THE PRECIOUS HOME FESTIVALS

It is such a busy, hurrying world! And we bless someone like Angelo Patri who comes along in friendly fashion and reminds us of the finer things of life, especially as these concern the coming generation.

BY ANGELO PATRI.

Every now and again, somebody brings his hands and cries about his grief because children do not stay on the farms. I am scarcely moved by their concern because I know that many children leave their homes in adventure. I would do what could be done to keep all children on the farms. I would do what could be done to keep all children on the farms. I would do what could be done to keep all children on the farms. I would do what could be done to keep all children on the farms.

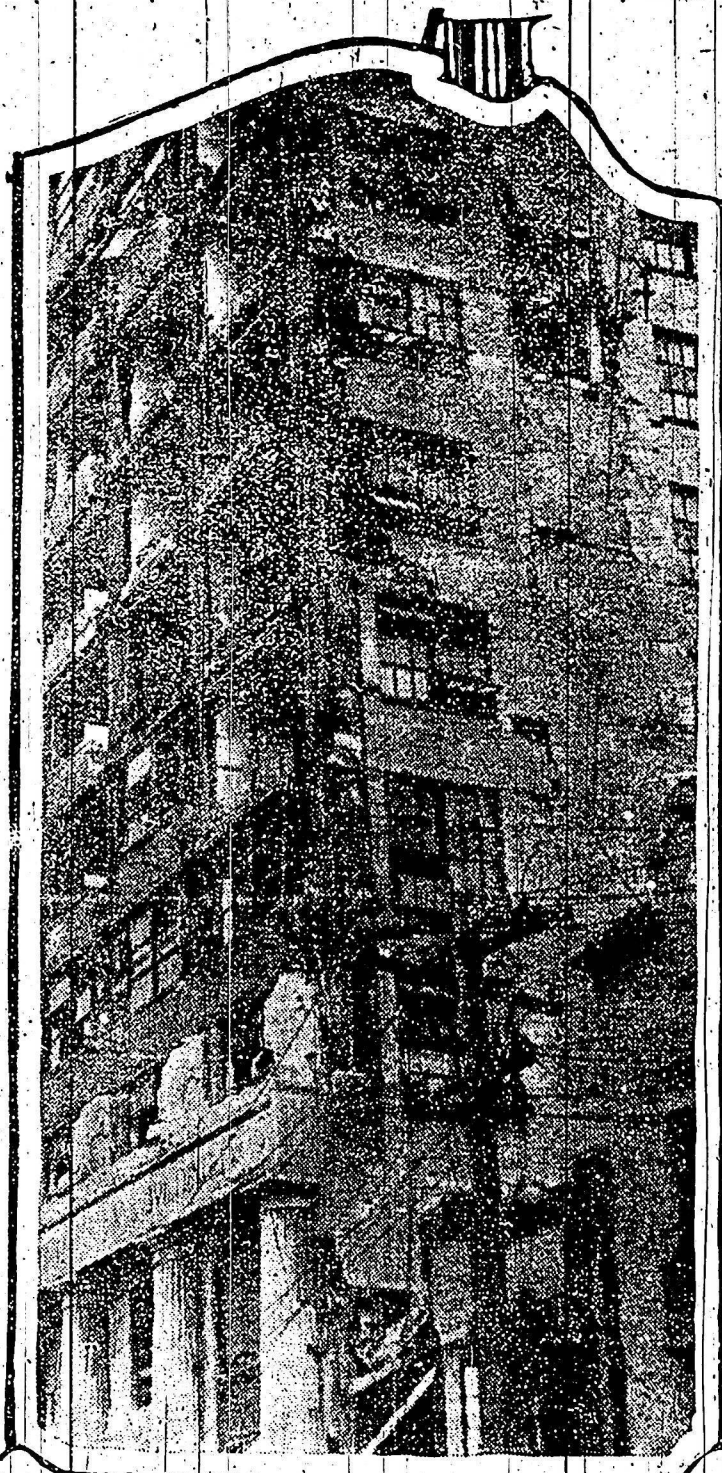

Children never grow without trouble for somebody. Somebody has always to take thought and make a struggle to obtain the things that allow children to grow. You know they must do their own growing; we just supply the background and the opportunity. The home festival is a great opportunity for the country home. They offer such delightful occasions for storing happy memories. Happy memories of home and its circle are precisely what makes the precious background we desire.

Behind a bit on the calendar, for example, there is Halloween. To be sure, it is a night of mystery and fairy tales and witches' heads—but the atmosphere that it creates—just make a special occasion if it comes—favors made by children, forget the pumpkins and special dishes, the favored games and the traditional games. Halloween is particularly a country child's delight.

Next to Halloween, the great day for the children and a great chance to try them to their homes and their people with the bond that neither time nor fortune can ever break. But to establish that bond one takes trouble. The festival that allows the children no share of preparation forms no associations and makes no tie. They set the children to work. They peel the potatoes, they chop the nuts, they Importation of Chicks. For a great many years Canadian poultrymen have imported day-old chicks from the United States, and when secured from reliable breeders these chicks have materially assisted in the development of the poultry industry in this country. With the advent of the mammoth impounder and hatcheries another condition arose and that was the coming to Canada of day-old chicks in quantities by the United States commercial hatcheries, and this was an entirely different proposition.

Old But Up to Date. Bridgman Farm, Pottsville, Penn., England, which was recently sold at auction, is a twentieth-century farm-house with original oak floors and beams, but repeats with modern comforts and an ancient title barn.

Ruins of 14-story Meyer-Kaiser Bank Building, Miami, Florida, which suffered severely from the hurricane of September 1934, and which will probably have to be completely torn down, are shown above.

IDEAL FASHIONS by Fannie Belle Hamilton. A fashion advertisement featuring a woman in a long, dark, patterned dress with a high collar and long sleeves. The dress has a fitted bodice and a full skirt. The number '1222' is visible at the bottom of the dress illustration.

DIFFERENT AND MODISH. The new silhouette finds graceful expression in this frock of more than a narrow belted in attractive fashion. The collar may be worn closed, or open in V-neck style, while the gathered at the shoulders provide soft fullness over the bust. The skirt front shows a light flare, and the full sevens are gathered into cuff-hems. No. 1222 is for the miss and small woman, and is in sizes 16, 18 and 20 years. Size 18 (36 bust) requires 4 1/2 yards 36-inch material; 1 yard ribbon. 20c.

S.S. LESSON

October 17. Moses Honored in His Death. Deut. 32: 46-52; 34: 5-8. Golden Rule—Deuteronomy in the sight of the Lord, is the death of his saints.—Leviticus 11: 15.

ANALYSIS.

I. MOSES' FAITHFULNESS, 32: 46-47. II. THE SENTENCE OF DEATH, 32: 48-52. III. THE UNKNOWN GRAVE, 34: 5-8.

INTRODUCTION.—We come in this lesson to the end of the life of Moses, undoubtedly one of the greatest and noblest men of history. "Even Moses, beloved of God and men whose memorial is blessed" (Eccles. 45: 1).

The Bible record of his life covers three periods, that of his early life and education at the court of Pharaoh, the Midway, and lastly at greatest length, his leadership of Israel in the great adventure for freedom from Egypt to the threshold of the land of promise. It presents him as a great lover and champion of the rights of his own people, as the founder and organizer of their national life, their lawgiver and ruler through a long and difficult period, but chiefly as a man of vision and faith, seeing the hand of God in all this great movement, and ever obedient to that voice of God which directed him at every step.

WHERE SHALL WE LIVE?

It happens, not infrequently, that the more prosperous farmers refuse to rent a room to the school teacher. Merely because they do not need the money. So she goes to the community where there are few of the community and none of the privacy she needs where she must sit in a cold room and spend the entire evening with the family. She pays from twenty to thirty dollars a month for a place to sleep and the plainest of fare.

Any teacher, to do her best work for the children committed to her care, must have a warm room of her own in which she can retire when she will. Perhaps we do not consider enough what a responsible and difficult position the country teacher is expected to fill. Besides her work in teaching, which usually is more than enough for any one woman to do, she fills the places of janitor, playground supervisor, moral adviser, preacher and, in reality, mother. She must see that the careless Johnnie and Marys button up coats and do not forget overshirts and mittens. In addition to all this she often has to do service as a nurse to cuts and bruises, watch out for symptoms of illness and so on.

DAY AND EVENING WORK. Her time is not her own from the hour she starts for school until sweeping and dusting are done in the school. Her day covers a period of at least nine hours. On many nights of study, examine papers and other complete work that cannot be done at noon or recess, at which hours she

My Best Housekeeping Helps. household hints that have saved time and money since I started my housekeeping. Here are the ones I consider the best: perhaps you can put some of my tips to work in your home. I use a thin layer of rubber glue to paper or wallpaper. On the lower edge, will prevent that black streak that usually appears on the wall.

If the upper crust of a plate is covered with milk before placing in the oven, it will bake a rich, even brown. Rub ketchup all over the bottom of the pan before you use it. The bottom will last twice as long. The bottom will be wiped off well and the oven allowed to dry thoroughly before using.

My brooms last longer and do better work if I give them an occasional bath. I use four tablespoons of household ammonia to two quarts of hot water. The straws are placed in a solution for half an hour, after which they are thoroughly rinsed and then straw end down in a cool, dry place. Instead of throwing potato peels into the garbage can, burn them to prevent the accumulation of soap in the pippa.

A pint or two of milk added to water in which the chicken is to be boiled gives flavor to the meat and makes it white and juicy. An old fowl, cooked in this way, has the appearance of a young bird.

Five cents' worth of moth balls scattered in my hen's nest keeps the place free of lice. I never cut open a tin can of fruit or vegetables that I buy; instead, I cut the lid off with a sharp knife and the lid is held in place with a wire. Instead of solder.

Wet Oats and Alfalfa. Oats and alfalfa, if they have been damaged by unusual weather can be easily salvaged. The prospect of making a good quality of silage. Six years ago the oat crop in the Prince George district was damaged by water quite severely as the crop has been in this situation. The entire oat crop made into silage. With much mature silage corn yet to be harvested, silage made by mixing oat straw and corn or alfalfa and corn makes a better silage than immature corn alone, says H. Stevenson, of Ontario Agricultural College.

TEACHER LIVE?

TEACHERS. It is to be very much alive on the ground—all over the school plant. Every day she grinds off class minutes, snatching time by interest, an occasional impromptu sermon, by an adult can't try that his ambition to receive a higher education of to do something worth while of the world was inspired by one of the talks from the teacher.

While the teacher travels "on high" with a recitation she must keep a sharp eye on the other pupils to see if they are actually working and "into mischief." The hearing, the location of the room and in every book, the hot lamp, must all be provided so skillfully that a minute is not lost from the class schedule.

SOCIAL DUTIES. The modern teacher has many social duties as well. The young people of the district expect to give their social ideas on a certain evening for social gathering. And the parents enjoy school entertainments for their children will have a party to perform. They also expect the teacher to arrange these programs.
