They will be greatly missed in the neighborhood where they lived and especially in the church where Mr. Sutherland was an esteemed elder for over twenty years. Their neighbors and friends assembled the evening before their departure and presented them with two beautiful leather bookshelves on oak chairs and the following address: "Dear Mr. and Mrs. Sutherland: We, your friends and neighbors, have gathered on the eve of your departure to spend a few pleasant hours in your company before you leave for your new home. We feel that we cannot let you leave our neighborhood without in some tangible way showing to you the esteem in which you are held. We are sorry to lose such good neighbors, but the link we lose from the chain of friendship in our community will be a link gained in another. We would ask you to accept these two chairs as a small token of appreciation, and at the same time please accept our best wishes for many happy years in your new path of life."

(Special to The Standard.) D. S. S. and R. Harle of Owen Sound, and a sister of the latter, Miss Harle, were visitors for a few days last week, the former at Mrs. Brown's and the latter with Miss M. Olmstead. The comfortable and well-equipped home of Mr. W. J. Seabrook was destroyed by fire on Sunday morning about eleven o'clock. A very high wind was blowing from the east which was all that saved the other buildings. The fire, when discovered, was burning in the roof near the kitchen chimney, which, fanned by the high wind quickly spread. Assistance was there as soon as the telephone carried the news and managed to remove all the furniture and other things in the dining-room and parlor, but the clothing and upstairs effects were all lost, together with some money. The loss is partly covered by insurance, but no one ever has enough to pay for a home destroyed. Mr. Jas. Free moved his household effects last Monday and is now living in the Manse.
