EDITORIAL

CO-OPERATIVE ENDEAVOR There is much to be said in favor of co-operation. As a matter of fact there is very little in the public interest accomplished by any other method. The individual effort may bring results to the individual but where the community is concerned there are no results worth while obtained by solo work.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Markdale needs a booster club of some kind—one that will boost unselfishly. The Herald is advocating for a new rink in Dundalk and it looks as though there may be a chance of getting results, but there is a long strip of red tape to unwind and much labor to perform before ice can be made on their new arena.

Barrehead Women's Institute

The Institute met on February 7. Twelve members and two visitors were present. After the usual opening exercises the members answered the call by a winter evening pastime. Letters of appreciation for kind remembrances when in trouble were read by Mrs. R. Sewell from Mrs. Hamilton, Mrs. Torry and Mrs. White. Then came the business part of the meeting and it was decided that they would hold a St. Patrick's entertainment in the school.

Sickly Boy, 7 Gains 15 Pounds—Father Happy

"My boy, 7, would not eat. I gave him Vinol and the way he eats and plays now makes me happy. He gained 15 pounds." F. E. Andrea. Vinol is a delicious compound of cod liver, potatoes, iron, etc. The very first bottle often adds several pounds weight to thin children or adults. Nervous, easily tired, anemic people are surprised how Vinol gives new pep, sound sleep and a BIG appetite. Tastes delicious. R. L. Stephens, Druggist.

Parliament in Session

A typical February snow storm ushered in the third session of the 16th Parliament. Snow had fallen steadily all night. The morning of February 7th found the snow piled high everywhere. The Capital City was in festive robes of white. Everything went off well—the speeches included. Reviving an ancient custom, His Excellency, the Governor-General, drove from Rideau Hall to Parliament Hill in an open sleigh, accompanied by out-riders, and received by a company of Governor-General Foot Guards. Inside the Senate Chamber, on the floor—on the night of this and other days. The seats were occupied by ladies in elaborate evening dress, ambassadors and consuls of other countries, leading men of church and state, industry and commerce. The Ladies of the Empire sat with their backs to each other. The Court dress of the Prime Minister, with gold braid and diamonds, shone brightly in the scene. With His Majesty at his side, at his right, the members of Parliament standing in dignified array to the back of the long room, and while the provided galleries sprang into being, the stage is set for the reading of the Speech from the Throne. After a fitting word of congratulating for the King's progress to health, the speech said a good deal about the good and abundant crops. Mention was made of the expansion in mining; the reorganization of Marine and Fisheries Department; the inauguration of the Canadian Steamship Service; the restoration of penny postage in the British Empire; the progress of the Hudson Bay Railway, now only thirty-eight miles from Churchill, only further branch lines were foreshadowed; legislation to give the Board of Railway Commissioners power to investigate "affairs" in relation to subsidiary concerns, will be sought. With a paragraph devoted to immigration, and another to the return of the natural resources to Western Provinces, a word about the new legislation, a mention of the outlawry of war pacts, the speech concluded, with a wish for the guidance of Divine Providence on the deliberations.

Usually several weeks are taken up by what is called the Address to His Excellency in reply to the Speech from the Throne. This year only seven members took part. In five hours it was over.

The proposal of Mr. Cahoon of Montreal, to name a Committee to look into the whole business of titles caused a lively, interesting and humorous debate, and it was finally defeated.
