The Young People's Society had a special speaker on Monday evening in the person of Mr. Charlie Bellamy of Owen Sound. A special feature of the evening was the fine musical program provided by Miss Lenore Collins and Miss Lillian Wardrop. The piano solo which they rendered were very highly appreciated by the audience. The address of Mr. Bellamy on "He laughs best who laughs last," was full of sound philosophy and good advice for young people. He pointed out the place of joy in life, but that we must be careful of the things we laugh at. A very hearty vote of thanks was moved by Miss Gladys Breece for the particularly fine address. A delightful lunch was served at the close of the meeting. An invitation to visit Missie Y.P.S. next week is under consideration by the Young People.

The combined result was a very happy as well as a very profitable afternoon, the ladies clearing over fifty dollars by the sale. In return the best thanks of the ladies of the Guild is extended to all who attended, and by their presence and patronage made the undertaking a splendid success.

Many farmers from the vicinity took this opportunity of seeing the demonstrations and hearing the lectures given by the men who had charge of the train, which were very much appreciated by those present.

Illustrated Address by Mr. Arthur Clements

A fair number of the people of the village enjoyed a treat on Monday evening last when they availed themselves of the opportunity to hear Mr. Arthur Clements, the gifted organist of St. George's Church, Owen Sound, give his talk on "Hymns and Hymn Tunes". Mr. Clements told the story of the origin of certain hymns, demonstrated on the organ the difference between those that are reverent and soul-inspiring and those that are really but the jazz tunes of other days, and made clear also the way in which sometimes a really splendid hymn suffers badly from a very poor tune. In response to the request of several present Mr. Clements played a March after he had given his talk when he literally made the organ speak to the spirit of music in those present. It was unanimously felt that were Mr. Clements to come out to Chatsworth again that many more could be present. In passing it may be said that it is a great pity that more of the people of the village do not avail themselves of an opportunity of this kind. What an evening of this kind is arranged and we do not avail ourselves of it, the better side of our nature loses tremendously.

Miss Acheson had the honor of winning the second prize, a silver medal, presented to her by Mr. N. R. McKenzie of the Owen Sound Collegiate staff. Mr. Alex. Sinclair, of the O.S.C.V. I. won the first prize and will compete in the provincial contest held in Toronto in the near future. Miss Ella Fell of Dundalk won the third prize. Many congratulations are being extended to the winners.

On The Map

Those words of Sir Walter Scott's are well known when he wrote, "Breathes there the man with soul so dead Who never to himself hath said, This is my own, my native land." Pride of country is a noble thing, and only in a lesser degree is pride of one's home town a noble thing also. It is a splendid attribute in a person to find him or her loyal to the place in which they live. During the past few weeks articles and letters have appeared in "The Banner" with reference to "putting Chatsworth on the map", but since some of these were rather of a critical nature we may doubt the wisdom of the lines suggested for improvement. We can all help to put Chatsworth on the map but our efforts must be constructive and not destructive. We can first of all take some pride and some interest in the place in which we live. We can help forward its institutions, we can be jealous for its good name. We can all do something to make the life of the citizens richer and happier. We can be men amongst men, and women amongst women. We can all try to be as manly and as womanly as possible. We can be courteous and considerate allowing for the opinions of others. We can help our community upward and forward, and make it better known also by supporting our local paper.

It is just a question as to whether we all realize the opportunity that is at present ours to support and make possible a paper for our home village and district. Surely we should all support our own paper and thereby help it to serve us still better. Our merchants for instance should come forward and in fairness to the village and community show some interest in those who patronize them, by making known their wares and prices through the local newspaper. After all this would be only fair, they should not just take it as a matter of course when people step into their store. If our merchants were to advertise their wares in the local paper, its circulation would certainly soon become much larger, and before long we would have a real worthwhile paper, a paper that we would look forward to seeing on Friday morning.

Then there is the recently formed Horticultural Society which every loyal citizen should be glad to join for the sake of the community in which he lives. Efforts were recently made to form a Choral Society in Chatsworth but owing to certain circumstances for the present at any rate, this will be impossible. Let us arouse ourselves from our lethargy and put Chatsworth on the map.

Successful Carnival

On Wednesday night a masquerade carnival was held in the local rink. This was the second one of the season and, doubtless, the success of the first had much to do with the very large turnout which graced the spectators' boards on that night.

The first carnival was staged chiefly for seniors, however, and the smaller boys and girls quite naturally looked forward to the night when they would be able to display their various costumes and graceful methods of skating. On watching the children contending in any such event there is always an element of amusement present which is lacking in any similar adult contest and the spills on the watery surface, combined with the affected mannerisms of the jokers, proved no exception to this on Wednesday night.

In addition to the awarding of prizes for the various costumes, two most interesting and enjoyable race events were staged. The musical keg race is particularly worthy of special mention because it did indeed provide amusement galore for the on-lookers. Fred Myles, who displayed the knowledge of a lawyer, the wisdom of a judge, the observance of a Jesse James, the faith of a Casabianca, and the courage of a La Salle, captured the last keg and "took home the bacon" in this event.

After the program had been run off everyone enjoyed skating to the fine music of the Canadian Legion Band of Owen Sound. The skating public of the community is indeed grateful to the local rink manager for the enjoyable skating which they have had to this hand on different occasions throughout the winter.

The prize winners of the various events follow: National costume, lady Mary Hamilton; National costume, Mr. F. Myles; Best dressed boy, R. Bell; Best dressed girl, Mrs. Bell; Best dressed boy, C. Loucks; Best dressed girl, Marjorie Woods; Best dressed lady, G. Breece; Racing girl, first, Isabelle Woods; Racing boy, first, J. Bell; Best comic boy, J. Shute; Musical keg race winner, F. Myles; Obstacle race, M. McFarlane; Largest load from distance, Beverley Prowd.

Hockey

Hazz-bins vs The Regulars
Within the last few weeks there has been a great awakening of interest in the national game of hockey in the village and when the sign boards on the street last Monday announced a clash between the Old Timers and the present, unconquerable sextette, interest was at fever heat.

The fans knew that right in their own midst there are players who once "proved their mettle" to sporting Canada, and as a result a fair sized crowd turned out to see what promised to be one of the fastest, awe-inspiring, hair-raising exhibitions of hockey imaginable.

And their lot was not disappointment. The present team presented their usual indomitable line-up, while the pros. were composed of such outstanding stars as Macdonald, Clark, Galbraith, Boves, etc. Each of the hazz-bins—however inappropriate that may be—trotted out on that surface determined to cast off for one hour such incongruous hockey attributes as surplus weight, lack of condition, etc., and show their ability to display their old hockey selves of ten and fifteen years ago. But limitations of paper construction precluded the presentation of this game as a brief linear succession of plays, so let us get on with the game proper.

In period one it was plainly evident that the regulars decided to just nose around and drag their man, while the hazz-bins, knowing this, were just as determined to keep from out-winding themselves and so this period delivered an acceptable brand of defensive hockey. It was not long, however, till the regular forwards broke away, and with difficulty enough scored two counters. Thus the first period ended 2-0.

The pros. must have talked affairs over during rest period, because in the beginning of the second stanza things were, without doubt, exciting at their opponents' end of the rink and if it had not been for the outstanding work of Cook in goal, there might have been a runaway. Period two had gone twelve and a half minutes, when, during a sleeping spell of the regulars, Galbraith snatched a loose puck at the blue line and bulged the twine. The rushes of Macdonald and Clark at this time were well worth watching as was also the backchecking of Boves and Walker, and the goal tending of Sinclair. The regulars pressed hard too and with difficulty brought their total up to six, but before the period ended Clark passed out the puck from the corner to Walker who scored. And now the score ended

Williamsford

The Williamsford W.M.S. their monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Harry Heft. There seven members and one visitor.

Hockey Achievements
The hockey season is now drawing to a close and we think it only proper to mention, in a brief way, the laurels which the local team has won during the winter.

Although accurate record of the number of games played has not been kept, yet, we recall that not one week went by without one game and most weeks presented two if not three games. For that reason the total was just as great as that of most teams participating in the O.H.A., and waging their way through to the finals in that league.

Throughout the whole winter just from this great total just two games were lost and one was a disputed tie. One of the losses was to Dundalk last week and by the small score of 2-1. No alibi is offered for losing this one but we are quite confident that when the return game is played, if goals count, Chatsworth will win the round. The other loss was to the Sr Dumbells of Owen Sound about a month ago when two of the regulars were laid up through illness and un-

Want Advt.

$2,500.00 CHATSWORTH PROPERTY FOR SALE—Red brick house, wired, 10 rooms, large veranda, cement floor in cellar, 1/2 of an acre, fruit and shade trees, stable and driving shed, front and back driveways, A. McGillivray, Chatsworth.

Is this true of your town?

Just as there are farmers who make very good money by intensively cultivating a few acres so there are merchants in small towns who do a surprisingly large business. Of course, they too cultivate their territory intensively—they don't wait for their customers to come to them—they go to their customers with frequent offers of what they know will tempt them. And they seem to sell every body.

So regularly do they keep in touch with their customers that their offers of merchandise are eagerly awaited, and are read as if they were news—which they are.

These merchants use Long Distance frequently, to order goods for prompt shipment or to fill in sizes—and they find it good business to call important customers by Long Distance to advise them of opportunities.

Horticultural Society

Notice is hereby given that Mr. Harry will officially organize the Chatsworth and Community Horticultural Society on Wednesday, April 11th at 8 o'clock p.m. in the Town Hall, Chatsworth. It is hoped that a large gathering will be present.
