An Error in Judgment.

Whether or not animals have souls is a matter of opinion. It is certain, however, that they are capable of making a decision. In the case of a sheep, the decision made was a grave one. The sheep was the property of a swan whose owner was a man of high social standing. The sheep was kept in a paddock at Ashford, Ontario. One day the sheep was grazing near the shore of a lake. The swan was in the lake and the sheep was looking at it. The sheep decided to jump into the lake. The sheep was killed. The owner was very angry. The sheep was buried. The sheep was a mistake.

George Eliot's Beauty Perception.

George Eliot's feeling for the beautiful was excited only by her passion for the good. Her perception of the beautiful was not of the face or the form, but of the mind. She was a woman of high intelligence and high moral standards. She was a woman of high social standing. She was a woman of high social standing. She was a woman of high social standing.

Masterpieces "By Request."

The French poet gave up writing for the stage while still at the height of his fame, but once more took to the pen at the request of a woman. He wrote a play, "The Masterpieces," in order to satisfy her. The play was a masterpiece. It was a masterpiece. It was a masterpiece. It was a masterpiece. It was a masterpiece.

Labber, recently acquired by a Nebraska firm, is said to be the largest horse alive. He stands 21 hands and weighs 3,000 pounds. He is a five-year-old bay gelding with black points.

Since the recent removal of the scaffolding which clouded the classic beauty of Victory Tower, the above is the first published view of the new complete memorial which crowns Parliament Hill, Ottawa. The old building is still to be installed. The old buildings were destroyed by fire, February, 1916.

AGE-A PARADOX

By T. H. Ainsworth, Nanaimo, B.C.

The human regard for age is an inexplicable paradox. Applied to objects of art, or even gewgaws, it often amounts to reverence. A distorted idol from an Eastern temple, or a rusty sword from the charge of a conqueror become things of great value for other reasons than their own. They are valued for the sake of their age.

HEALTH BROKE DOWN

Could Not Get Sleep for Hours After Going to Bed.

"It is not natural for me to go down and write a letter in praise of a proprietary medicine as I had always been skeptical as to their virtues." Thus writes Mr. Arthur Seguin, Stortwick, Sask., who further adds: "I opened a general store here in Stortwick and placed on my shelves a few lines of the best known proprietary medicines. Among these, naturally, were Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. As there were three of my customers who were obtaining good results from taking the pills, I decided to try them myself.

"I had been suffering from catarrh for years, and my inside work had completely broken down my health. I was coughing all day, suffering from indigestion and could not sleep until three or four hours after retiring. I started the pills, not with any great confidence, but by the time I had finished the second box I marked much improvement. At the fourth box I felt quite recovered, but continued them for some further time. I opened a general store here in Stortwick and placed on my shelves a few lines of the best known proprietary medicines. Among these, naturally, were Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. As there were three of my customers who were obtaining good results from taking the pills, I decided to try them myself.

When a Leaf Falls.

I would like very much to find a word or sound which would bring to mind the fall of a leaf upon leaves. I know it perfectly—the generic timber—the composite echo etched into my mind by a thousand conscious listeners. But it will not get past my consciousness to my lips, and utterly refuses to descend my arm and pen.

HOW TO RELIEVE CHILDREN'S COLDS

Burning the Baby's Own Tablets.

When Mrs. Lloyd, the mother of a child who has a cold, says "burn the baby's own tablets," she means that she has used the Tablets. The Tablets are a relief for children's colds. They are a relief for children's colds. They are a relief for children's colds.

Believe This If You Can.

Thrown into a room in a mood by the story of a man who invited a party of friends to dine on a tremendous pillow mushroom that was five feet through and weighed twenty-one pounds, Mr. E. E. Whiting recalls in the Boston Herald a man who had read concerning a still more remarkable vegetable growth. This is going to be Sir Joseph Banks, a worthy English baronet who lived a hundred years ago. He had a farm where he raised sweet for immediate use; he therefore directed that it should be placed in a cellar. In order that the vegetable matter it contained might be more perfectly decomposed by age. At the end of three years he directed his butler to ascertain the state of the vegetable when, on attempting to open the cellar door, he could not effect it in consequence of some powerful obstacle. The door was cut down, and the vegetable found to be completely filled with a firm fungus vegetable production. It was necessary to use the axe for its removal. This appeared to have grown from, or have been nourished by, the decomposed particles of the wine; the cork was perfectly empty and had been carried up to the ceiling, where it was supported by the surface of the fungus.

The Useful Umbrella.

Royalty like the rest of the world, is not in these days insistent on the forms and traditions that used to be considered important. In Sir Americ Fitzroy's Memoirs there is an amusing incident that shows how ready the late Edward VII. was to dispense with his traditional formalities.

Fortune in a Flake.

The rough bath towel that brings a healthy glow to the skin was an accidental invention. A manufacturer of fine smooth towelling had in mind the idea of a flannel cloth. Instead of the flannel woven material coming through as usual the threads were loose and tangled, and from his point of view, quite unfit for sale.
