A very jolly evening was spent last Wednesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Bowes, when Miss Verna Bowes and Miss Jessie McGillivray entertained with a china shower in honor of the bride-elect, Miss Gladys Breesse. After a half-hour's fun, during which Miss Gladys was kept busy opening packages containing old things, potato mashers, etc., Miss Gladys found herself "undoing" pretty and useful dishes of all kinds and colors. Mrs. Bowes' pretty rooms were beautifully decorated with lilacs and other flowers; and after the serving of dainty refreshments, the twenty-five guests departed, with compliments to the three hostesses, and merry best wishes to Miss Breesse.

A social event of the week was the trousseau tea given by Mrs. J. Breesse to enable friends of herself and daughter, Miss Gladys, to see the lovely trousseau gowns, and equally lovely contents of the "green box" of Miss Gladys, whose wedding in the early future has been announced, the happy man being Dr. Elmer Chisholm of Ingersoll, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Chisholm of Chatsworth. Little Miss Ena Breesse opened the door. Mrs. Breesse, in a gown of rosea green, and Miss Gladys, in primrose-yellow silk, received the many guests. Upstairs Mrs. (Dr.) McCullough presided over the two rooms filled with just such beautiful things as are dear to the feminine heart, many of which were the product of the bride-to-be's own skillful fingers. Meanwhile, in the dining room, whose table was prettily decorated with parrot tulips, narcissi, and lilacs of the valley, Mrs. A. Chisholm poured tea. Miss Hannah Breesse served the dainty refreshments. The decorations of the drawing-room were white and mauve lilacs. In the evening the younger set of the village were received, and Miss Hannah Breesse officiated at the table, while Miss Gladys Breesse and little Miss Ena served. In all, during the afternoon and evening, Mrs. Breesse and Miss Gladys entertained about a hundred.

Milson - McCrabb Wedding

A wedding of interest to the people of Chatsworth and vicinity was that of Mr. Wm. Milson, R.R. 3, Chatsworth (Sullivan), and Miss Rowena McCrabb of Winton, which took place on June 8th at Division St. Manse, Owen Sound, Rev. J. McInnis conducting the ceremony.
The bride, who was attended by Miss Vera Milson, sister of the groom, was charmingly kowled in beige tulle crepe, with hat and stockings to match, and blonde shoes; and carried a bouquet of roses, lily of the valley and fern. Miss Vera wore rose crepe and a white hat, and carried sweet peas with lily of the valley and fern. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Milson spent a motoring honeymoon, visiting Toronto, Hamilton, Niagara, St. Catharines and Thorold, and returning by way of Barrie, Collingwood and Meaford. At Niagara they were fortunate enough to be present at the color illumination of the Falls, which takes place once a year to the accompaniment of fireworks sent up from the American side, and on Goat Island.

The church was beautifully decorated with palms, ferns and pink hydrangeas, a fitting setting for the bride, who wore a gown of pilot blue georgette, blonde mohair hat, shoes and hose to match, and carried a bouquet of sunset roses. The bridesmaid, the bride's sister May, was gowned in beige georgette, with beige and brown mohair hat, and carried Columbia roses. The groom was supported by Mr. W. R. Sisson as best man, the ushers being Mr. A. A. Braidwood and Mr. Herbert Colclough. During the signing of the register Mr. James Stevenson sang "Benedictus, it is more."

Grey Educational Association Meets in Chatsworth

An event of unusual significance to our village took place on June 9th, when the Grey branch of the Educational Association of Ontario met in the town hall, with the President of the branch, Mr. R. Crane, in the chair. The hall was quite well filled with teachers, trustees and ratepayers, but it is to be hoped that the next time such a meeting is held here the seats will all be packed. Such events help to keep people aware of just what is being done, and what can be done, for the children,—the most important work in any community, since upon the foundation so laid everything else must be built.
After the reading of a Scripture lesson—most appropriately the Parable of the Talents—by Rev. John Graham, Rector of the Anglican Church, and the offering of prayer by Rev. W. A. MacWilliam of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, the children of the Public School sang "O Canada".
Reeve S. H. Breesse welcomed the Convention to Chatsworth in a short but felicitous address, and Mr. R. Jolley, Secretary, read the minutes of the last meeting, held in Meaford. The election of officers for the ensuing year followed, and resulted in the re-election of all members of the Executive:
President—Mr. Robt. Crane.
Vice-President—Mr. H. J. Corbett, Proton.
Secretary-Treasurer—Mr. Robert Jolley, Woodford.
Auditors—Messrs. McGillivray and Bishop.

By vote of the meeting it was decided that the President and Secretary be the next delegates to the general convention of the O.E.A., held in Toronto about Easter. It was also decided that the next meeting of the Grey branch will be at Dundalk.
After community singing, efficiently conducted by Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Bell, Sullivan, the business of the meeting began with an interesting address on "The Aims of Education" given by Mr. W. M. Morris, Toronto, who is Secretary-Treasurer of the O.E.A., and also editor of the Canadian School Board Journal, which is published in Port Perry, and should be in the hands of all school trustees.
Mr. Morris began by saying that rural people in general should try to get rid of the "inferior complex"; sometimes found among them in spite of the fact that the farmer is among the most highly educated people in the world, considering the vast amount of knowledge he must have to farm efficiently. It is often said that our schools are driving the young people off the farm. Mr. Morris agreed with President Roy-Morris of the O.A.C., who said in an address last year that it is the parents who are driving them off by their grumblings over the "drudgery," and determination that their children shall have an easier time than they themselves have had. Then they blame the schools. Mr. Morris declared that the farmer-calling, which is the only one which operates with the Creator in creating growth of food.

All people concerned with children should have some conception of what aim should be striving for in dealing with them. "What do we want them to be?" Mr. Morris considered character the most important aim. Reading, writing and arithmetic are simply the tools of an education. Through the use of these tools, comes training for life. We try to give children mastery of them in order that they shall continue to learn. A person should never write "Finitis" to his education; it should go on forever.
In passing Mr. Morris remarked that it is a disaster that schools are not better supplied with good, suitable books for supplementary reading. Schools are losing, by not making use of the Government grant for books, which is given if School Boards will put up a certain amount of money, say $10, for the purpose themselves. Give the children a love for reading.
The aims, then are: (1) To make the children skilful in the use of the tools. (2) To have them continue to use them. (3) To teach them how to link their education up with life, by giving them training for the life they are likely to live. Mr. Morris considered that many people in cities should be on farms, and should be trained for rural life because they are adapted for it. On the other hand some young people ought to leave the farms and go to the cities. People should always do what they are best adapted for.
(4) "What shall it profit a man if he know how to make a living and know not how to live?"
No one should be circumscripted.

Dr. George I. Christie, B.S.A., of Purdue University, Indiana, succeeds Dr. Reynolds as President of the O.A.C. Much space has been devoted to aviation news in the recent newspapers. On June 9th the Italia's base ship, Clitta Milano, got into radio communication with the crew of the missing dirigible, and learned that it had come down on the ice of the Arctic Circle near North East Land; also that General North and his crew were in dire straits with but little fuel and frost-bitten hands and feet, making painful way over the broken, drifting ice towards land, with two of the crew of sixteen injured by an accident, and three missing. At once relief expeditions started towards the point from all directions, Italy despatching the big sea-plane Savoia, and Russia the great monoplane Southern Cross, manned by Pilots Chas. Kingsford-Smith and Chas. Ulm, Australians, and Navigator Harry W. Lyons, and radio operator James Warner, Americans, landed at Brisbane, Australia, after a flight across the Pacific from Oakland, Cal. The distances covered were: Oakland to Hawaii, 2400 miles; then to Fiji Islands, 3138 miles; then to Australia, 1762 miles. The trip covered 8 days.
At time of writing interest is centring on the trans-Atlantic flight in which two women are contesting for the notoriety of being the first woman to cross. Miss Amelia Earhart is trying it in a Fokker monoplane, leaving Newfoundland, accompanied by William Stultz, pilot, and Lore Gordon, mechanic. Miss Mabel Boll flew from Curtiss Field, N. Y., on June 11th, in the monoplane Columbia, with pilot Oliver de Boutillier and Capt. Arthur Argles.
In England a curious public is following the flight of the 62-year old Duchess of Bedford, who left London on June 10th in the Princess Xenia, with Capt. C. Barnard, on a flight to Sofia, then on to India.
