Chicago.—Reasons for caution are seen in the stock market boom by Chicago banking authorities. Recession of securities prices is anticipated. When the tide runs out, however, new standards of investment will be re vealed as established, it is expected. Davod R. Forgan of the National Bank of the Republic, one of Chicago's leading bankers, said: "Conservative bankers are of course inclined to think that speculation has gone too far, but Wilher: "No. sir, it's rice pudding," the whole country is in it, and it will lake something more than an increase

Stocking a Fishless District According to all available reports and information no species of trout has been found in the waters of southern Saskatchewan. Beginning in 1924 the Dominion Dept. of Marine and Fisheries planted brown and Loch Leven trout fry in several streams in the Cypress Hills district and closed these streams to fishing. Up to the present the fish have done very well They have survived three winters some reproduced last autumn in their third year; and specimens have been caught nearly a pound in weight and over a foot in length. While it is too soon to form an opinion regarding the final outcome of this introduction, the evidence to date is causing much local interest and enthusiasm, as the pros pect of angling in a district that has hitherto been devoid of such sport is viewed with pleasure.
