

The Empire Ideal and An Empire Idea

Sir Robert Hadfield Proposes a New "British Empire Development Board as Though We Were All on One Continent Instead of Being Scattered."

"It is generally recognized that the growth of the Dominions in prosperity reacts in the Mother Country; they are our best customers, relatively population, and as they make fuller use of resources they buy more of our manufactures and provide steady employment for our industrial population."

"Sir Robert Hadfield forward with a proposal the movement by settling Empire Development Board, leading men from all parts, drawing its funds and private sources, and from party policies." London.

"It has long been my conviction that the British Empire is an Imperial Development of considerable magnitude, to be used, under agreement, low citizens over the seas, for the purpose of developing the sources and opportunities on which the money ship and the uses to which it would be matters for writes Sir Robert Hadfield in the Empire Mail under the heading of "A Plea for Organized Development." He makes following pointed suggestions:

"In order that such discussion might proceed continuously and decisions put promptly into effect, that a Federal Council of Empire Development Board, with representatives from all parts of the Empire and with a permanent organization and personnel in each country.

"The sessions of the need not be continuous, should be more frequent meetings of the Imperial Conference, for example; and they should be held various times in relation to the various possibilities of the Empire."

A Permanent Organization

"We in the United Kingdom pay $615 legacies to Members of Parliament, fees of $12 per annum to each Member of Parliament, £100 to £120 per annum plus expenses here; Canada pays $1,000 to about 250 members; Australia pays per annum $1,000 to about 250 members; New Zealand $1,000 to 50 members."

"Yet there is no body of men dealing directly with the development of the whole, the largest and a fine way the world has ever known."

"It is not reasonable that the utilization of our imperial estate is a matter of the whole active representation, Council, and the best brains in the world. Some might be better workmen than others. I see no reason why permanent staff should not represent paid officials, thus, draw on our very best."

"It would probably be neither practical nor desirable for men and women to serve on the Empire Development Board, but the board should be a permanent institution to maintain a continual supply of new members. The period of service might be rigidly specified; it would be elected for a period of two or three years extension if he or she were on a particular scheme that period."

"This and other details affect the plan as a whole, opinion, no consideration of time, distance, the urgent need for a permanent and adequate organization devoted, solely, to the great work of helping on the Empire development."

On the Broadest Possible Lines

"In order to provide a basis for discussion, I would suggest that the Board should interpret development on the broadest possible lines. Thus, work as import, bringing the existing facilities for trade and transport, devote special attention of extension by assistance up of new means of transport, railways, roads, harbors, docks, dams, canals, construction of hydroelectric power plants, the foundation of new industries, the opening up of districts for farming, of forestry, and so on."

"These matters, it may be said, are the business of the countries concerned. Undoubtedly, so far as the ultimate control and operation of these works is concerned, but I am confident that an Empire Development Board, fully constituted and elected, working with a full knowledge of conditions throughout the Empire, and possessed of suitable financial resources, could assist in the rapid and efficient development of the gifts of Nature and the opportunities of mankind in the various parts of the Empire, without any suscipitios or infringement of the rights of the country concerned, or any of its citizens."

"My suggestion is that this Empire Development Board, representing the whole of the Empire, should be constituted in such a manner as to make it as attractive as possible. The main organization should offer temptations to men of the highest ability, who should be more than well paid."

Firs Steps and Principles

The first step is to set up a Federal Council, whose activities will not be subjected to the influences of party politics; that is, it would be kept out of the political arena. The next is to raise an adequate Empire Development Fund.

Ontario Champions

MAKE TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIP SISTERLY AFFAIR. Olive Wade (right), who defeated her sister, Mrs. Elsie Gray (left), for Southern Ontario tennis champion.

Communists Show Lack of Stamina

Put to the Test Reveal They Are But Human

AT MOCK INVASION Dramatic Method Adopted to Discover Fitness for Responsibility

MOSCOW.—At least one localized revolt against the Soviets has been admitted, and admitted with some pride, by the loyal press here.

It happened in the village Noshenskaya, in the Kansky district of Siberia, a district that remembers vividly the horrors of civil strife which drenched Siberia in blood in the first years of the revolution. Like a thousand other places which carry the wounds of those years, Noshenskaya has jumpy nerves on the subject of revolts and counter-revolts.

Merchandise featured in the village was an accumulation of "shelf values" that were out of date or unpopular. Perfectly frank descriptions of the goods were published in the advertisement. Goods that were old and shopworn were so described, and the merchandise was out of style, the mention of the day of sale, the major portion of the goods, was reported sold.

Work that the Bureau of Standards is doing will make fewer and fewer "white elephants" on merchants' shelves; eight years it has assisted industry in simplifying 100 commodities, limiting them only to those which are in constant demand by consumers, Mr. Hudson says.

Dead Sea Claim Rejected by British

Jerusalem.—A categorical rejection of the French claim to the present Turkish Dead Sea concession which France wants to bring before the Hague Tribunal is made in an authoritative statement issued here.

The concession in question was granted in 1911 to Turkish journalists Constantine, the statement says. After the war the alleged concession was assigned to a British subject who did not do much for his country.

Despite the quietness of the proceedings, the news of the coup d'etat spread through Noshenskaya like wildfire. There was a measure of panic. The cry "Kolchak is coming!"

Kolchak is coming," passed from house to house, and some of the people who had been to the front were ready to fight for their cause.

True glory lies in the silent conquest of ourselves.

Always Popular With Overseas Visitors

MISSSES FROM SOUTH AFRICA ADMIRE POMP OF HORSE GUARDS' SENTRY. These Girl Guides from South Africa, in London for the great international scout jamboree, they admiringly look at the accounted gentleman on the horse very much and don't hesitate to show it.

Farm Notes

Grades of Market Hogs

The grading of hogs has gone through several stages, each change bringing the grading system into more nearly perfect relationship with the conditions and needs of the industry. The grades, which are now nine in number, and designated as "Select Bacon, Bacon, Butchers, Heavy Extra, Heavy Lights, and Pedders, Roughs, Sows, and Stags, are clearly defined in a new pamphlet, No. 40, of the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa. The grading of the hogs is done by official graders at stock yards, abattoirs, and at such other points as may be found necessary from time to time. New swine grading points or centres may be established on the recommendation of a provincial swine breeders' or provincial producer's association, who feel that the centres already in operation do not adequately serve the territory in question. The utmost care has been taken by the Live Stock Branch of the Department of Agriculture to meet every contingency that may reasonably arise in order to give effect to proper grading, which at all times gives due consideration to the rights of hog raisers. This pamphlet, numbered 40, which is a handbook on the bacon hog and hog grading, describes and pictures the different breeds suitable for bacon, good, bad, and indifferent types of market hogs.

Transplanting the Iris

Among the herbaceous perennials no class has made greater progress in recent years than the iris. The bearded iris in particular has been developed, improved, and multiplied at a rapid rate. No garden is complete without a few iris plants which, when once given a good location, rapidly multiply into "good large clumps." There are many shades and combinations of color in the iris. Bulletin No. 113 of the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa, entitled "Herbaceous Perennials," contains a list of thirty-five varieties, including early and late bloomers and many colors, and names a number of varieties of each of the best colors. The twelve best varieties, according to Miss Isabella Preston, are together make up the people of Egypt to orientate the country's policy for a return to constitutional government as soon as possible.

It is not a dictate of the term, and is, in fact, based on the Wafd Government's own belief in democracy, and is determined to strengthen the foundations that have been laid by the downfall of previous Egyptian governments.

He has concentrated his attention on the reform of the Egyptian national life, to its administration and the re-establishment of law and order, without which it would be impossible to carry out the reforms essential to the progress of the country.

"Mahmoud Pasha has restored health and strength to the people of Egypt, and to see in Cairo an honest, upright, and progressive party, he is determined to make worthy of a great country.

The Prime Minister is in the organization of the Wafd Government, and is a good guide to Egypt to follow suit. The committee declared.

The committee also urged that the Government should thoroughly discuss the whole matter before ratifying the Imperial merger of cable and wireless communications, which would tend to delay the coming into force of cheap communications.

The committee recommended immediate adoption of a rate of three cents for beamed wireless messages, which was appointed to investigate the possibility of a rate of two cents a word for beam wireless messages from England to Australia.

The committee recommended immediate adoption of a rate of three cents for beam wireless messages, with a minimum of 16 words.

There was no doubt if the beam wireless rates were reduced, the cable rates would follow suit.

The committee declared.

The committee also urged that the

Government should thoroughly discuss the whole matter before ratify-

ing the Imperial merger of cable and

wireless communications, which would tend to delay the coming into force of cheap communications.

The committee also urged that the

Government should thoroughly discuss the whole matter before ratify-

ing the Imperial merger of cable and

wireless communications, which would tend to delay the coming into force of cheap communications.

The committee also urged that the

Government should thoroughly discuss the whole matter before ratify-

ing the Imperial merger of cable and

wireless communications, which would tend to delay the coming into force of cheap communications.

The committee also urged that the

Government should thoroughly discuss the whole matter before ratify-

ing the Imperial merger of cable and

wireless communications, which would tend to delay the coming into force of cheap communications.

The committee also urged that the

Government should thoroughly discuss the whole matter before ratify-

ing the Imperial merger of cable and

wireless communications, which would tend to delay the coming into force of cheap communications.

The committee also urged that the

Government should thoroughly discuss the whole matter before ratify-

ing the Imperial merger of cable and

wireless communications, which would tend to delay the coming into force of cheap communications.

The committee also urged that the

Government should thoroughly discuss the whole matter before ratify-

ing the Imperial merger of cable and

wireless communications, which would tend to delay the coming into force of cheap communications.

The committee also urged that the

Government should thoroughly discuss the whole matter before ratify-

ing the Imperial merger of cable and

wireless communications, which would tend to delay the coming into force of cheap communications.

British Premier Firm Never In Democracy

Egyptian Prime Minister Has Regard to Future of His Country

Major E. W. Newland, who is an authority on the Controversy Review, which is of special interest in view of Lord Lloyd and Ramsay Macdonald,

the Prime Minister, said that there is obviously a time when constitutional government in Egypt will be restored in some workable form.

Writing in the Egyptian

Premier, Major E. W. Newland, in the "Contemporary Review,"

said that there is obviously a time when

constitutional government in Egypt will be restored in some workable form.

Major E. W. Newland, in the "Contemporary Review,"

said that there is obviously a time when

constitutional government in Egypt will be restored in some workable form.

Major E. W. Newland, in the "Contemporary Review,"

said that there is obviously a time when

constitutional government in Egypt will be restored in some workable form.

Major E. W. Newland, in the "Contemporary Review,"

said that there is obviously a time when

constitutional government in Egypt will be restored in some workable form.

Major E. W. Newland, in the "Contemporary Review,"

said that there is obviously a time when

constitutional government in Egypt will be restored in some workable form.

Major E. W. Newland, in the "Contemporary Review,"

said that there is obviously a time when

constitutional government in Egypt will be restored in some workable form.

Major E. W. Newland, in the "Contemporary Review,"

said that there is obviously a time when

constitutional government in Egypt will be restored in some workable form.

Major E. W. Newland, in the "Contemporary Review,"

said that there is obviously a time when

constitutional government in Egypt will be restored in some workable form.

Major E. W. Newland, in the "Contemporary Review,"

said that there is obviously a time when

constitutional government in Egypt will be restored in some workable form.

Major E. W. Newland, in the "Contemporary Review,"

said that there is obviously a time when

constitutional government in Egypt will be restored in some workable form.

Major E. W. Newland, in the "Contemporary Review,"

said that there is obviously a time when

constitutional government