Mrs. Thomas King and Son, William T. King
(The Markdale Standard)
To the people living in the townships of Euphrasia and Holland their came a heavy shadow which has deeply gripped the entire community.

On Wednesday morning, January 4th, the Angel of Death hovered over the community south of Walters Falls when Mrs. Elizabeth King, widow of the late Thomas King and daughter of the late James Curry, answered the final summons as she passed peacefully away in sleep, after an illness of a few weeks' duration.

While people were gathering on Friday, January 6th, for Mrs. King's funeral at the house and the church, death came a second time to the same home, when Mr. Wm. T. King, a son of the late Mrs. King, was called to the Life Beyond.

Miss Mary Symes and Miss Mae Craig of Toronto were recent visitors with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Symes.

Special Missioner at Christ Church.—In connection with the Huron Diocesan Mission, the congregation of Christ Church is very fortunate.

There is considerable agitation in life business world nowadays over a new calendar to supplant the one now in use, the big contention being that the present calendar has objectionable features which cause difficulty in business, owing to the variation in the length of the months.

The calendar thought to most favorably provide a substitute for the one now in use is the Cotsworth Calendar. It will consist of thirteen standard months of 28 days each, the first day always falling on Sunday, and the last, the 28th, falling on Saturday.

The new month, to be called "Sol," will be inserted between June and July, as it is believed it will cause less confusion if placed there. The 355th day will be December 29, but will have no week day name. It will be known as "Year Day" and will be a holiday falling between Saturday, December 28th, and Sunday January 1st.

In like manner in Leap Year, the extra day will be placed between June 28th and the first day of the new month. It will not have a week-day name, but will be known as "Leap Day."

The advantages of this calendar lie in the fact that all months would have the same number of days, the same number of working days, and the same number of Sundays. All months would have exactly four weeks, and quarter years and half years would be of the same length.

The month would always end on Saturday, also holidays would always fall on the same week-day. The date of Easter could be fixed, which is another advantage. Yearly calendars would not be necessary inasmuch as one fixed monthly calendar would be sufficient.

There is a great deal of prejudice and inertia to overcome before such a change, with its obvious advantages can be brought about. We remember meeting Mr. Cotsworth in Paris in 1924 and having quite a lengthy conversation on the matter with him. His business appeared to be to bring the plan to the attention of public bodies and public men in the principal centres of the civilized world.—Exchange.
