Vandeleur

(Special to The Standard.)

Mr. and Mrs. Ran. Hutchinson visited friends at Kimberley for a few days last week.

Mr. Emerson Richardson and Miss [illegible] Toronto are visiting with [illegible] and family.

Mrs. H. [illegible] and babe of Markdale spent a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Jacob [illegible].

The W. [illegible] Institute met at the home of J. McGee on Tuesday of last week. Considerable business was transacted. A number of thanks were received for gifts sent to members in Markdale hospital. The next meeting will be held on November 7th. A splendid program has been given as follows: Solo, Mrs. R. Boland. The Mystery of Mrs. Gilbert, Mrs. [illegible]. Solo, Mrs. W. [illegible]. The meeting was closed by Mrs. [illegible].

Miss [illegible] has returned home after spending a month in Toronto [illegible].

Mrs. [illegible] Gilling [illegible] last Tuesday [illegible] the same [illegible] went [illegible] for [illegible] months. She is [illegible].

Thousands of dollars worth of apples have been frozen in the trees in this district by the heavy frosts of last week. The trees were also somewhat damaged by the recent heavy snowfall. The crop in this district was extra, and the apples which have been picked are of a splendid quality.

Several great flocks of wild geese passed over this neighborhood during the last week on their way south. In one flock a pure white goose was noticed. It was seen by several residents of this community.

We don't know what the records say, but October this year was the worst in the memory of the oldest residents of this community.

Traverston

(Intended for last week.)

Mrs. and Mrs. S. Gilbert have returned home after spending a week in Toronto.

Mrs. Frank Taylor has returned home much improved in health after her recent operation in Collingwood hospital.

Miss Jean Graham of Eugenia spent a few days with Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Graham and family.

Mr. Will Johnston had the misfortune to break his wrist by falling from an apple tree a short time ago.

The Anniversary Services were held last Sunday, October 25th, afternoon and evening, and the church was filled to capacity on both occasions. Rev. Jas. Duff, of Port Credit occupied the pulpit at both services and delivered able and thoughtful discourses. Special music was rendered by the choir under the capable leadership of the pastor, Rev. F. N. Bowes.

PROPER USE OF MANURE

SPREAD ON LAND FREQUENTLY IS THE BEST PRACTICE

Neglect Means Waste—Other Points of Interest to Those on the Land—Gains Made by Early Fall Ploughing—Thirteen Egg Clutches.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

The waste still goes on. Years ago when soils were new, manure was not valued. Once a year clearing of the barnyard sufficed then. That once a year practice in handling manure became a habit, so much so that many farmers can't get away from it to-day and let the waste go on. It is not only the fertility waste but it is also the maintenance of filth conditions about the premises which is surely enough to condemn the practice of neglect.

The best way to handle manure is to spread it on the land as made. This practice is possible all the year on many farms. For the farms that are not level enough to hold that which may be placed on them piling may be resorted to, until conditions for distribution are right. In piling manure on Ontario farms one notices much carelessness and resulting waste, just dumped anywhere as an eyesore and nursing ground for weeds. Contrast with this condition the practice in Great Britain, where any manure that does not go to the land is carefully corded up in neat methods, kept tramped and kept moist; forked over to aid in its making and prevent wastage by heating. Watertight bottoms, pits and sheds are also used by the British farmer who knows and appreciates the value of animal manures. The manure from a farm horse or cow for one year, fully conserved and returned to the soil has a value in nitrogen, potash and phosphorus equal to $52.00 as spent on commercial fertilizers. If it pays to purchase and apply commercial fertilizers, it surely pays to make proper use of the animal manures. If the commercial fertilizer man thinks enough of the product that he handles to put it up in sacks and protect it by dry storage, surely the farm operator can take a hint from this business man and prevent the manure waste that may be taking place on his farm. Get the manure out on to the soil as soon as possible.

Tuberculosis.

There is no difference in the susceptability of pure bred and scrub cattle to tuberculosis. In the testing of 1,400,000 pure-bred cattle it was found that 4.7 per cent. reacted. In the testing of 500,000 scrub or grade cattle, it was found that 4.8 per cent. reacted.

Efficiency of Dairy Cow.

The efficiency of a dairy cow depends upon a properly developed udder and its continuance in a normal condition. The most serious condition that occurs to the dairy cow is infection of the udder, and streptococci are the most frequent bacterial invading organism. Streptococcic infection can be readily transmitted from cow to cow by hand or machine milking and the entire herd may become infected. The disease is difficult to control because of the fact that an occasional cow is a carrier. The most successful treatment consists in increasing the resistance of the animal by the use of bacterins. In badly infected herds a bacteria prepared from cultures isolated from diseased cows is most efficient. With the destruction of the mammary and profits vanish.

Gain Made by Early Fall Ploughing.

Weeds materially reduce the yields of grain. Early fall ploughing aids by mucking holding weeds in check and eradicating them. Ploughing biennial and perennial weeds under early checks their growth; if when they show above ground these parts are destroyed, real progress in eradication may be made during the fall months.

Early fall ploughing will conserve the moisture already in the soil, and puts the fields in condition to take up readily any rain that occurs during the autumn. Various insect pests harmful to crops are largely controlled by early fall ploughing, due to disturbance in their more or less dormant stages or to actual exposure above ground.

In preparation for the seeding of fall grains, early ploughing has the advantage over ploughing just before sowing in that it provides a firm seed bed in which the seed should germinate immediately and the plants make a steady growth from the start.

The Lucky 13 Egg Clutches.

We hatch a good many chicks in incubators, but we also use hens. Eggs of the larger breeds do not hatch so well in incubators as they do under hens; so we hatch a good many chicks of those breeds under hens, and use incubators for hatching Leghorns. We have found by many tests that we can put 13 eggs under one lot of hens and 15 under another, and, as a rule, get more chicks from the 13-egg clutches than we can from those where 15 eggs were used. There is probably a reason for this, but I have never felt any need of wasting my time trying to discover it so we now use 13 eggs for a setting.

A good liniment for all kinds of swellings on dairy cows, as well as on all other farm animals, is made by mixing equal parts of turpentine, sweet oil and spirits of camphor. Apply liberally and frequently to the swollen parts.

Corn stover only partially takes the place of legumes. It is good filling material, but it requires nearly 200 pounds of shredded corn to supply a cow with as much protein as contained in twenty pounds of alfalfa hay.

PILES Do not suffer another day with Itching, Bleeding, or Protruding Piles. No surgical operation required. New England Church

During the meeting of the Young People's Society on Wednesday evening, October 28th, the members of the League and Choir took the opportunity of presenting to Miss Vera and Edgar Fawcett some beautiful gifts as a symbol of their regret in view of the approaching removal from that kind and respectful community. Both gifts were, in combine, beautiful and useful, and the grateful recipients of them will assuredly treasure them above all other belongings. To Edgar they gave a valuable Waterman's Fountain Pen, something which he had been in the notion of getting for some time, and to Vera they presented a lovely French Ivory Clock, mantel design, which they gratefully acknowledged. Indeed no words of expressions could ever fully explain what deep things we would like to say about past remembrances, in the hope we may never have to go any farther away than our home town, which might sever us for occasional visit altogether. The following are the addresses:

New England, Oct. 28, 1925.

Miss Vera Fawcett

Dear Vera:— It is with a feeling of regret that we, your friends of the church you love, and especially those resenting the Young People's League and Choir, gather to-night, on the eve of your removal from our midst, to express our deep appreciation of your faithfulness and of your friendship.

You have always been willings to help to the best of your ability, and the service of our Common Master, Jesus Christ, was a joy to you.

We wish we were bringing our affection and gifts to you to-night because one of our fine boys intended to keep you in our midst as his partner in life rather than that you were leaving us, but we hope this will happen yet, and you will come back with us to stay. Be assured you will always have a warm place in our love and esteem. We wish you God's richest blessing and success in your new home. Please accept the gift as a token of our friendship and respect. Signed on behalf of the Young People's League and Choir of the New England United Church of Canada.

New England, Oct. 28, 1925.

Mr. Edgar Fawcett

Dear Edgar:— We have gathered to-night in our League where you have often met with us, and your willingness to help at all times has been appreciated. We are very sorry that you are leaving our community and especially here in the church we shall miss you. Your musical ability has been given freely in the League and Choir and we shall miss you very much. Our sincere wishes for the future go with you and we hope you will continue to have joy in the Master's service, and our loss will be [illegible] of other churches gain.

Please accept this little gift as a slight token of our friendship [illegible] esteem. Signed on behalf of the Young People's League and Choir of the New England United Church.
