The BABY

No mother in this enlightened age would give her baby anything she did not know was perfectly harmless, especially when a few drops of plain Castoria will right a baby's stomach and almost any little ill. Free from laxative and fever, too, it seems to do just what is necessary.

That's the beauty of Castoria: its gentle influence seems just what is needed. It does all that castor oil does, without the evil taste, and it can give it as often as necessary. Being purely vegetable, it is not a purgative, but a natural and sound, natural remedy.

In this age of well-edited newspapers, radios, automobiles and fast trains, accurate knowledge on a great host of subjects is transmitted rapidly. The advance of science has never been more valuable to mankind, except perhaps in preventive medicine, than in the means of protecting the purity and goodness of food.

Today, the world with enlightened knowledge, the best tea is always sold in sealed airtight packages, preserving it from deterioration in flavor and contamination from any outside source. Canadian tea-drinkers are today getting better and purer tea than ever before. The sales of well-blended and carefully packed packages are constantly increasing as a result of the purity and superiority of these teas being advertised to the public.

What most people call indigestion is usually excess acid in the stomach. The food has soured. The instant remedy is an alkali which neutralizes acids. But don't use crude lye. Use what your doctor would advise.

The best help is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. For the 50 years since its invention it has remained standard with physicians. You will find nothing else so quick in its effect, so harmless, so efficient.

Origin of Term "Orange Pekoe"

Thousands of people every day read of and ask for "Orange Pekoe" tea, yet rarely know what this term means. Mr. Spalding Black, of the Salada Tea Co., gives the following information on the subject:

"At one time China produced practically all the tea used in the world. There the tip leaves of the tea bush looked silvery in colour and when cured were wiry in shape. These tip leaves were called by the Chinese 'p'ah-cho' (meaning silver hair). In the latter part of the nineteenth century, when tea growing had spread extensively to Ceylon and India, tea growers discovered that the colour of the tip leaves on the Ceylon and India bushes was changed by the climate to a slightly more orange shade, so the Ceylon and Indian tip leaves came to be called 'Orange Pekoe'. This was soon Anglicized to the term we now have—'Orange Pekoe,' which should be pronounced 'Pek-ko.'

The ordinary buyer of tea, when he asks for 'Orange Pekoe' Black Tea, however, there are so many qualities of 'Orange Pekoe' offered to the public, and frequently at bargain prices, that a word of warning is necessary.

Everyone is familiar with the merchant who sells for very low prices the best of the shipment which has lost its freshness, which the merchant wants to get rid of to avoid loss. The same thing applies to tea, which also is very perishable if exposed to the air. When you see cheap tea, it is either very poor quality or else it has lost its freshness and most of its strength. Whether this tea is called 'Orange Pekoe' or not.

In this age of well-edited newspapers, radios, automobiles and fast trains, accurate knowledge on a great host of subjects is transmitted rapidly. The advance of science has never been more valuable to mankind, except perhaps in preventive medicine, than in the means of protecting the purity and goodness of food.

Power Tube Improves Multi-Tube Receivers

A power tube should always be used in the last audio stage of a multi-tube receiver. If more than one stage of audio amplification is employed, if the receiver is required to deliver only moderate volume, the CX-12 type of tube is the proper one. For greater volume and last tone quality, the CX-27L or the CX-210 tubes should be used. One distinct advantage of the latter two power tubes lies in their comparatively high plate current consumption, but where "B" eliminators are used this is not a drawback.

Power tubes require higher "B" and "C" voltages than the other tubes in a receiver and for this reason separate "B" and "C" connections are provided. In older receivers this provision may not have been made. For such cases special adapters or "duplex bases," as they are called, may be obtained which permit power tubes to be used in these old receivers without any alteration in the receiver itself. The separate connections mentioned are provided in the adapter.

"Hardest Working" Clock in Paris to Be Retired

Paris.—The hardest working clock in Paris, after sixty-five years of faithful toil, may soon be retired on a pension.

The instrument, created by De-touche, clockmaker to Emperor Napoleon III, has been in service since 1833 in the Conservatory of Arts and Crafts.

During these years it has rung more strokes than any other clock in Paris, since it sounded between 8 o'clock every evening and 8 the following morning the full hour at each quarter hour. That is to say, at three-quarters after midnight it peals twenty-seven strokes—an unusual performance, always startling to passers-by unaccustomed to the laboriousness of De-touche's masterpiece.

Indigestion

One tasteless spoonful in water neutralizes many times its volume in acid. The results are immediate, with no bad after-effects. Once you learn this fact, you will never deal with excess acid in the crude ways. Go learn now—why this method is supreme.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. Each bottle contains full directions—any druggist.

A REMEDY THAT INSPIRES FAITH

People Who Have Used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Speak of Them With Praise.

"Going into a decline" is an expression that has come to be known as with which physicians are familiar. It often describes an alarming condition because it does not yield to ordinary treatment and the debility continues with loss of flesh and strength until the patient feels hopeless. I suffer from such cases the victim and if the blood can be restored to normal no other medical treatment is necessary. Proper food and sunshine will do the rest.

Every man, woman and child who lacks health and strength should at once take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to build up their blood supply. The medicinal value of this medicine is to make new, rich red blood, which speeds recovery and health and strength. "I am writing to tell you what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done for me," says Mrs. J. H. O'Neil, Pirbright, Me. "A few years ago I was in a badly run-down condition, so much so that I was subject to fainting spells which would leave me in such a condition that I could hardly go about. Then I was stricken with influenza and this further weakened me, and throughout the winter I remained in this condition. I was taking doctor's medicine, but it did not seem to help me. My mother advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I got a couple of boxes to start on. When these were gone I seemed to feel an improvement and continued to take them to continue the treatment. The medicine all about a dozen boxes, and by that time I was in the best of health and had gained in weight. My faith in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is now unbounded, and I keep a supply on hand and take them as a preventive. I am now feeling quite well and I often recommend them to others, and cannot praise them enough for restoring my health."

Many Sports Known By Number of Players

To the occasional reader of sporting events the numerical terms used in headlines for the names of sports are often confusing and at times cause him to go on to the opening paragraph of the story to discover what kind of game has been played. But to the regular reader of sports news the numerical term is a familiar and accepted part of sports terminology.

Name your game and nine times out of ten the follower of sports will give you the numerical synonym for it. A basketball team, on which there are five positions, is a five or a quintet. A football team, because it has eleven positions, is eleven; a baseball team a nine; a hockey, six or sextet; an outdoor polo team, a four or quartet; an indoor polo team, a three or trio, and a crew is an eight.

In other sports, in which the number of positions is not standardized, the numerical term cannot be employed, but there is always some sort of synonym to take its place. Members of a wrestling team, because they compete on mats, are called matmen, or sometimes are called grapplers. Swimmers are matmen, fencers are swordsmen and a member of a rifle team is a marksman.

Frequently, too, the name of the place on which the game is played is used as a means to convey the real name of the sport. The most common terms in this division are: Diamond for baseball, gridiron for football, ice for hockey, court for basketball, tennis, squash, and squash racquets; pool for swimmers, water for crew and cinder path for outdoor track.

Canada's European Imports the Best of Peasant Stock

Saskatoon, Sask.—In bringing settlers to Canada from Europe, the Canadian National Railways are securing good peasant stock. J. S. McGowan, western manager of the C.N.R. Colonization Department, told the Saskatchewan agents of the company, who held a conference on colonization matters in the King George Hotel, families which are being brought from the continent of Europe. Mr. McGowan said, arrive in Winnipeg with from $50 to $800 in Canadian currency in their pockets in spite of the fact that they had to pay out in the neighborhood of a $1,000 for transportation. This fact, he contended, should be sufficient to prove that such people are outstanding citizens in their own countries and should, therefore, naturally become outstanding citizens of Canada.

Place in Iowa Passes Ordinance to Prevent Radio Interference

Out in the little college town of Fairfield, in Iowa, the wheels of progress must not interfere with radio reception between the hours of 12 noon and 12 midnight, according to the text of an ordinance passed by the city authorities, just received by the Federal Radio Commission.

The ordinance limits the use of electrical devices, such as washing machines, vacuum cleaners, etc., which cause interference with radio reception during the morning hours. The city law was passed after the authorities had received protests from radio owners, who complained that housewives' devices, driven by electricity, had completely disrupted choice programs in afternoons and evenings.

A fine of $100 or thirty days' jail has been set as the alternative punishment for violation of the ordinance, the text of which said:

"It shall be unlawful for any person to operate any instrument, device or machine of any kind whatsoever, the operation of which shall cause electrical interference with radio reception, within the city limits of the city of Fairfield, Iowa, between the hours of 12 o'clock noon and 12 o'clock midnight on any day after the date of the passage of this ordinance, and excepting only such as may be necessary in making X-ray pictures or examinations in emergency cases of physical injuries."

MADE SNOW COOLS GOODS IN TRANSIT

Commercial Usage of Carbon Dioxide Ice Is Changing

Man-made snow is making a new chapter in the story of refrigeration and the transportation of perishables and frozen things. A little of it goes further for such uses than a lot of ice. It lasts much longer than ice and when it is gone, evaporated into the air, it leaves no wet residue behind. It is made by a process which is being used in the laboratory of the U.S. Bureau of Chemistry at Washington, D.C. The process is to take carbon dioxide gas, convert it under pressure into a liquid and then solidify it. The professor opens the tank of this "liquid air" and a fall of snow to the floor. It is said made use of the principle in India to cool and carbonate his Scotch whisky. He worked out a method for producing solid carbonic acid for his drinks in New York and took out a patent, but he left it to others, deciding later to develop the idea. Justly he has been very successful.

Search for "Dawn" Renewed in Nfld.

Eight Men Heard Sound of Plane at Same Hour

St. John, Nfld.—An investigation of the reports that a plane, possibly the Dawn, was heard off the southern shore of Trinity Bay on Dec. 24, shows that six men, bird shooting from a boat, three miles off the coast, all declare that the sounds of a motor plane could be distinctly heard coming from a south-east direction. At the same hour two men on shore state that they were so positive that the sounds came from a plane that they climbed to the top of a well-known hill, about eight feet high, but the sky was overcast. Similar stories have been investigated without shaking the testimony.

As a result the area between Trinity and Conception Bay is being combed by search parties in the hope of finding the "Dawn" plane. The search has been extended over a large area because of the reward of $1,000 offered by M. A. Mosle, of New York, for the discovery of plane or occupants.

Men Called Poor Creatures As Compared With Women

London.—"Men are poor creatures compared with women," said Sir William Arbuthnot Lane, noted physician, speaking at a demonstration of the rhythmic health movement.

"It is upon the woman that the future of this country depends, and so we must do everything in our power to keep her physically fit," he said. Sir William declared it is simple to keep fit. Good, clean, healthy food, fresh air and simple exercise would keep the body fit without any of the artificial means so often indulged in.

Quiet Tea Shop League Formed in Moscow to Get Peaceful Places to Talk at Night

Moscow.—After serving as judge in the great accordion-playing contest which lasted for several days, Geizer, the prima ballerina and dancer, revolutionary millionaires and diplomat officers of Moscow, danced to the strains of the favorite instrument of the Russian workers, evoking frenzied delight in the popular audience which jammed the State Experimental Theatre.

On the same occasion Anatole Lucichursky, Commissioner of Education, declared that the accordion would suffice to satisfy the proletariat's musical yearnings till the workers and peasants were able to afford pianos. One student to think what Moscow would be like if this ambition is ever fulfilled.

Moscow is already as noisy as Naples. Where can a couple of Soviet business men go for a quiet evening's talk? The home is impossible, for Muscovites have on an average only three square feet of floor space each, which means three persons to a room, or nearly a score to a six room flat. And the Muscovites are an expansive people, who like giving up-rearious parties.

Others play the guitar, accordion, violin or piano, or, in default of these, their radio sets. Muscovites like music all evening at the flat's sole recreation. In the kitchen half a dozen burners stoves and three or four servant girls pour unceasingly. Why not go to a club? But a Moscow club is altogether unlike the New York Bankers' Club, a place of repose bordering on comfort. It is a place of agitation. Just like Jacobins' club during the French Revolution, and one is lucky if he finds the members innocently engaged in putting down the tobacco evil and not discussing colored illustrations on the ravages caused by asphyxiating gas.

In St. Petersburg there are the boulevardiers, but there one may be sure to find a planning industrial reconstruction broadcast from a lamp behind one's back.

So one Moscow league has been formed, namely, "The Friends of the Soviet Tea Shop," to agitate for the establishment of plain tea shops with tea, but without agitation.
