A very conspicuous act of bravery was shown by a small boy, Kenneth Gilbert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Gilbert, of this place. Last week a number of children were at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Wickens to a birthday party, and were going swimming in the river. A baby, not big enough to walk, fell into the river. Some of the children and Kenneth Gilbert went to the water. Kenneth thought he would not rush down to the water, but would try to rescue the child. He took the child to the shore and handed him over to his mother. Miss Joy Ellis came to the house almost before the other children were aware of what had happened. Kenneth did not get a cent of money, but he saved the life of the baby. Mr. Wickens was very pleased to see Mr. Gilbert.

Only a Youth, but Never Knew a Boyhood

George Adams is a very weak boy he's so weak he can't even turn the pages of a book without feeling pain. He has a good many brothers and sisters and his parents are very poor. So when George put on long trousers—he was just 12 at the time—he became a man and took upon himself the task of earning money for the family.
He went to learn a trade in an iron foundry, where fumes and hard work undermined a weak system and sowed the seeds of trouble. Now and then another working member of the family would cease earning through sickness or loss of job, and George would have to keep his nose to the grindstone a few more hours each day to make up for it. His life was just work, work, work, until one day he dropped on the floor. The company physician, who examined him, prescribed a year or two at the Muskoka Hospital for Consumption. He can't understand why he never had a boyhood and none of the good things of life, but he's fairly happy to know separation from his family safeguards them. He's content, and he still has hope.
There are many just such deserving cases in need of treatment at the Muskoka Hospital. Will you lend a hand?
Contributions may be sent to Hon. W. A. Charlton, 301 College Street, Toronto.
