you leaders, draw up your chairs round the fire."

I wonder how many of you have seriously thought about your job as a Patrol Leader? Do you realize that you have a great deal to do with the shaping of the character of the six or seven chaps who go to make up your patrol? The members of the Patrol look up to you to show them the way, to be the pathfinder blazing the trail for them to follow.

When I was a little fellow in the scouts, I remember how we thought the Big kids, as we called them, to be important people to be feared. The Tenderfoot Scouts in your Patrols look upon you as important people to be respected, and they will say that a certain thing is so, because the P. L. said it is. Personal example is a great thing. If the Leader is slack at obeying orders, or argues on parade, one can expect his patrol to be a poor one. Remember your actions are noticed and commented upon by those who are following you. Your Patrol nights and week end Patrol camps are the things that go to prove whether the stripes on your uniform are the outward sign of true leadership, or just covering up a hole or two. Do your Patrol nights develop into a "rough house," or do you get some real "good" Are your camps real camps, or merely a time of "slosh."

Scoutmasters might appear to be a queer sort of animal, who gives up a quiet holiday with meals served to him and a nice soft bed to sleep on, takes a number of high spirited boys to camp, and has all the worry and responsibility of looking after them.

He will stay out late at night looking up absentees, he spends time and money to give a good time to what the boys terms "A band of bare-kneed kids with cow-boy hats, and staves in their hands." What pay does he get? None! Some people may consider him a harmless lunatic to be humored. Well, the best way you can humor him is by showing that you can be trusted to do your job whether the S. M. is present or not. If you are badly bitten with Scoutitis you might become S. M. some day, and if you have your P. L.'s to give you loyalty and obedience. It counts a lot towards the S. M.'s peace of mind to know that if he is called away, his Patrol will not take advantage and play about, but will carry on with their work. No, I don't suppose you liked growing up you had that morning in camp, when things were wrong, and I don't suppose the S. M. liked having to give it to you. He only did it officially, he is still your friend. As you know, before I gained my wood badge, I had to go through a course of training at camp. We all took turns at being P. L. and Second. If things were not up to the mark the Deputy Camp Chief blew up the Leader, but that did not make any difference to their personal friendship—it was all in a day's work. I hope that some day I may change my red plume for a green one. If so, I shall want to keep an A1 troop going, to do that I shall have to point out mistakes and shall expect the leader to take it all in good part.

Then what about your Seconds? Has it ever struck you what a miserable job they have got? You know they can't run the patrol in their own way because they are not boss, but they must be prepared to take charge and carry out the Leader's ideas should he be away at any time. So give them a chance to do a bit as they are the future Patrol Leaders.

You leaders are your patrol's representatives at the court of honor. So get to know your patrol's ideas and bring them forward, as it is by discussing new ideas that we can go ahead and improve ourselves.

Well, the fire is almost out and it's time we went. Good night. Good night, all.

STORMY WEATHER HARD ON BABY

The stormy, blustery weather which we have during February and March is extremely hard on children. Conditions make it necessary for the mother to keep them in the house. They are often confined to overheated, badly ventilated rooms and catch colds which rack their whole system. To guard against this a box of Baby's own Tablets should be kept in the house and an occasional dose given the baby to keep the stomach and bowels working regularly. This will not fail to break up colds and keep the health of the baby in good condition till the brighter days come along. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

The Westbound Train.

The westbound train goes roaring
through the night;
Unrestful forms sprawl in the day-
coach chairs,
The Pulman curtains ripple in the light,
The smoker rocks and reeks with hazy airs;
The brakeman lurches through the
swaying gloom,
The postal clerks work swiftly at
the mails,
The porter dozes in the dressing room,
The engineer peers sharply down
the rails.

The whirling wheels repeat a rhythmic beat,
Culvert and cut and bridge go crying past;
Streams, towns, trees, farms and fields
on flying feet
Glide by like ghosts, astounded and aghast;
And from the sky the silent stars look down
Upon this snail-like speed from town to town.

The Last-Born.

The first-born cannot walk too soon,
Nor talk too soon, too quickly learn
And even with the cradle croon.
Our gaze ahead we always turn
And try the future years to see,
When babe, our babe, a man will be,
Or when the little lady there
Will be a lady tall and fair.

Yes, so young mothers plan and dream,
And so young fathers dream and plan;
To them the first can never seem
Too soon the woman or the man,
Each longer step, each larger word,
Each indication, seen or heard,
Of later years, maturer growth,
A happy signal to them both.

But, oh, the last-born! Time, too, swift
Too quickly down the stream we drift,
Too early babyhood is past;
Oh, leave the baby at our breast
A little longer, there to rest;
Too brief the days, too short the mile;
Oh, let us keep the last a while!

—Douglas Malloch.

ST. VITUS DANCE

Shows Through a Twitching of the Muscles of Face and Limbs.

Chorea, or as it is more generally known, St. Vitus dance, is a trouble that usually attacks young children, though older people may be afflicted with it. Its most common symptoms are a twitching of the muscles of the face and limbs. As the disease progresses the twitching takes the form of spasms in which the jerking motion may be confined to the head, or all the limbs may be affected. Frequently the patient is unable to hold anything in the hands or to walk steadily. In severe cases the speech is often affected. The disease is due to debility of the nerves and relief comes through an enriched blood supply, which feeds and strengthens the nerves. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have been most successful in reaching this trouble through their specific action on the blood, which it enriches and purifies. The following instance will show what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills can do in this trouble. Mrs. S. E. Makins, Parry Harbor, Ont, says:—"As a young girl I was badly stricken with St. Vitus dance. My parents tried several medicines but without avail. I was steadily growing worse and could scarcely walk without falling. I had to quit school and had no control of my nerves or actions. Finally a neighbor advised the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and the use of these for a couple of months restored me, and I have had no attack of the trouble since. I have, however, taken the pills at different times since, when I felt out of sorts, and find them all you claim for them if given a fair trial."

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ontario.

Oldest Dated Handwriting Discovered at Ur.

The authorities of the British Museum attach great importance to a report from C. L. Woolley, leader of the expedition sent jointly by the museum and the University of Pennsylvania, disclosing their discovery of Ur-of-the-Chaldees of an example of the oldest dated specimen of handwriting, says a London despatch.

The main body of workmen had been engaged in clearing the Ziggurat or staged tower, whose ruins dominate the plain of Ur. Describing the contents of a small temple excavated during the first month, the report says:

"Such finds would have been, indeed, noteworthy to whatever period they belonged, but these are the more surprising, in that they are the oldest works of art in metal yet known.

"A marble tablet was discovered inscribed in Sumerian which records that this was the temple of the Goddess Ninkhurag, built in her honor by the King of Ur, Aanipadda, son of King Mesannipadda. The latter is known to us, from king lists drawn up about 2,000 years before Christ, as a ruler of the first dynasty of Ur.

"Taken at its face value, the Sumerian chronology would assign our statues and relics to a date somewhere about 4500 years before Christ; even of that chronology has to be modified we can yet say that our month's work has given us the oldest dated example of man's handwriting and the oldest known triumphs of the art of Tubal Cain."

Poor Business.

"Oh, Tobe!" distressedly cried Mrs. Sagg. "The baby has swallowed a quarter!"

"Aw, well," replied Tobe Sagg, of Sandy Mush, pacifyingly. "I don't reckon, all things considered, it will pay us to take him to the doctor in town to get it took out."

The Pioneer in Canada.

Thirty-two years ago the now famous "SALADA" Tea was placed on the market in metal packages. "SALADA" was the pioneer package tea in Canada. Immediately its superior flavor and purity won for it a great popularity that has been growing ever since. It is still a little different and a little better than ordinary tea.

A False Alarm.

Although the snow unmelted lay,
And spring seemed far, so far away;
Although the wind with whistle shrill
Had all of bleak December's chill,
I heard a bird call, boldly spoken,
And winter's spell, I knew, was broken.
Or so I thought. And then a shock!
The call came from a cuckoo clock.

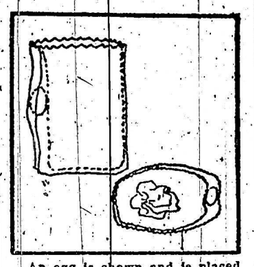
EASY TRICKS

No. 827

The Vanishing Egg



An egg is shown and is placed in a small paper bag. The magician makes mysterious passes over the bag and then presses the bag smaller and smaller. The egg vanishes. The bag is opened and inside of it a handkerchief is found.

The bag and egg are prepared for the trick. The bag is made of two bags, one inside of the other. One side of the openings of the two bags are pasted together. It is thus possible to place an object either in the inner bag or between the two bags. The egg is prepared by punching a small pinhole in both ends of the egg and blowing the contents out. The egg should be permitted to dry before presenting the trick.

The handkerchief, a silk one, is in the inner bag at the start. The egg is placed between the two bags. The magician should ask an obliging friend to play mysterious music while he is doing the trick. The object of the music is to drown the sound of the crushing of the egg shell.

If the opening between the two bags is treated with mucilage just before presenting the trick, the opening may be closed in the act of twisting up the mouth of the bag.

(Clip this out and paste it, with other of the series, in a scrapbook.)

Morality.

We cannot kindle when we will
The fire that in the heart resides,
The spirit blow and still is still,
In mystery our soul abides;
But tasks in hours of insight willed
Can be through hours of gloom fulfilled.

With aching hands and bleeding feet,
We dig and heap, lay stone on stone;
We bear the burden and the heat
Of the long day, and wish 'twere done.
Not till the hours of light return
All we have built do we discern.

—Matthew Arnold (1822-1888).

"The Homes of England."

Felicia Hemans was one of the sweetest of our women poets. She will always be read and loved because she sang the sweet songs of the homeland in tended tones.

The stately homes of England!
How beautiful they stand!
Amidst their tall ancestral trees,
O'er all the pleasant land.
The deer across their greensward bound
Through shade and sunny gleam;
And the swan glides past them with the sound
Of some rejoicing stream.

The merry Homes of England!
Around their hearths by night,
What gladsome looks of household love
Meet in the ruddy light!
There woman's voice flows forth in song,
Or lips move tunefully along
Some glorious page of old.

The cottage Homes of England!
By thousands on her plains,
They are smiling o'er the silvery
brooks,
And round the hamlet-fanes.
Through glowing orchards forth they peep,
Each from its nook of leaves,
And fearless there the lowly sleep,
As the birds beneath the eaves.

The free, fair Homes of England!
Long, long, in hut and hall,
May hearts of native proof be rear'd,
To guard each hallowed wall!
And green for ever be the groves,
And bright the flowery sod,
Where first the child's glad spirit loves
Its country and its God!

A day when dark women may become fair at will and fair women dark is foreshadowed by revelations of new gland experiments made by Dr. Winfred Cullis.

"Extractions from the posterior lobe of the pituitary gland, a pea-sized gland at the base of the brain," said Dr. Cullis, "changed the sandy color of a frog to pitch-black. It is within the range of possibility that blondes may be transformed one day to brunettes and brunettes to blondes if they wish.

"We may even see black men turned to white," added Dr. Cullis, "but there will be danger in this, for the coloring of the individual is Nature's protection against the suns and rigours of his native climate."

EXCRUCIATING PAINS, CRAMPS

Entirely Remedied by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Eberts, Ont. — "I started with cramps and bearing-down pains at the age of eleven years, and I would get so nervous I could hardly stay in bed, and I had such pains that I would scream, and my mother would call the doctor to give me something to take. At out teen I married, and I have four healthy children, but I still have pains in my right side. I am a farmer's wife with more work than I am able to do. I have taken three bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I feel that it is helping me every day. My sister-in-law, who has been taking your medicine for some time and uses your Sanative Wash, told me about it and I recommend it now, as I have received great relief from it." —Mrs. Nelson Yott, R. R. 1, Eberts, Ont.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a medicine for ailments common to women. It has been used for such troubles for nearly fifty years, and thousands of women have found relief as did Mrs. Yott, by taking this splendid medicine.

If you are suffering from irregularity, painful times, nervousness, headache, backache or melancholia, you should at once begin to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It is excellent to strengthen the system and help to perform its functions with ease and regularity.
