Fire Prevention in Home and Factory

By Mildred Lee, Junior Fourth Class, Markdale Public School

There is a great loss annually from fires, so I am going to try to tell you how this loss may be prevented.

Try to keep the attic and yards clean and see that all rubbish is burned twice a year. Be very careful not to put clothing away that has matches in the pockets and do not store oily rags.

We should get rid of all rats and mice as they are the cause of many fires with matches. Do not let any one get the habit of smoking in bed; do not leave cigarettes or cigar stubs lying around the house nor never throw them in the waste-paper basket. Never pile anything against the cellar windows, as firemen frequently use them in case of fire. Fire extinguishing apparatus should always be kept in the very best condition.

Be sure that the chimneys are cleaned at least twice a year and do not leave clothes near stove pipes as they may catch on fire. Have stove pipes free from rust holes. Do not put coal oil in the stove to hasten the fire when starting it, as there might be a spark which would cause the blaze to come up suddenly and catch one's clothing.

Seven per cent. of all fires in Ontario are caused by carelessness with matches and many lives are lost by children playing with them. The only matches that should be used are "Safety Matches." These will only strike on the prepared surface of the contained box. Keep them in a metal receptacle out of reach of small children; matches should not be carried loose in one's pockets, as they might easily be dropped.

Do not start a bonfire in a rubbish pile near buildings, as one never knows when the wind is going to
