Sunnidale Farmer Fatally Injured

An accident with fatal results happened about 2 p.m. Tuesday, at a grave pit on the 500 Markin farm "Corner Hill," Sunnidale Township, which is about 1/2 mile from the corner of the road and the residence of the deceased.

It appears that the deceased man was working in a pit together with his son, Roy, and Oscar Law. The face of the pit was about twenty feet deep and this had been more or less undermined. Scenting danger, owing to the mild weather the three men discussed the situation.

The man now dead is said to have remarked: "Some one is going to be killed around here, if that breaks." His son, Roy, warned him to take no chances, but destiny had other plans. In the twinkling of an eye, the slide occurred. The unfortunate man trapped was buried to the shoulders. As quickly as possible he was released and removed to his home. Dr. W. D. Smith of Creemore was called and found the unfortunate man terribly crushed about the hips and shoulders. Nothing could be done but relieve his terrible sufferings. Death occurred about three hours later.

This and That

By the Janitor. Some curlers will never be accused of playing the game in high speed.

A pitch hole is a place where the harnessmaker's guarantee is put to the test.

Spring is coming even though there are very few signs of it up to the present.

Some livery horses are said to have only two speeds: slow and slower. Some men might be put in the same class.

The married man who waits a minute while his wife is getting ready will have some idea of the length of eternity.

A Northern Ontario man is reported to have been frozen to death when he went out on a cold night attired in his wife's wearing apparel.

Overheard in the Seed Train on Monday—Lecturer: "And now young ladies, can you tell me what insects work for us?" Stage whisper: "Men!"

One of the local senators has given out the information that the majority of the members have more time to smoke now and are better able to say "before" than they were when they were young fellows.

"Should" Matt. Woods have a driver's license to operate his sedan on main route No. 5, Markdale? It is one of the questions being discussed by the local senators.

It was in Shelburne that the Scotchman was going down the street with a pair of trousers over his arm and on being asked where he was going, replied, "To The Free Press office."

The local senators are considering the advisability of having a few women members so that they might decide for sure whether Sherlock Holmes is the maker of a piano or a great detective.

Three high pressure salesmen are following the Seed Train and are extracting considerable coin of the realm from numerous farmers for subscriptions to one of the Toronto weekly papers.

None of the school children appreciated the visit to the Government Demonstration Train in Markdale on Monday when they were all allowed a couple of hours to look it over. Believe that and we'll tell you another.

Now that the Ontario Legislature has passed the bill permitting the village council to invest $5000 in the new skating rink and the project looks like a sure thing, we'll have to locate our old spring skates and get them ready for the opening night.

They grow good potatoes in the West, 'tis said. A new family had settled in one of the sections where they grow extra large spuds and one of the younger members of the family was sent to the neighbour to get a half bushel. He returned empty handed with the information that the neighbour would not cut a potato and they would have to take a whole one which would be at least a bushel.

The Ontario Legislature has refused to annul the incorporation of the village of Wroxeter. When the application came up, it was opposed by Mr. Thos. G. Hemphill, the mill owner, so the Legislature refused to act on the matter until a vote is taken on the question.

Many people seem to think that the right thing to do on finding an article of value is to keep same until it is advertised by the loser. This is all wrong. It is the duty of every person on finding any article of value to advertise same at once. Unless this is done the finder is liable to be proceeded against for theft for keeping the article and not advertising it. The cost of such advertising is always collectable from the owner before delivery is made.

Lucknow Youth Dies From Fall on Ice

Allan Murdoch, 14-year-old son of Mrs. J. G. Murdoch of Lucknow, died suddenly on Tuesday of last week from what is believed to be the result of a bad fall on the ice the evening before. He, with a number of other boys and girls were skating on the river and he failed to notice a wire fence, a strand of which caught him above the eye and he fell violently backwards on his head. He was rendered unconscious for a short time, but later resumed the sport of skating. In the morning he did not feel so well, and about noon complained of being sick, and a physician was called, but he sank rapidly and was dead within an hour. It is thought that the fall on the ice burst a blood vessel in the head, and a clot formed on the brain. His father died when he was but a baby, leaving a widow and three sons.

Must Destroy Weeds

The Ontario Department of Highways is taking a decided stand on the matter of cutting noxious weeds on the public highways. Hereafter it will be compulsory upon all township councils to cut the weeds on the highways as often as may be necessary to prevent their going to seed. Failure to do so will result in the withholding of Highways Grant. The Dept. will pay 30% subsidy on the expense of cutting the weeds. There will be some extra work for the Arran Patrolmen this year.

Telling the World of Canada's Wonders

Morley Roberts and John Murray Gibson, two well-known authors, whose books have gone far to awaken world-wide interest in the Rocky Mountains of Canada. This photo was made this year at the Trail Riders' Fair, near Lake Louise.

Of the countless thousands of those who have lifted up their eyes unto the hills that are in British Columbia and Alberta, and have seen something of the majesty and the glory that is theirs, many have gone back to set down in books what they could of their impressions and as far as their words could conjure up visions of Canada's Rockies before the eyes of the Westerner. Thus there exists a literature of the Canadian Rockies. It grew slowly but it has become of world-wide importance, but as there has spread a more general recognition of their place among the world's scenic wonders the numbers of writers who have made pilgrimages to their countless vast shrines has steadily increased.

If we exclude tales of pioneers and explorers who were the first to wend their ways through the valleys and passes that led to the Pacific Coast, we shall find that one of the earliest of the world's recognized writers to fall under their spell was how they are castled with arch and bridge, butness! This is the Great Cathedral of the cave of Aodius, the home of the hurricane; this is the most beloved by the sun-ere come the first of the day beam here they linger last on rocky covering the neck whose shadow.

It would seem that the Rocky Mountains have a background, but the books of Ralph Connor are particularly "The Sundance Trail" which is set in the vicinity of Banff.

The Mountain literature is a new novel from the pen of John Murray Gibson and one better known than the Rockies and loves them heartily. "Eyes of a Gypsy" is a book of human emotions and the story of his action takes place in the Canadian Rockies. The people are mostly those whom Canadians will be met with in any country. Reviewers say that Morley Roberts' book Mr. Gibson has certainly holds the first place in the history of the Rockies. Reviewers say that the ordinary run of people who make Canada their home are not aware of the scenic glories known to the West.
