Educational Conservation

Jack Miner Calls Attention to Great Wealth of Ontario's No. 1 and Her Lakes.

$100 from Tourists as Good as $100 from Wheat Shipped Out

Game and Fish Conservation is a National Asset.

Jack Miner, president of the Ontario Conservation Association, in a recent issue of the Ontario Globe, pointed out the fact that Ontario's greatest wealth is her lakes and her forests. He says that during the last few years he has been lecturing to about a million or more school children in North America, and that he has emphasized the importance of building bird houses. He says that he has seen a child build a bird house and that he will naturally erect one on his own and that boy or girl at once becomes a conservationist. More often, he becomes a better citizen because of the love kindled in his heart. He certainly will not kill the bird that is going to nest in a house that he has made, nor is he likely to allow any other person to destroy a bird in his vicinity.

"This I call educational conservation. But we must not lose sight of the fact that we have got to have laws and strict laws—for experience and personal observation have taught me that kind. And we have got to enforce these laws. There is a small percentage—less than five per cent—who are outlaws, and this small percentage of people easily can upset what has been accomplished by the majority of people."

"Too many citizens look at conservation as merely a sportsman's position, when the fact of the matter is it is one of Ontario's biggest assets. Between Sudbury and Fort Williams there are thousands of square miles of territory which has been stripped of its valuable timber, and at present practically good only for muskrat, big game hunting and fishing. No State in the United States or Province in Canada has such a vast sportsman's paradise, and if we will take the wolves out and let the deer increase, not only by the actual money paid out for licenses, but that left in the country by tourists and hunters, will give a bountiful return. Stop and think of the different places tourists leave money—railways, gas stations, hotels, stores, taxis, boat fares, rent of cottages, rents of boats, and most encouraging of all, the money he would leave with the guides and setters.

Are You Ready?

When your Children Cry for It

Baby has little upsets at times. All your care cannot prevent them. But you can be prepared. Then you can do what any experienced nurse would do—what most physicians would tell you to do—give a few drops of plain Castoria. No sooner done than Baby is soothed, relief is just a matter of moments. Yet you have eased your child without use of a single doubtful drug. Castoria is vegetable. So it's safe to use as often as an infant has any little pain you cannot put away. And it's always ready for the crueler pangs of colic or constipation, or diarrhea, or other trouble for older children. Twenty-five million bottles were brought last year.

Indigestion

WATER

One tasteless spoonful in water neutralizes many times its volume in acid. The results are immediate, with no bad after-effects. Once you learn this fact, you will never deal with excess acid in the crudy ways. Go learn now—why this method is supreme.

No sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. Each bottle contains full directions—any drugstore.

What most people call indigestion is really excess acid in the stomach. The dose has several. The instant you feel an attack which neutralizes this acid, you will never again have indigestion. You will find nothing else so quick in its effect, so harmless, so efficient.

The Overflow of Our Lives

By Jack Miner

One Thursday afternoon in April, 1926, a big car stopped in front of my house and as three gentlemen stepped out, I recognized the familiar face of William "Pop" Stinson, of Dorset, organizer of I.W.O.L.A. in that vicinity, as one of the party. I at once went to the road and my friend Will introduced me to Charles Fold and James Heyworth of Chicago, and as we four strolled along my premises we apparently fell in love with each other, and to be truthful, I don't ever remember seeing the wild geese act more abundantly cheerful than they were that memorable afternoon for the water, land and air seemed filled with them and the voices of their wings and honking notes combined with the humming of hundreds of mourning doves and the songs of robins and other birds that made the evergreens that border Goose ponds fairly echo with Goll-goll-goll. All this combined with the regularity and vigorous growth of the trees have planted seeds of hope in the hearts of many. I held these dear men speechless. Finally Charles Fold put an arm around me and said, "Mr. Miner," I said, "Just call me Jack, please," then he checked and said, "Well, Jack, you noticed we are not here for anything. Jack, my dear fellow, I am speaking to you, this is beyond our belief, this demonstration to the world, a new idea, namely, letting the birds come to us to be taken care of."

"We went to the lake and I saw five times as many speckled trout going up that stream as this whole fishing party of ten of us caught in the two days, but before leaving I took particular notice and there was a public fisherman's path beside this trout stream."

Now who was the cause of these speckled beauties glittering their way up and up—and up—the stream, why certainly the very same class of self-sacrificing men that paid my way and were the cause of me being there to see them."

God tells us in his word "that a good man leaveth an inheritance to his children." Who will doubt this blessed promise, when we think of our beloved Will Dig, the founder of our Izaak Walton League. Bless his dear memory, he left a heritage to a wasteful nation, for the overflow of his life was the I.W.O.L.A. He joined us together so that if we will only be self-sacrificing enough we can soon pay back our debt of extravagance and have the thrilling and loving enjoyment of seeing the overflow of our lives go over the top and up the stream. The same as I saw the overflow of "Pop" Stinson's, Jim Heyworth's and Charlie Fold's life going up the stream for our children's children.

Britons Smoke Less But Eat More Candy

Englishwomen, However, Are Cutting Down on Sweets and Taking to Tobacco

The trade papers of English confectionery and tobacco manufacturing show by statistics that Englishmen are eating more candy and smoking less, while their women are smoking more and eating less candy.

The causes were debated in London recently at a confectionery exhibition organized by the Manufacturers Confectioners' Alliance, held at Olympia. The situation had become serious, the head of one firm said, because "while girls had gone off sweets, a deficit in consumption has not been made up by the men. Smoking kills the taste for sweetmeats, and kills the craving for smoking. We are not interested in how soon men will return to smoking. Our problem is how to increase the consumption of sweets among women."

For the change in the habits of the sexes, said:

"The war-caused it. The manufacturing of confectionery was cut down; that of tobacco was increased. Cigarettes were plentiful everywhere. The men, when they went abroad, were sent to the front. In the trenches smoking was very often forbidden, but the men could eat on all occasions the millions of pounds of sweets sent over, while the women over there and at home began to smoke because they considered it more interesting with their war work than nibbling sweets. The men brought back the habit with them, with a particular taste for caramel flavors.

Blue Bloods for Canadian Pool

Calgary, Alta.—Considerable interest was evinced when the Prince of Wales, heir to the British throne, joined the membership ranks of the Alberta Wheat Pool last year. The popular Prince excites the E. P. Ranch, which is located west of High River, Alberta.

Just recently another British nobleman signed an Alberta Wheat Pool contract. This personage is George Herbert, eighth Baron of Rodney, who operates a thousand-acre farm east of Edmonton.

In 1912 Lord Rodney and his wife came to Canada. On their arrival in Edmonton they hired out as "man and wife" employees of a bachelor farmer near Fort Saskatchewan. While Lady Rodney did the cooking, her husband worked as a hired man. For a whole summer they cooked, slept and worked from sun-up until sun-down. A few years later Lord Rodney bought a farm in the district and has since increased its size to a thousand acres. He is a real farmer and talks as hard as most of his neighbors.

Cholera Infantum

Cholera infantum is one of the fatal ailments of childhood. It is a trouble that comes on suddenly, especially during the summer months, and unless prompt action is taken the little one may soon be beyond aid. Baby's Own Tablets are an ideal medicine in warding off this trouble. They regulate the bowels and sweeten the stomach and thus prevent the dreaded summer complaints. They are an absolutely safe medicine, being guaranteed to contain neither opium, morphine, nor other harmful drugs. They cannot possibly do harm—they always do good. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Renunciation

You would renounce the fabled sea. Forgive your culture and abidid. An unprotesting cavalier. Domesticated at my side.

You proffered twice your gallant dreams. And left your freedom at my feet. And placed the colors of my career. In some inglorious retreat.

Because I love you foolishly. I bid you go—I must be wise... I could not bear the daily fear. Of unglazed dawning in your eyes.

Because I love you all too well. I shake my head and make you go; I give you to the seven seas— Perhaps I shall not lose you so! —Alice Porter.

The Color Problem in South Africa

Round Table (London): The native in South Africa will slowly penetrate into the higher ranks of labor and establish a claim to equality of economic opportunity with the white man. There are many who fear and oppose the doctrine of economic equality, for they see in it the road to social and political equality—not in the immediate future, perhaps not for five or ten generations, but in the end inevitably. With social equality they see the extinction of the white race, with political equality the disappearance of white ideals. They fear that five hundred years from now Sir Barry Johnston's prophecy may have justified itself and it may have been shown that the colonization of Africa by alien peoples produce a compromise—a dark-skinned race with a white man's features and a white man's brains. But what the dim future may hold no one can now usefully predict.

Sunburn in Moderate Cases Has Good Value Although Care Should Be Taken

Washington.—"The general public has been so impressed with the value and necessity of sun baths in the prevention and cure of illness, that people, in some instances, have gone to extremes and severe sunburn have resulted," says a bulletin issued by the U.S. Public Health Service. "In several cases of persons who have been quite ill following extensive sunbaths have been reported recently by the Public Health Service.
